Project Ideas for the Committee on Resources for Self-Represented Parties:
Doc Assembly/Assistance/Case Resolution

Project idea	Description	Notes
Utah Dispute Resolution in justice courts	Have UDR come into justice courts in order to help with consumer law calendars and get cases resolved quickly
Paralegals in libraries on Friday afternoons	Paralegals could help with filling out forms once a week in the local and law libraries
Justice Bus	Justice bus is something that California has. It typically travels to help rural farming communities with legal help (roving clinic) and it is staffed primarily by law students but also has several supervising attorneys. This could be useful for getting more pro bono legal services to rural areas.
Duplicate Timpanogos Legal Center projects	Timpanogos Legal Center does Tuesday night bar nights (advice) and document preparation (1x/month) and has also applied for a grant to do Doc prep/virtual clinics in rural areas using Zoom software.
Document assembly	Have an office in every district that does this to keep "garbage" filings from reaching clerks.
Mediators	Have debtor-creditor, landlord-tenant, domestic relations mediators in every district
Pro bono mediators	Mediators need 300 hours of mediation to become certified. Perhaps getting those who need the training to come to the rural courts to help with consumer issues could be helpful.
Court clerks help with OCAP	Now that eFiling has been implemented, clerks have more time, so maybe they could help the public navigate OCAP, especially in the rural areas
"Patron Motions" in juvenile court	Patron motions are like ex parte letters. Parents or other interested parties can make motions to the court to, for example, take the juvenile to Disneyland, without going through a probation officer, who can only provide recommendations.

Project Ideas for the Committee on Resources for Self-Represented Parties: Education

Project idea	Description	Notes
Outreach to rural communities to find advocates	Self-rep parties need more advocates who can take what has happened in the courtroom and explain it to the pro-se parties so that they can have greater success in complying with court orders.
Resource/navigator clerk @ each court	Train one clerk to be a resource/navigator liaison to help self-rep parties access the various resources that can help them navigate the court system.
Training court clerks to be more helpful	There is a need to change the culture of the courts so that clerks help more. They CAN help if the information is on the website, but they need to be trained on this.
Training court clerks	In rural areas, clerks can be trained to provide checklists to people coming to court so that they are not traveling 50 miles without a vital document and having to go back and forth until they have everything they need.
Educating the public, faith communities about resources available and problems with limited help	Issue: sometimes LDS bishops will pay for housing temporarily, but then a person is evicted and the eviction is much worse for that person in terms of future housing. Need education, outreach.
More advertisement of pro bono programs	Courthouses do not typically have much advertisement of pro bono, low bono programs, especially in rural areas, so we need to ramp up the advertising.
Youtube videos	What to expect when you come to court
Youtube videos	Place links or QR codes on summons regarding what to expect when you come to court
Videos in OCAP	Either before filers can start OCAP or at end before printing docs, view video re common errors in filings, overview, etc. "Education vs. Advocacy"
Spanish videos	We need more videos in Spanish explaining the court process.

Project Ideas for the Committee on Resources for Self-Represented Parties: Education

Project idea	Description	Notes
OCAP update	OCAP provides documents for uncontested cases, like divorces, but it gives no guidance on what happens if someone answers the petition. A short synopsis would at least help orient litigants to the fact that they would need to take further action if this is done.
More collaboration with judges, law enforcement, agencies	In order to increase access to the judiciary, there needs to be more outreach to judges, law enforcement, and agencies about the needs of pro se litigants and resources available, particularly the non-native speakers, and also more education to the local agencies about how the court system works.
National Judicial College : Communication and Perceptions of Fairness in Cases Involving Self-Represented Litigants	Get the speaker, Kelly Tait, to come do judicial education on perceptions of fairness with Self-rep litigants
Attorney mentoring, education re hours commitment in pro bono case	Most attorneys lack confidence to do pro bono in an area that is unfamiliar, so this is a big barrier to getting volunteers since they are concerned about being sued for malpractice. Another issue is the time commitment. Attorneys do not want to take on big cases. Average time on case is 14 hrs, but this is not well known.

Project Ideas for the Committee on Resources for Self-Represented Parties: Rules/Legislation/Funding

Project idea	Description	Notes
Statute change: expungements	Expungement language in statute is problematic because it is so muddled and unclear to litigants (public interest language).
Re-draft law student rule	The rule regarding law students being able to appear on behalf of clients may need to be revised in order to be more inclusive in allowing students to help with low income clients.
"No dispo available" issue	Defendants' rap sheets often times look worse than they are, which affects opportunities to get jobs, housing. For example, if a homeless person gets an assault and then doesn't appear 15 times, then it looks like 15 different assaults occurred. Potential change to the software?
Viack for ULS, Self Help Center	Currently, ULS is using Skype to help them reach rural clients, but it's not that reliable, and in some areas they only have dial up internet. S-H Ctr originally requested a similar system, but there is a funding issue due to tech support needed.
Malpractice Insurance	Get malpractice insurance through the bar that covers both pro bono AND lo bono (modest means) projects. This is an undercurrent to all lo bono projects, and it is something that the bar knows about but has done nothing on yet.

Project Ideas for the Committee on Resources for Self-Represented Parties:
Self-Help/Triage

Project idea	Description	Notes
Google analysis	Bring pro bono, lo bono (ULS, Self-Help Ctr) resources to top of Google search instead of paid legal providers
Web-based screening program	Screening program through a website that will help people get to the right place by asking them questions. I.e. if they want an expungement, sent to ULS expungement clinic.
Clearinghouse for pro bono projects	Constantly updated list on new pro bono/lo bono projects available to members of the community
