FOURTH DISTRICT COURT, STATE OF UTAH
UTAH COUNTY, PROVO DEPARTMENT

In the matter of the parentage of the children of: Alix Leanne Mick, And, Kenneth Curtis Gallegos.	AMENDED ORDER AND JUDGMENT ON EVIDENTIARY HEARING Case no. 254401560 Judge Kasey L. Wright Commissioner Marl Snow

Alix Mick's (hereinafter "Alix") Motion to for Partial Summary Judgment was heard on June 12th 2026, before Judge Kasey L. Wright, via WebEx. The Court narrowed the issues and set an evidentiary hearing for August 10th 2026. At that hearing, Alix appeared and was represented by Steven C. Russell. Kenneth Curtis Gallegos' (hereinafter "Kenny") appeared pro se. After hearing argument and reviewing the evidence, the Court orders the following:

1. Travel: Kenny alleges that he had paid for travel expenses for the parties' child and that he should be given an offset against his unpaid support for those expenses he paid. The Court finds that Kenny's evidence was not detailed or persuasive enough to constitute an offset, so no offset is awarded.

2. Support Payments Made: Kenny is given credit for the support payment he alleges he made, except for April 5th 2017, in the amount of $300, and the payment for May 25th 1017, for groceries diapers and toys. Therefore, he is given credit for $4734.00 in support payments against the amount he should have paid.

3. Contempt: Kenny knew there was an order in place that he was required to pay support. He understood the order. However, the Court finds that Kenny did not have the means to pay the support, so he did not intentionally refuse to pay it. Therefore, the Court cannot hold him in contempt.

4. Pursuant to Utah Code 81-1-203, the prevailing party may be awarded attorney's fees. Court finds that Alix prevailed. The Court finds that Kenny does not have the money to pay all her fees. However, there is no question that this process has cost Alix a great deal of money. Therefore, the Court awards Alix $4000 in attorney's fees. This is limited because of Kenny's inability to pay. That amount shall be included in the judgment.

5. Because child support is considered judgment for every month it is due, simple interest on every month of arrears accrues from the month it is due. That interest, in accordance with the judgment rate in Utah and Tennessee, as applicable for the month owed, shall be added to the judgment. See the attached spread sheet.

JUDGMENT

Therefore, Judgment is entered against Kenneth Curtis Gallegos and in favor of Alix Leanne Mick in the amount of $94,727.34, which includes all arrears, interest and attorney's fees awarded.
