(1) INTRODUCTIONS

Rod Andreason welcomed the Committee and guests. There are currently two academic seat and two emeritus seats open on the committee. Also, the May meeting was the final meeting for Judge Mettler. Nick Stiles is working on getting her position filled. Stacy Haacke will have an email sent directly to law schools with the notice of the vacancies. The Committee previously discussed a court commissioner be a member of the committee and Stacy Haace will work with Lauren DiFrancesco in putting together a letter to the justices to request for nomination of a court commissioner.

(2) APPROVAL OF MINUTES

Rod asked for approval of the Minutes as presented. Susan Vogel moved to adopt as presented. Judge Stucki seconded. The Minutes were unanimously approved.

(3) RULE 3(A)(2)

Tim Clark was invited to address the committee in regards to rule 3(a)(2). Due to a recent personal experience as the defendant on a case, Mr. Clark does not believe the rule has a purpose and recommends removing that section from rule 3. Rule 3(a)(2) allows for a complaint to be filed or service by summons to be issued. Mr. Clark also notes that if a complaint is served, but not filed, it becomes ambiguous with the due date to file within 10 days. If a person does not receive notice they then need to call the clerk to inquire about the summons and then only have a 7 days remaining to file a response.

The committee discussed that the provisions in the rule are difficult for a pro se litigant to navigate and at times is confusing for all parties involved. The rule does not benefit the court processes as a whole. However, as the rule is a legislative provision, the committee does not have authority to remove the rule. The rule would require a legislative review and recommendation for removal. The committee discussed several options for amendments to the rule, one being to move the date of filing and response to 21 days. The other being to move the rule from the justice court level to the small claims court level. The committee discussed that additional discussion and research is needed to determine the best recommendation for a revision and clarity to the rule. The committee recommended a subcommittee be formed and that a member of the debt collection bar be invited to participate in the discussions. Susan Vogel, Trevor Lee, Judge Stucki, Keri Sargent, and Tonya Wright will participate as members of the subcommittee. Ms. Wright will reach out to the debt collection bar to invite someone from the group to participate in the subcommittee. The committee will provide a report at a future meeting.

(4) PUBLIC COMMENTS TO RULE 76, 4, 41, 42, 43, 26.1

The public comment period has closed as rules 76, 4, 41, 42, 43, and 26.1. Rules 76, 41, and 43 did not receive any comments. Rule 26.1 had a recommendation for a minor modification to the language in domestic cases. Rule 4 received one comment and decides to leave the change from “will” to “may” in place and proceed to final approval by the Supreme Court.

The comments in rule 42 ask that the language be amended to clarify that a motion may be filed in either case to be consolidated and by any party to either of the actions to be consolidated. The committee discussed that the language could be clarified so a Motion to Intervene was not necessary. The committee recommended that language be added to line 21 to include “. . . to either action to be consolidated . . .” Keri Sargent noted that there is a workaround available that may be not be accurately reflecting what is happening in the case, but this is something that can be fixed to ensure that judges and JA’s are seeing an accurate history of the motions that are filed.

Following further discussions, Judge Stone moved to approve the language as amended in rule 42 and to send the rule to the Supreme Court for approval for an additional 45-day comment period. Tim Pack seconded the motion. The motion unanimously passed.

(5) NOTICE OF EVENT DUE DATES

Notice goes out on domestic cases when an answer is filed and include the wrong date for some cases. The new releases of the notices will take affect October 1. Ms. Sargent is working with the IT group to have the notices corrected prior to that Ms. Sargent recommends a disclaimer be added to the notice that rule 26 still applies regardless of when the notice goes out. Ms. Sargent will work with Ms. Haacke to correct the dates on the notices. No further action needed by the committee.

(6) STANDARD PROTECTIVE ORDERS

The committee met and proposed language for the rule and standard protective order for discovery. The proposed language models the federal standard and edited to conform to state rules. The rule would not require a separate order of the court and would carve out cases that did not apply. Any party could petition the court to address any items that is not part of the case. The name of the rule is proposed to be changed to “Standard Protective Order for Discovery.” The rule does not carve out debt collection cases, personal injury cases, and other cases already exempt under rule 26.1, 26.2, and 26.4. There are already similar provisions in family law. Judge Oliver recommends that a new subsection be added to rule 26 wither under subsection (g) or under subsection (b)(2) or (b)(2)(h).

The committee noted that the language within the protective order is good to have in place, especially in the event that there is dispute amongst the parties involved, however, perhaps a standard order is more suited for resolution in these matters. The committee recommends that subcommittee review the proposed amendments to determine if a notice of filing form or a standard form is needed for the standard protective order, and to clarify if the rule addresses the issue of protective order. The committee also recommended that service of the order, whether the parties are represented or not, should be included.

The subcommittee will provide a report at a future meeting.

(9) RULE 53

The proposed amendments to rule 26 are a result of a legislative audit that was conducted several years ago. Judge Holmberg asked Brent Salazar Hall to look into the rule and create a special master to the rule. Mr. Salazar Hall proposes language for a special master in domestic cases. The proposals have been discussed with the standing committee and the family law subcommittee.

The committee discussed Mr. Salzar Hall's proposed language. Note citing any major concerns with the rule, the committee commended minor language changes. The title of the rule was changed to "Special Masters for Child Related Issues in Domestic Cases." Section (k) was amended to "Use of Special Masters for Other Issues." The definition was modified to include "For purposed of this rule, . . . "

Following further discussions, Judge Stone moved to approve the language as amended in rule 53 and to send the rule to the Supreme Court for approval for an additional 45-day comment period. Susan Vogel seconded the motion. The motion unanimously passed.

(10) ADJOURN

Meeting adjourned at 6:03 pm. The next meeting will be on September 28, 2022, at 4:00 p.m.

FOR CIVIL DISCOVERY

Case No.

Honorable

Pursuant to Rule ~~26X~~26(g) and 37(a)(7)(G) of the Utah Rules of Civil Procedure and for good cause,

IT IS HEREBY ORDERED THAT:

1. Scope of Protection

This Standard Protective Order for Civil Discovery (Standard Protective Order) shall govern any record of information produced in this action and designated pursuant to this Standard Protective Order, including all designated deposition testimony, all designated testimony taken at a hearing or other proceeding, all designated deposition exhibits, interrogatory answers, admissions, documents and other discovery materials, whether produced informally or in response to interrogatories, requests for admissions, requests for production of documents or other formal methods of discovery.

This Standard Protective Order shall also govern any designated record of information produced in this action pursuant to required disclosures under the Utah Rules of Civil Procedure and any supplementary disclosures thereto.

This Standard Protective Order shall apply to the parties and to any nonparty from whom discovery may be sought who desires the protection of this Standard Protective Order.

Nonparties may challenge the confidentiality of the protected information by filing a motion to intervene and a motion to de-designate.

2. Definitions

(a) The term PROTECTED INFORMATION shall mean confidential or proprietary technical, scientific, financial, business, health, or medical information designated as such by the producing party.

(c) The term CONFIDENTIAL INFORMATION shall mean all PROTECTED INFORMATION that is not designated as "CONFIDENTIAL - ATTORNEYS EYES ONLY" information.

(d) For entities covered by the Health Insurance Portability and Accountability Act of 1996 (“HIPAA”), the term CONFIDENTIAL INFORMATION shall include Confidential Health Information. Confidential Health Information shall mean information supplied in any form, or any portion thereof, that identifies an individual or subscriber in any manner and relates to the past, present, or future care, services, or supplies relating to the physical or mental health or condition of such individual or subscriber, the provision of health care to such individual or subscriber, or the past, present, or future payment for the provision of health care to such individual or subscriber. (e) The term TECHNICAL ADVISOR shall refer to any person who is not a party to this action and/or not presently employed by the receiving party or a company affiliated through common ownership, who has been designated by the receiving party to receive another party's PROTECTED INFORMATION, including CONFIDENTIAL INFORMATION – ATTORNEYS EYES ONLY, and CONFIDENTIAL INFORMATION. Each party's TECHNICAL ADVISORS shall be limited to such person as, in the judgment of that party's counsel, are reasonably necessary for development and presentation of that party's case. These persons include outside experts or consultants retained to provide technical or other expert services such as expert testimony or otherwise assist in trial preparation.

3. Disclosure Agreements

(a) Each receiving party's TECHNICAL ADVISOR shall sign a disclosure agreement in the form attached hereto as Exhibit A ("Disclosure Agreement"). Copies of the Disclosure Agreement signed by any person or entity to whom PROTECTED INFORMATION is disclosed shall be provided to the other party promptly after execution by facsimile and overnight mail. No disclosures shall be made to a TECHNICAL ADVISOR until seven (7) days after the executed Disclosure Agreement is served on the other party.

(b) Before any PROTECTED INFORMATION is disclosed to outside TECHNICAL ADVISORS, the following information must be provided in writing to the producing party and received no less than seven (7) days before the intended date of disclosure to that outside TECHNICAL ADVISOR: the identity of that outside TECHNICAL ADVISOR, business address and/or affiliation and a current curriculum vitae of the TECHNICAL ADVISOR, and, if not contained in the TECHNICAL ADVISOR's curriculum vitae, a brief description, including education, present and past employment and general areas of expertise of the TECHNICAL ADVISOR. If the producing party objects to disclosure of PROTECTED INFORMATION to an outside TECHNICAL ADVISOR, the producing party shall within seven (7) days of receipt serve written objections identifying the specific basis for the objection, and particularly identifying all information to which disclosure is objected. Failure to object within seven (7) days shall authorize the disclosure of PROTECTED INFORMATION to the TECHNICAL ADVISOR. As to any objections, the parties shall attempt in good faith to promptly resolve any objections informally. If the objections cannot be resolved, the party seeking to prevent disclosure of the PROTECTED INFORMATION to the expert shall move within seven (7) days for an Order of the Court preventing the disclosure. The burden of proving that the designation is proper shall be upon the producing party. If no such motion is made within seven (7) days, disclosure to the TECHNICAL ADVISOR shall be permitted. In the event that objections are made and not resolved informally and a motion is filed, disclosure of PROTECTED INFORMATION to the TECHNICAL ADVISOR shall not be made except by Order of the Court.

(c) Any disclosure agreement executed by any person affiliated with a party shall be provided to any other party who, based upon a good faith belief that there has been a violation of this order, requests a copy.

(d) No party shall attempt to depose any TECHNICAL ADVISOR until such time as the TECHNICAL ADVISOR is designated by the party engaging the TECHNICAL ADVISOR as a testifying expert. Notwithstanding the preceding sentence, any party may depose a TECHNICAL ADVISOR as a fact witness provided that the party seeking such deposition has a good faith, demonstrable basis independent of the Disclosure Agreement or the information provided under subparagraph (a) above that such person possesses facts relevant to this action, or facts likely to lead to the discovery of admissible evidence; however, such deposition, if it precedes the designation of such person by the engaging party as a testifying expert, shall not include any questions regarding the scope or subject matter of the engagement. In addition, if the engaging party chooses not to designate the TECHNICAL ADVISOR as a testifying expert, the non-engaging party shall be barred from seeking discovery or trial testimony as to the scope or subject matter of the engagement.

4. Designation of Information

(a) Documents and things produced or furnished during the course of this action shall be designated as containing CONFIDENTIAL INFORMATION, by placing on each page, each document (whether in paper or electronic form), or each thing a legend substantially as follows:

CONFIDENTIAL INFORMATION

(b) Documents and things produced or furnished during the course of this action shall be designated as containing information which is CONFIDENTIAL INFORMATION – ATTORNEYS EYES ONLY by placing on each page, each document (whether in paper or electronic form), or each thing a legend substantially as follows:

CONFIDENTIAL INFORMATION – ATTORNEYS EYES ONLY

(c) During discovery, a producing party shall have the option to require that all or batches of materials be treated as containing CONFIDENTIAL INFORMATION – ATTORNEYS EYES ONLY during inspection and to make its designation as to particular documents and things at the time copies of documents and things are furnished.

(d) A party may designate information disclosed at a deposition as CONFIDENTIAL INFORMATION or CONFIDENTIAL INFORMATION – ATTORNEYS EYES ONLY by requesting the reporter to so designate the transcript at the time of the deposition.

(e) A producing party shall designate its discovery responses, responses to requests for admission, briefs, memoranda, and all other papers sent to the court or to opposing counsel as containing CONFIDENTIAL INFORMATION or CONFIDENTIAL INFORMATION – ATTORNEYS EYES ONLY when such papers are served or sent.

(f) A party shall designate information disclosed at a hearing or trial as CONFIDENTIAL INFORMATION or as CONFIDENTIAL INFORMATION – ATTORNEYS EYES ONLY by requesting the court, at the time the information is proffered or adduced, to receive the information only in the presence of those persons designated to receive such information and court personnel, and to designate the transcript appropriately.

(g) The parties will use reasonable care to avoid designating any documents or information as CONFIDENTIAL INFORMATION or as CONFIDENTIAL INFORMATION – ATTORNEYS EYES ONLY that is not entitled to such designation or which is generally available to the public. The parties shall designate only that part of a document or deposition that is CONFIDENTIAL INFORMATION or CONFIDENTIAL INFORMATION – ATTORNEYS EYES ONLY, rather than the entire document or deposition. For example, if a party claims that a document contains pricing information that is CONFIDENTIAL – ATTORNEYS EYES ONLY, the party will designate only that part of the document setting forth the specific pricing information as ATTORNEYS EYES ONLY, rather than the entire document.

(h) In multi-party cases, Plaintiffs and/or Defendants shall further be able to designate documents as CONFIDENTIAL INFORMATION – NOT TO BE DISCLOSED TO OTHER PLAINTIFFS or CONFIDENTIAL INFORMATION – NOT TO BE DISCLOSED TO OTHER DEFENDANTS for documents that shall not be disclosed to other parties.

5. Disclosure and Use of Confidential Information

Information that has been designated CONFIDENTIAL INFORMATION or as CONFIDENTIAL INFORMATION – ATTORNEYS EYES ONLY shall be disclosed by the receiving party only to Qualified Recipients. All Qualified Recipients shall hold such information received from the disclosing party in confidence, shall use the information only for purposes of this action and for no other action, and shall not use it for any business or other commercial purpose, and shall not use it for filing or prosecuting any patent application (of any type) or patent reissue or reexamination request, and shall not disclose it to any person, except as hereinafter provided. All information that has been designated CONFIDENTIAL INFORMATION or as CONFIDENTIAL INFORMATION – ATTORNEYS EYES ONLY shall be carefully maintained so as to preclude access by persons who are not qualified to receive such information under the terms of this Order.

In multi-party cases, documents designated as CONFIDENTIAL INFORMATION – NOT TO BE DISCLOSED TO OTHER PLAINTIFFS or CONFIDENTIAL INFORMATION – NOT TO BE DISCLOSED TO OTHER DEFENDANTS shall not be disclosed to other plaintiffs and/or defendants.

6. Qualified Recipients

For purposes of this Order, "Qualified Recipient" means

(a) For CONFIDENTIAL INFORMATION – ATTORNEYS EYES ONLY:

- (1) Outside counsel of record for the parties in this action, and the partners, associates, secretaries, paralegal assistants, and employees of such counsel to the extent reasonably necessary to render professional services in the action, outside copying services, document management services and graphic services;
- (2) Court officials involved in this action (including court reporters, persons operating video recording equipment at depositions, and any special master appointed by the Court);
- (3) Any person designated by the Court in the interest of justice, upon such terms as the Court may deem proper;
- (4) Any outside TECHNICAL ADVISOR employed by the outside counsel of record, subject to the requirements in Paragraph 3 above;

(5) Any witness during the course of discovery, so long as it is stated on the face of each document designated CONFIDENTIAL INFORMATION – ATTORNEYS EYES ONLY being disclosed that the witness to whom a party is seeking to disclose the document was either an author, recipient, or otherwise involved in the creation of the document. Where it is not stated on the face of the confidential document being disclosed that the witness to whom a party is seeking to disclose the document was either an author, recipient, or otherwise involved in the creation of the document, the party seeking disclosure may nonetheless disclose the confidential document to the witness, provided that: (i) the party seeking disclosure has a reasonable basis for believing that the witness in fact received or reviewed the document, (ii) the party seeking disclosure provides advance notice to the party that produced the document, and (iii) the party that produced the document does not inform the party seeking disclosure that the person to whom the party intends to disclose the document did not in fact receive or review the documents. Nothing herein shall prevent disclosure at a deposition of a document designated CONFIDENTIAL INFORMATION – ATTORNEYS EYES ONLY to the officers, directors, and managerial level employees of the party producing such CONFIDENTIAL INFORMATION – ATTORNEYS EYES ONLY, or to any employee of such party who has access to such CONFIDENTIAL INFORMATION – ATTORNEYS EYES ONLY in the ordinary course of such employee's employment; and

(6) Any designated arbitrator or mediator who is assigned to hear this matter, or who has been selected by the parties, and his or her staff, provided that such individuals agree in writing, pursuant to the Disclosure Agreement, to be bound by the terms of this Order.

(b) FOR CONFIDENTIAL INFORMATION:

(1) Those persons listed in paragraph 6(a);

(2) In-house counsel for a party to this action who are acting in a legal capacity and who are actively engaged in the conduct of this action, and the secretary and paralegal assistants of such counsel to the extent reasonably necessary;

(3) The insurer of a party to litigation and employees of such insurer to the extent reasonably necessary to assist the party's counsel to afford the insurer an opportunity to investigate and evaluate the claim for purposes of determining coverage and for settlement purposes; and

(4) Representatives, officers, or employees of a party as necessary to assist outside counsel with this litigation.

7. Use of Protected Information

(a) In the event that any receiving party's briefs, memoranda, discovery requests, requests for admission, or other papers of any kind that are served or filed include another party's CONFIDENTIAL INFORMATION or CONFIDENTIAL INFORMATION – ATTORNEYS EYES ONLY, the papers must be appropriately designated pursuant to paragraphs 4(a) and (b) and shall be marked and treated as "PROTECTED" by the parties and the Court as that term is used in the Utah Code of Judicial Administration 4-202.02 and 4-202.03.

(b) All documents, including attorney notes and abstracts, that contain another party's CONFIDENTIAL INFORMATION or CONFIDENTIAL INFORMATION – ATTORNEYS EYES ONLY, shall be handled as if they were designated pursuant to paragraph 4(a) or (b).

(c) Documents, papers, and transcripts that are filed with the court and contain any other party's CONFIDENTIAL INFORMATION or CONFIDENTIAL INFORMATION – ATTORNEYS EYES ONLY shall be filed marked and treated as "PROTECTED" by the parties and the Court as that term is used in the Utah Code of Judicial Administration 4-202.02 and 4-202.03.

(d) To the extent that documents are reviewed by a receiving party prior to production, any knowledge learned during the review process will be treated by the receiving party as CONFIDENTIAL INFORMATION – ATTORNEYS EYES ONLY until such time as the documents have been produced, at which time any stamped classification will control. No photograph or any other means of duplication, including but not limited to electronic means, of materials provided for review prior to production is permitted before the documents are produced with the appropriate stamped classification.

(e) In the event that any question is asked at a deposition with respect to which a party asserts that the answer requires the disclosure of CONFIDENTIAL INFORMATION or CONFIDENTIAL INFORMATION – ATTORNEYS EYES ONLY, such question shall nonetheless be answered by the witness fully and completely. Prior to answering, however, all persons present shall be advised of this Order by the party making the confidentiality assertion and, in the case of information designated as CONFIDENTIAL INFORMATION – ATTORNEYS EYES ONLY at the request of such party, all persons who are not allowed to obtain such information pursuant to this Order, other than the witness, shall leave the room during the time in which this information is disclosed or discussed.

(f) Nothing in this Standard Protective Order shall bar or otherwise restrict outside counsel from rendering advice to his or her client with respect to this action and, in the course thereof, from relying in a general way upon his examination of materials designated CONFIDENTIAL INFORMATION or CONFIDENTIAL INFORMATION – ATTORNEYS EYES ONLY, provided, however, that in rendering such advice and in otherwise communicating with his or her clients, such counsel shall not disclose the specific contents of any materials designated CONFIDENTIAL INFORMATION or CONFIDENTIAL INFORMATION – ATTORNEYS EYES ONLY.

8. Inadvertent Failure to Designate

(a) In the event that a producing party inadvertently fails to designate any of its information pursuant to paragraph 4, it may later designate by notifying the receiving parties in writing. The receiving parties shall take reasonable steps to see that the information is thereafter treated in accordance with the designation.

(b) It shall be understood however, that no person or party shall incur any liability hereunder with respect to disclosure that occurred prior to receipt of written notice of a belated designation.

9. Challenge to Designation

(a) Any receiving party may challenge a producing party's designation at any time. A failure of any party to expressly challenge a claim of confidentiality or any document designation shall not constitute a waiver of the right to assert at any subsequent time that the same is not in-fact confidential or not an appropriate designation for any reason.

(b) Any receiving party may disagree with the designation of any information received from the producing party as CONFIDENTIAL INFORMATION or CONFIDENTIAL INFORMATION – ATTORNEYS EYES ONLY. In that case, any receiving party desiring to disclose or to permit inspection of the same otherwise than is permitted in this Order, may request the producing party in writing to change the designation of a document or documents, stating with particularity the reasons for that request, and specifying the category to which the challenged document(s) should be de-designated. The producing party shall then have seven (7) days from the date of service of the request to:

- (i) advise the receiving parties whether or not it persists in such designation; and
- (ii) if it persists in the designation, to explain the reason for the particular designation and to state its intent to seek a protective order or any other order to maintain the designation.

(c) If no response is made within seven (7) days after service of the request under subparagraph (b), the information will be de-designated to the category requested by the receiving party. If, however, the request under subparagraph (b) above is responded to under subparagraph (b)(i) and (ii), within seven (7) days the producing party may then ~~move the court for a protective order or any other order~~ file a statement of discovery issues pursuant to rule 37 to maintain the designation. The burden of proving that the designation is proper shall be upon the producing party. If no such ~~motion is made~~ statement of discovery issues is filed within seven (7) days after the statement to seek an order under subparagraph (b)(ii), the information will be de-designated to the category requested by the receiving party. In the event objections are made and not resolved informally and a ~~motion~~ statement of discovery issues is filed, disclosure of information shall not be made until the issue has been resolved by the Court (or to any limited extent upon which the parties may agree).

No party shall be obligated to challenge the propriety of any designation when made, and failure to do so shall not preclude a subsequent challenge to the propriety of such designation.

(d) With respect to requests and applications to remove or change a designation, information shall not be considered confidential or proprietary to the producing party if:

- (i) the information in question has become available to the public through no violation of this Order; or
- (ii) the information was known to any receiving party prior to its receipt from the producing party; or
- (iii) the information was received by any receiving party without restrictions on disclosure from a third party having the right to make such a disclosure.

10. Inadvertently Producing Privileged Documents

The parties hereto also acknowledge that regardless of the producing party's diligence an inadvertent production of attorney-client privileged or attorney work product materials may occur. In accordance with Utah R. Civ. P. 26(b)(8) and Utah R. Evid. 504 and 510, they therefore agree that if a party through inadvertence produces or provides discovery that it believes is subject to a claim of attorney-client privilege or attorney work product, the producing party may give written notice to the receiving party that the document or thing is subject to a claim of attorney-client privilege or attorney work product and request that the document or thing be returned to the producing party. The receiving party shall return to the producing party such document or thing. Return of the document or thing shall not constitute an admission or concession, or permit any inference, that the returned document or thing is, in fact, properly subject to a claim of attorney-client privilege or attorney work product, nor shall it foreclose any party from moving the Court pursuant to Utah R. Civ. P. 26(b)(8) and Utah R. Evid. 504 and 510 for an Order that such document or thing has been improperly designated or should be produced.

11. Inadvertent Disclosure of Confidential Information

In the event of an inadvertent disclosure of another party's CONFIDENTIAL INFORMATION or CONFIDENTIAL INFORMATION – ATTORNEYS EYES ONLY to a non-Qualified Recipient, the party making the inadvertent disclosure shall promptly upon learning of the disclosure: (i) notify the person to whom the disclosure was made that it contains CONFIDENTIAL INFORMATION or CONFIDENTIAL INFORMATION – ATTORNEYS EYES ONLY subject to this Order; (ii) make all reasonable efforts to preclude dissemination or use of the CONFIDENTIAL INFORMATION or CONFIDENTIAL INFORMATION – ATTORNEYS EYES ONLY by the person to whom disclosure was inadvertently made including, but not limited to, obtaining all copies of such materials from the non-Qualified Recipient; and (iii) notify the producing party of the identity of the person to whom the disclosure was made, the circumstances surrounding the disclosure, and the steps taken to ensure against the dissemination or use of the information.

12. Limitation

This Order shall be without prejudice to any party's right to assert at any time that any particular information or document is or is not subject to discovery, production or admissibility on the grounds other than confidentiality.

13. Conclusion of Action

(a) At the conclusion of this action, including through all appeals, each party or other person subject to the terms hereof shall be under an obligation to destroy or return to the producing party all materials and documents containing CONFIDENTIAL INFORMATION or

CONFIDENTIAL INFORMATION – ATTORNEYS EYES ONLY and to certify to the producing party such destruction or return. Such return or destruction shall not relieve said parties or persons from any of the continuing obligations imposed upon them by this Order.

(b) After this action, trial counsel for each party may retain one archive copy of all documents and discovery material even if they contain or reflect another party's CONFIDENTIAL INFORMATION or CONFIDENTIAL INFORMATION – ATTORNEYS EYES ONLY. Trial counsel's archive copy shall remain subject to all obligations of this Order.

(c) The provisions of this paragraph shall not be binding on the State of Utah, any insurance company, or any other party to the extent that such provisions conflict with applicable federal or state law. The Utah Attorney General's Office, any insurance company, or any other party shall notify the producing party in writing of any such conflict it identifies in connection with a particular matter so that such matter can be resolved either by the parties or by the Court.

14. Production by Third Parties Pursuant to Subpoena

Any third party producing documents or things or giving testimony in this action pursuant to a subpoena, notice or request may designate said documents, things, or testimony as CONFIDENTIAL INFORMATION or CONFIDENTIAL INFORMATION – ATTORNEYS EYES ONLY. The parties agree that they will treat CONFIDENTIAL INFORMATION or CONFIDENTIAL INFORMATION – ATTORNEYS EYES ONLY produced by third parties according to the terms of this Order.

15. Compulsory Disclosure to Third Parties

If any receiving party is subpoenaed in another action or proceeding or served with a document or testimony demand or a court order, and such subpoena or demand or court order

seeks CONFIDENTIAL INFORMATION or CONFIDENTIAL INFORMATION –

ATTORNEYS EYES ONLY of a producing party, the receiving party shall give prompt written notice to counsel for the producing party and allow the producing party an opportunity to oppose such subpoena or demand or court order prior to the deadline for complying with the subpoena or demand or court order. No compulsory disclosure to third parties of information or material exchanged under this Order shall be deemed a waiver of any claim of confidentiality, except as expressly found by a court or judicial authority of competent jurisdiction.

16. Jurisdiction to Enforce Standard Protective Order

After the termination of this action, the Court will continue to have jurisdiction to enforce this Order.

17. Modification of Standard Protective Order

This Order may be modified any time either through stipulation or Order of the Court.

18. Confidentiality of Party's Own Documents

Nothing herein shall affect the right of the designating party to disclose to its officers, directors, employees, attorneys, consultants or experts, or to any other person, its own information. Such disclosure shall not waive the protections of this Standard Protective Order and shall not entitle other parties or their attorneys to disclose such information in violation of it, unless by such disclosure of the designating party the information becomes public knowledge. Similarly, the Standard Protective Order shall not preclude a party from showing its own information, including its own information that is filed under seal by a party, to its officers, directors, employees, attorneys, consultants or experts, or to any other person.

19. Findings and Conclusions Pursuant to Rule 4-202.04(6) of the Utah Code of Judicial Administration

The Court makes the following Findings and Conclusions regarding the filing of documents or information designated CONFIDENTIAL INFORMATION or CONFIDENTIAL INFORMATION – ATTORNEYS EYES ONLY under this Standard Protective Order:

(a) Certain information and documents, including pleadings, disclosures, discovery requests, or responses, motions, briefs, or other papers may be filed in this litigation that contain information that the parties have designated as CONFIDENTIAL INFORMATION or CONFIDENTIAL INFORMATION – ATTORNEYS EYES ONLY, pursuant to this Standard Protective Order. As defined above, CONFIDENTIAL INFORMATION and CONFIDENTIAL INFORMATION – ATTORNEYS EYES ONLY includes confidential information, including but not limited to trade secrets, confidential or proprietary financial information, operational data, business plans, business records, competitive analyses, personnel files, personal information that is protected by law, and other sensitive information.

(b) “The [C]ourt may classify [a] record as private, protected, or sealed, ... or redact information from the record if the record or information ... is classified as private, protected, sealed ... under Rule 4-202.02” or “is a record containing information the disclosure of which constitutes an unwarranted invasion of personal privacy.” Utah Code of Judicial Admin. R. 4-202.04(4).

(c) Protected records include:

(i) any records submitted to a governmental entity “that the person believes should be protected under Subsection 63G-2-305(1) or (2),” UTAH CODE ANN. § 63G-2-309(1);

(ii) “confidential business records under Utah Code Section 63G-2-309,” Utah Code of Judicial Admin. R. 4-202.02(5)(I);

(iii) “trade secrets as defined in Utah Code Section 13-24-2,” Utah Code of Judicial Admin. R. 4-202.02(5)(R); and

(iv) “other records as ordered by the court under Rule 4- 202.04.” See Utah Code of Judicial Admin. R. 4-202.02(5)(V).

(d) As set forth herein, the disclosing parties have made “a written claim of business confidentiality” and provided “a concise statement of reasons supporting the claim of business confidentiality.” UTAH CODE ANN. § 63G-2-309(1)(a)(i).

(e) The Court finds that, if filings containing such CONFIDENTIAL INFORMATION or CONFIDENTIAL INFORMATION – ATTORNEYS EYES ONLY are not closed to the public, the disclosing party may be subject to competitive or financial injury or potential legal liability to third parties.

(f) The Court further finds that, given the confidential and sensitive nature of the CONFIDENTIAL INFORMATION and CONFIDENTIAL INFORMATION – ATTORNEYS EYES ONLY, the public’s right of access to filings containing such CONFIDENTIAL INFORMATION or CONFIDENTIAL INFORMATION – ATTORNEYS EYES ONLY is outweighed by the interests of the disclosing party in the confidentiality of such information.

(g) The Court further finds that the disclosing party’s good faith designation of such filings as containing CONFIDENTIAL INFORMATION or CONFIDENTIAL INFORMATION – ATTORNEYS EYES ONLY justifies closing such records to the public by classifying such filings as protected, pursuant to Rule 4-202.04(5) of the Utah Code of Judicial Administration.

(h) The Court concludes that, on balance, the interests of the parties disclosing

CONFIDENTIAL INFORMATION or CONFIDENTIAL INFORMATION – ATTORNEYS EYES ONLY that may be included in filings in this action outweighs the public’s interest in open court records and that no reasonable alternative exists to closing filings to the public that the parties in good faith designate as containing CONFIDENTIAL INFORMATION or CONFIDENTIAL INFORMATION – ATTORNEYS EYES ONLY, subject to the parties’ and public’s right to challenge the designation of information as CONFIDENTIAL INFORMATION or CONFIDENTIAL INFORMATION – ATTORNEYS EYES ONLY and the closure of certain filings to the public.

(i) Accordingly, the Court classifies as protected documents and information designated as CONFIDENTIAL INFORMATION or CONFIDENTIAL INFORMATION – ATTORNEYS EYES ONLY, pursuant to this Standard Protective Order.

(j) The Court orders the Clerk to maintain CONFIDENTIAL INFORMATION or CONFIDENTIAL INFORMATION – ATTORNEYS EYES ONLY as protected, pursuant to Rule 4-202.04(4) and 4-202.09(9) of the Utah Code of Judicial Administration. Accordingly, and pursuant to Rules 4-202.04(4) and 4-202.09(9) of the Utah Code of Judicial Administration, the Clerk of this Court is directed to maintain as protected all pleadings, disclosures, discovery requests or responses, motions, briefs, or other papers filed in this litigation that have been classified, in whole or in part, as CONFIDENTIAL INFORMATION or CONFIDENTIAL INFORMATION – ATTORNEYS EYES ONLY under this Standard Protective Order.

Advisory Committee Notes

Note adopted 2015

Under paragraph (b)(3)(A), electronically filing a document has the effect of serving the document on lawyers who have an e-filing account. (Lawyers representing parties in the district court are required to have an account and electronically file documents. Code of Judicial Administration Rule 4-503.) The 2015 amendment excepts from this provision documents electronically filed in juvenile court.

Although electronic filing in the juvenile court presents to the parties the documents that have been filed, the juvenile court e-filing application (CARE), unlike that in the district court, does not deliver an email alerting the party to that fact. The Board of Juvenile Court Judges and the Advisory Committee on the Rules of Juvenile Procedure believe this difference renders electronic filing alone insufficient notice of a document

127 having been filed. So in the juvenile court, a party electronically filing a document must 128 serve that document by one of the other permitted methods.

Tab 5

Rule 26. General provisions governing disclosure and discovery.

(a) Disclosure. This rule applies unless changed or supplemented by a rule governing disclosure and discovery in a practice area.

(1) Initial disclosures. Except in cases exempt under paragraph (a)(3), a party must, without waiting for a discovery request, serve on the other parties:

(A) the name and, if known, the address and telephone number of:

(i) each individual likely to have discoverable information supporting its claims or defenses, unless solely for impeachment, identifying the subjects of the information; and

(ii) each fact witness the party may call in its case-in-chief and, except for an adverse party, a summary of the expected testimony;

(B) a copy of all documents, data compilations, electronically stored information, and tangible things in the possession or control of the party that the party may offer in its case-in-chief, except charts, summaries, and demonstrative exhibits that have not yet been prepared and must be disclosed in accordance with paragraph (a)(5);

(C) a computation of any economic damages claimed and a copy of all discoverable documents or evidentiary material on which such computation is based, including materials about the nature and extent of injuries suffered;

(D) a copy of any agreement under which any person may be liable to satisfy part or all of a judgment or to indemnify or reimburse for payments made to satisfy the judgment; and

(E) a copy of all documents to which a party refers in its pleadings.

(2) Timing of initial disclosures. The disclosures required by paragraph (a)(1) must be served on the other parties:

(A) by a plaintiff within 14 days after the filing of the first answer to that plaintiff's complaint; and

(B) by a defendant within 42 days after the filing of that defendant's first answer to the complaint.

(3) Exemptions.

(A) Unless otherwise ordered by the court or agreed to by the parties, the requirements of paragraph (a)(1) do not apply to actions:

(i) for judicial review of adjudicative proceedings or rule making proceedings of an administrative agency;

(ii) governed by Rule 65B or Rule 65C;

(iii) to enforce an arbitration award;

(iv) for water rights general adjudication under Title 73, Chapter 4, Determination of Water Rights.

(B) In an exempt action, the matters subject to disclosure under paragraph (a)(1) are subject to discovery under paragraph (b).

(4) Expert testimony.

(A) Disclosure of retained expert testimony. A party must, without waiting for a discovery request, serve on the other parties the following information regarding any person who may be used at trial to present evidence under Rule 702 of the Utah Rules of Evidence and who is retained or specially employed to provide expert testimony in the case or whose duties as an employee of the party regularly involve giving expert testimony: (i) the expert's name and qualifications, including a list of all publications authored within the preceding 10 years, and a list of any other cases in which the expert has testified as an expert at trial or by deposition within the preceding four years, (ii) a brief summary of the opinions to which the witness is expected to testify, (iii) the facts,

52 data, and other information specific to the case that will be relied upon by the 53 witness in forming those opinions, and (iv) the compensation to be paid for the 54 witness's study and testimony.

55 (B) Limits on expert discovery. Further discovery may be obtained from an 56 expert witness either by deposition or by written report. A deposition must not 57 exceed four hours and the party taking the deposition must pay the expert's
58 reasonable hourly fees for attendance at the deposition. A report must be signed
59 by the expert and must contain a complete statement of all opinions the expert
60 will offer at trial and the basis and reasons for them. Such an expert may not 61 testify in a party's case-in-chief concerning any matter not fairly disclosed in the 62 report. The party offering the expert must pay the costs for the report.

63 (C) Timing for expert discovery.

64 (i) The party who bears the burden of proof on the issue for which expert
65 testimony is offered must serve on the other parties the information required
66 by paragraph (a)(4)(A) within 14 days after the close of fact discovery. Within 67 14 days thereafter, the party opposing the expert may serve notice electing 68 either a deposition of the expert pursuant to paragraph (a)(4)(B) and Rule 30, 69 or a written report pursuant to paragraph (a)(4)(B). The deposition must 70 occur, or the report must be served on the other parties, within 42 days after 71 the election is served on the other parties. If no election is served on the other 72 parties, then no further discovery of the expert must be permitted.

73 (ii) The party who does not bear the burden of proof on the issue for which 74 expert testimony is offered must serve on the other parties the information
75 required by paragraph (a)(4)(A) within 14 days after the later of (A) the date
76 on which the disclosure under paragraph (a)(4)(C)(i) is due, or (B) service of 77 the written report or the taking of the expert's deposition pursuant to 78 paragraph (a)(4)(C)(i). Within 14 days thereafter, the party opposing the 79 expert may serve notice electing either a deposition of the expert pursuant to paragraph (a)(4)(B) and Rule 30, or a written report pursuant to paragraph (a)(4)(B). The deposition must occur, or the report must be served on the other parties, within 42 days after the election is served on the other parties. If no election is served on the other parties, then no further discovery of the expert must be permitted.

(iii) If the party who bears the burden of proof on an issue wants to designate rebuttal expert witnesses, it must serve on the other parties the information required by paragraph (a)(4)(A) within 14 days after the later of (A) the date on which the election under paragraph (a)(4)(C)(ii) is due or (B) service of the written report or the taking of the expert's deposition pursuant to paragraph (a)(4)(C)(ii). Within 14 days thereafter, the party opposing the expert may serve notice electing either a deposition of the expert pursuant to paragraph (a)(4)(B) and Rule 30, or a written report pursuant to paragraph (a)(4)(B). The deposition must occur, or the report must be served on the other parties, within 42 days after the election is served on the other parties. If no election is served on the other parties, then no further discovery of the expert must be permitted. The court may preclude an expert disclosed only as a rebuttal expert from testifying in the case in chief.

(D) Multiparty actions. In multiparty actions, all parties opposing the expert must agree on either a report or a deposition. If all parties opposing the expert do not agree, then further discovery of the expert may be obtained only by deposition pursuant to paragraph (a)(4)(B) and Rule 30.

(E) Summary of non-retained expert testimony. If a party intends to present evidence at trial under Rule 702 of the Utah Rules of Evidence from any person other than an expert witness who is retained or specially employed to provide testimony in the case or a person whose duties as an employee of the party regularly involve giving expert testimony, that party must serve on the other parties a written summary of the facts and opinions to which the witness is expected to testify in accordance with the deadlines set forth in paragraph (a)(4)(C). Such a witness cannot be required to provide a report pursuant to paragraph (a)(4)(B). A deposition of such a witness may not exceed four hours and, unless manifest injustice would result, the party taking the deposition must pay the expert's reasonable hourly fees for attendance at the deposition.

(5) Pretrial disclosures.

(A) A party must, without waiting for a discovery request, serve on the other parties:

(i) the name and, if not previously provided, the address and telephone number of each witness, unless solely for impeachment, separately identifying witnesses the party will call and witnesses the party may call;

(ii) the name of witnesses whose testimony is expected to be presented by transcript of a deposition;

(iii) designations of the proposed deposition testimony; and

(iv) a copy of each exhibit, including charts, summaries, and demonstrative exhibits, unless solely for impeachment, separately identifying those which the party will offer and those which the party may offer.

(B) Disclosure required by paragraph (a)(5)(A) must be served on the other parties at least 28 days before trial. Disclosures required by paragraph (a)(5)(A)(i) and (a)(5)(A)(ii) must also be filed on the date that they are served. At least 14 days before trial, a party must serve any counter designations of deposition testimony and any objections and grounds for the objections to the use of any deposition, witness, or exhibit if the grounds for the objection are apparent before trial. Other than objections under Rules 402 and 403 of the Utah Rules of Evidence, other objections not listed are waived unless excused by the court for good cause.

(6) Form of disclosure and discovery production. Rule 34 governs the form in which all documents, data compilations, electronically stored information, tangible things, and evidentiary material should be produced under this Rule.

(b) Discovery scope.

(1) In general. Parties may discover any matter, not privileged, which is relevant to the claim or defense of any party if the discovery satisfies the standards of proportionality set forth below.

(2) Privileged matters.

(A) Privileged matters that are not discoverable or admissible in any proceeding of any kind or character include:

(i) all information in any form provided during and created specifically as part of a request for an investigation, the investigation, findings, or conclusions of peer review, care review, or quality assurance processes of any organization of health care providers as defined in Utah Code Title 78B, Chapter 3, Part 4, Utah Health Care Malpractice Act, for the purpose of evaluating care provided to reduce morbidity and mortality or to improve the quality of medical care, or for the purpose of peer review of the ethics, competence, or professional conduct of any health care provider; and

(ii) except as provided in paragraph (b)(2)(C), (D), or (E), all communications, materials, and information in any form specifically created for or during a medical candor process under Utah Code Title 78B, Chapter 3, Part 4a, Utah Medical Candor Act, including any findings or conclusions from the investigation and any offer of compensation.

(B) Disclosure or use in a medical candor process of any communication, material, or information in any form that contains any information described in paragraph (b)(2)(A)(i) does not waive any privilege or protection against admissibility or discovery of the information under paragraph (b)(2)(A)(i).

(C) Any communication, material, or information in any form that is made or provided in the ordinary course of business, including a medical record or a business record, that is otherwise discoverable or admissible and is not created for or during a medical candor process is not privileged by the use or disclosure of the communication, material or information during a medical candor process.

(D) (i) Any information that is required to be documented in a patient's medical record under state or federal law is not privileged by the use or disclosure of the information during a medical candor process.

(ii) Information described in paragraph (b)(2)(D)(i) does not include an individual's mental impressions, conclusions, or opinions that are formed outside the course and scope of the patient's care and treatment and are used or disclosed in a medical candor process.

(E) (i) Any communication, material or information in any form that is provided to an affected party before the affected party's written agreement to participate in a medical candor process is not privileged by the use or disclosure of the communication, material, or information during a medical candor process.

(ii) Any communication, material, or information described in paragraph (b)(2)(E)(i) does not include a written notice described in Utah Code section 78B-3-452.

(F) The terms defined in Utah Code section 78B-3-450 apply to paragraphs (b)(2)(A)(ii), (B), (C), (D), and (E).

(G) Nothing in this paragraph (b)(2) shall prevent a party from raising any other privileges provided by law or rule as to the admissibility or discovery of any communication, information, or material described in paragraph (b)(2)(A), (B), (C), (D), or (E).

(3) Proportionality. Discovery and discovery requests are proportional if:

(A) the discovery is reasonable, considering the needs of the case, the amount in controversy, the complexity of the case, the parties' resources, the importance of the issues, and the importance of the discovery in resolving the issues;

(B) the likely benefits of the proposed discovery outweigh the burden or expense;

(C) the discovery is consistent with the overall case management and will further the just, speedy, and inexpensive determination of the case;

(D) the discovery is not unreasonably cumulative or duplicative;

(E) the information cannot be obtained from another source that is more convenient, less burdensome, or less expensive; and

(F) the party seeking discovery has not had sufficient opportunity to obtain the information by discovery or otherwise, taking into account the parties' relative access to the information.

(4) Burden. The party seeking discovery always has the burden of showing proportionality and relevance. To ensure proportionality, the court may enter orders under Rule 37.

(5) Electronically stored information. A party claiming that electronically stored information is not reasonably accessible because of undue burden or cost must describe the source of the electronically stored information, the nature and extent of the burden, the nature of the information not provided, and any other information that will enable other parties to evaluate the claim.

(6) Trial preparation materials. A party may obtain otherwise discoverable documents and tangible things prepared in anticipation of litigation or for trial by or for another party or by or for that other party's representative (including the party's attorney, consultant, surety, indemnitor, insurer, or agent) only upon a showing that the party seeking discovery has substantial need of the materials and that the party is unable without undue hardship to obtain substantially equivalent materials by other means. In ordering discovery of such materials, the court must protect against disclosure of the mental impressions, conclusions, opinions, or legal theories of an attorney or other representative of a party.

(7) Statement previously made about the action. A party may obtain without the showing required in paragraph (b)(5) a statement concerning the action or its subject matter previously made by that party. Upon request, a person not a party may obtain without the required showing a statement about the action or its subject matter previously made by that person. If the request is refused, the person may move for a court order under Rule 37. A statement previously made is (A) a written statement signed or approved by the person making it, or (B) a stenographic, mechanical, electronic, or other recording, or a transcription thereof, which is a substantially verbatim recital of an oral statement by the person making it and contemporaneously recorded.

(8) Trial preparation; experts.

(A) Trial-preparation protection for draft reports or disclosures. Paragraph (b)(6) protects drafts of any report or disclosure required under paragraph (a)(4), regardless of the form in which the draft is recorded.

(B) Trial-preparation protection for communications between a party's attorney and expert witnesses. Paragraph (b)(6) protects communications between the party's attorney and any witness required to provide disclosures under paragraph (a)(4), regardless of the form of the communications, except to the extent that the communications:

- (i) relate to compensation for the expert's study or testimony;
- (ii) identify facts or data that the party's attorney provided and that the expert considered in forming the opinions to be expressed; or
- (iii) identify assumptions that the party's attorney provided and that the expert relied on in forming the opinions to be expressed.

(C) Expert employed only for trial preparation. Ordinarily, a party may not, by interrogatories or otherwise, discover facts known or opinions held by an expert who has been retained or specially employed by another party in anticipation of litigation or to prepare for trial and who is not expected to be called as a witness at trial. A party may do so only:

(i) as provided in Rule 35\(b\); or

(ii) on showing exceptional circumstances under which it is impracticable for the party to obtain facts or opinions on the same subject by other means.

(9) Claims of privilege or protection of trial preparation materials.

(A) Information withheld. If a party withholds discoverable information by claiming that it is privileged or prepared in anticipation of litigation or for trial, the party must make the claim expressly and must describe the nature of the documents, communications, or things not produced in a manner that, without revealing the information itself, will enable other parties to evaluate the claim.

(B) Information produced. If a party produces information that the party claims is privileged or prepared in anticipation of litigation or for trial, the producing party may notify any receiving party of the claim and the basis for it. After being notified, a receiving party must promptly return, sequester, or destroy the specified information and any copies it has and may not use or disclose the information until the claim is resolved. A receiving party may promptly present the information to the court under seal for a determination of the claim. If the receiving party disclosed the information before being notified, it must take reasonable steps to retrieve it. The producing party must preserve the information until the claim is resolved.

(c) Methods, sequence, and timing of discovery; tiers; limits on standard discovery; extraordinary discovery.

(1) Methods of discovery. Parties may obtain discovery by one or more of the following methods: depositions upon oral examination or written questions; written interrogatories; production of documents or things or permission to enter upon land or other property, for inspection and other purposes; physical and mental examinations; requests for admission; and subpoenas other than for a court hearing or trial.

(2) Sequence and timing of discovery. Methods of discovery may be used in any sequence, and the fact that a party is conducting discovery must not delay any other party's discovery. Except for cases exempt under paragraph (a)(3), a party may not seek discovery from any source before that party's initial disclosure obligations are satisfied.

(3) Definition of tiers for standard discovery. Actions claiming $50,000 or less in damages are permitted standard discovery as described for Tier 1. Actions claiming more than $50,000 and less than $300,000 in damages are permitted standard discovery as described for Tier 2. Actions claiming $300,000 or more in damages are permitted standard discovery as described for Tier 3. Absent an accompanying damage claim for more than $300,000, actions claiming non-monetary relief are permitted standard discovery as described for Tier 2. Domestic relations actions are permitted standard discovery as described for Tier 4.

(4) Definition of damages. For purposes of determining standard discovery, the amount of damages includes the total of all monetary damages sought (without duplication for alternative theories) by all parties in all claims for relief in the original pleadings.

(5) Limits on standard fact discovery. Standard fact discovery per side (plaintiffs collectively, defendants collectively, and third-party defendants collectively) in each tier is as follows. The days to complete standard fact discovery are calculated from the date the first defendant's first disclosure is due and do not include expert discovery under paragraphs (a)(4)(C) and (D).

Tier	Amount of Damages	Total Fact Deposition Hours	Rule 33 Interrogatories including all discrete subparts	Rule 34 Requests for Production	Rule 36 Requests for Admission	Days to Complete Standard Fact Discovery
1	$50,000 or less	3	0	5	5	120
2	More than $50,000 and less than $300,000 or non-monetary relief	15	10	10	10	180
3	$300,00 or more	30	20	20	20	210
4	Domestic relations actions	4	10	10	10	90

(6) Extraordinary discovery. To obtain discovery beyond the limits established in paragraph (c)(5), a party must:

(A) before the close of standard discovery and after reaching the limits of standard discovery imposed by these rules, file a stipulated statement that extraordinary discovery is necessary and proportional under paragraph (b)(2)

and, for each party represented by an attorney, a statement that the attorney consulted with the client about the request for extraordinary discovery;

(B) before the close of standard discovery and after reaching the limits of standard discovery imposed by these rules, file a request for extraordinary discovery under Rule 37\(a\) or

(C) obtain an expanded discovery schedule under Rule 100A.

(d) Requirements for disclosure or response; disclosure or response by an organization; failure to disclose; initial and supplemental disclosures and responses.

(1) A party must make disclosures and responses to discovery based on the information then known or reasonably available to the party.

(2) If the party providing disclosure or responding to discovery is a corporation, partnership, association, or governmental agency, the party must act through one or more officers, directors, managing agents, or other persons, who must make disclosures and responses to discovery based on the information then known or reasonably available to the party.

(3) A party is not excused from making disclosures or responses because the party has not completed investigating the case, the party challenges the sufficiency of another party's disclosures or responses, or another party has not made disclosures or responses.

(4) If a party fails to disclose or to supplement timely a disclosure or response to discovery, that party may not use the undisclosed witness, document, or material at any hearing or trial unless the failure is harmless or the party shows good cause for the failure.

(5) If a party learns that a disclosure or response is incomplete or incorrect in some important way, the party must timely serve on the other parties the additional or correct information if it has not been made known to the other parties. The supplemental disclosure or response must state why the additional or correct information was not previously provided.

(e) Signing discovery requests, responses, and objections. Every disclosure, request for discovery, response to a request for discovery, and objection to a request for discovery must be in writing and signed by at least one attorney of record or by the party if the party is not represented. The signature of the attorney or party is a certification under Rule 11. If a request or response is not signed, the receiving party does not need to take any action with respect to it. If a certification is made in violation of the rule, the court, upon motion or upon its own initiative, may take any action authorized by Rule 11 or Rule 37\(b\).

(f) Filing. Except as required by these rules or ordered by the court, a party must not file with the court a disclosure, a request for discovery, or a response to a request for discovery, but must file only the certificate of service stating that the disclosure, request for discovery, or response has been served on the other parties and the date of service.

Note Adopted 2011

Disclosure requirements and timing. Rule 26(a)(1).

Not all information will be known at the outset of a case. If discovery is serving its proper purpose, additional witnesses, documents, and other information will be identified. The scope and the level of detail required in the initial Rule 26(a)(1) disclosures should be viewed in light of this reality. A party is not required to interview every witness it ultimately may call at trial in order to provide a summary of the witness's expected testimony. As the information becomes known, it should be disclosed. No summaries are required for adverse parties, including management level employees of business entities, because opposing lawyers are unable to interview them and their testimony is available to their own counsel. For uncooperative or hostile witnesses any summary of expected testimony would necessarily be limited to the subject areas the witness is reasonably expected to testify about. For example, defense counsel may be unable to interview a treating physician, so the initial summary may only disclose that the witness will be questioned concerning the plaintiff's diagnosis, treatment and prognosis. After medical records have been obtained, the summary may be expanded or refined.

Subject to the foregoing qualifications, the summary of the witness's expected testimony should be just that- a summary. The rule does not require prefiled testimony or detailed descriptions of everything a witness might say at trial. On the other hand, it requires more than the broad, conclusory statements that often were made under the prior version of Rule 26(a)(1)(e.g., "The witness will testify about the events in question" or "The witness will testify on causation."). The intent of this requirement is to give the other side basic information concerning the subjects about which the witness is expected to testify at trial, so that the other side may determine the witness's relative importance in the case, whether the witness should be interviewed or deposed, and whether additional documents or information concerning the witness should be sought. See RJW Media Inc. v. Heath, 2017 UT App 34, ¶¶ 23-25, 392 P.3d 956. This information is important because of the other discovery limits contained in Rule 26.

Likewise, the documents that should be provided as part of the Rule 26(a)(1) disclosures are those that a party reasonably believes it may use at trial, understanding that not all documents will be available at the outset of a case. In this regard, it is important to remember that the duty to provide documents and witness information is a continuing one, and disclosures must be promptly supplemented as new evidence and witnesses become known as the case progresses.

Early disclosure of damages information is important. Among other things, it is a critical factor in determining proportionality. The committee recognizes that damages often require additional discovery, and typically are the subject of expert testimony. The Rule is not intended to require expert disclosures at the outset of a case. At the same time, the subject of damages should not simply be deferred until expert discovery. Parties should make a good faith attempt to compute damages to the extent it is possible to do so and must in any event provide all discoverable information on the subject, including materials related to the nature and extent of the damages.

The penalty for failing to make timely disclosures is that the evidence may not be used in the party's case-in-chief. To make the disclosure requirement meaningful, and to discourage sandbagging, parties must know that if they fail to disclose important information that is helpful to their case, they will not be able to use that information at trial. The courts will be expected to enforce them unless the failure is harmless or the party shows good cause for the failure.

The purpose of early disclosure is to have all parties present the evidence they expect to use to prove their claims or defenses, thereby giving the opposing party the ability to better evaluate the case and determine what additional discovery is necessary and proportional.

Expert disclosures and timing. Rule 26(a)(43). Disclosure of the identity and subjects of expert opinions and testimony is automatic under Rule 26(a)(43) and parties are not required to serve interrogatories or use other discovery devices to obtain this information.

Experts frequently will prepare demonstrative exhibits or other aids to illustrate the expert's testimony at trial, and the costs for preparing these materials can be substantial. For that reason, these types of demonstrative aids may be prepared and disclosed later, as part of the Rule 26(a)(4)(5)(iv) pretrial disclosures when trial is imminent.

404 If a party elects a written report, the expert must provide a signed report containing a 405 complete statement of all opinions the expert will express and the basis and reasons for 406 them. The intent is not to require a verbatim transcript of exactly what the expert will 407 say at trial; instead the expert must fairly disclose the substance of and basis for each
408 opinion the expert will offer. The expert may not testify in a party's case in chief 409 concerning any matter that is not fairly disclosed in the report. To achieve the goal of 410 making reports a reliable substitute for depositions, courts are expected to enforce this 411 requirement. If a party elects a deposition, rather than a report, it is up to the party to 412 ask the necessary questions to "lock in" the expert's testimony. But the expert is 413 expected to be fully prepared on all aspects of his/her trial testimony at the time of the 414 deposition and may not leave the door open for additional testimony by qualifying 415 answers to deposition questions.

416 There are a number of difficulties inherent in disclosing expert testimony that may be 417 offered from fact witnesses. First, there is often not a clear line between fact and expert
418 testimony. Many fact witnesses have scientific, technical or other specialized 419 knowledge, and their testimony about the events in question often will cross into the 420 area of expert testimony. The rules are not intended to erect artificial barriers to the 421 admissibility of such testimony. Second, many of these fact witnesses will not be within 422 the control of the party who plans to call them at trial. These witnesses may not be 423 cooperative, and may not be willing to discuss opinions they have with counsel. Where 424 this is the case, disclosures will necessarily be more limited. On the other hand, 425 consistent with the overall purpose of the 2011 amendments, a party should receive 426 advance notice if their opponent will solicit expert opinions from a particular witness so 427 they can plan their case accordingly. In an effort to strike an appropriate balance, the 428 rules require that such witnesses be identified and the information about their 429 anticipated testimony should include that which is required under Rule 26(a)(1)(A)(ii), 430 which should include any opinion testimony that a party expects to elicit from them at 431 trial. If a party has disclosed possible opinion testimony in its Rule 26(a)(1)(A)(ii)

disclosures, that party is not required to prepare a separate Rule 26 (a)(4)(E) disclosure for the witness. And if that disclosure is made in advance of the witness's deposition, those opinions should be explored in the deposition and not in a separate expert deposition. Otherwise, the timing for disclosure of non-retained expert opinions is the same as that for retained experts under Rule 26(a)(4)(C) and depends on whether the party has the burden of proof or is responding to another expert.

Scope of discovery – Proportionality. Rule 26(b). Proportionality is the principle governing the scope of discovery. Simply stated, it means that the cost of discovery should be proportional to what is at stake in the litigation.

In the past, the scope of discovery was governed by “relevance” or the “likelihood to lead to discovery of admissible evidence.” These broad standards may have secured just results by allowing a party to discover all facts relevant to the litigation. However, they did little to advance two equally important objectives of the rules of civil procedure – the speedy and inexpensive resolution of every action. Accordingly, the former standards governing the scope of discovery have been replaced with the proportionality standards in subpart (b)(13).

The concept of proportionality is not new. The prior rule permitted the Court to limit discovery methods if it determined that “the discovery was unduly burdensome or expensive, taking into account the needs of the case, the amount in controversy, limitations on the parties’ resources, and the importance of the issues at stake in the litigation.” The Federal Rules of Civil Procedure contains a similar provision. See Fed. R. Civ. P. 26(b)(2)-(C).

Any system of rules which permits the facts and circumstances of each case to inform procedure cannot eliminate uncertainty. Ultimately, the trial court has broad discretion in deciding whether a discovery request is proportional. The proportionality standards in subpart (b)(23) and the discovery tiers in subpart (c) mitigate uncertainty by guiding that discretion. The proper application of the proportionality standards will be defined over time by trial and appellate courts.

Standard and extraordinary discovery. Rule 26(c). As a counterpart to requiring more detailed disclosures under Rule 26(a), the 2011 amendments place new limitations on additional discovery the parties may conduct. Because the committee expects the enhanced disclosure requirements will automatically permit each party to learn the witnesses and evidence the opposing side will offer in its case-in-chief, additional discovery should serve the more limited function of permitting parties to find witnesses, documents, and other evidentiary materials that are harmful, rather than helpful, to the opponent's case.

Parties are expected to be reasonable and accomplish as much as they can during standard discovery. A statement of discovery issues may result in additional discovery and sanctions at the expense of a party who unreasonably fails to respond or otherwise frustrates discovery. After the expiration of the applicable time limitation, a case is presumed to be ready for trial. Actions for nonmonetary relief, such as injunctive relief, are subject to the standard discovery limitations of Tier 2, absent an accompanying monetary claim of $300,000 or more, in which case Tier 3 applies.

Consequences of failure to disclose. Rule 26(d). If a party fails to disclose or to supplement timely its discovery responses, that party cannot use the undisclosed witness, document, or material at any hearing or trial, absent proof that non-disclosure was harmless or justified by good cause. More complete disclosures increase the likelihood that the case will be resolved justly, speedily, and inexpensively. Not being able to use evidence that a party fails properly to disclose provides a powerful incentive to make complete disclosures. This is true only if trial courts hold parties to this standard. Accordingly, although a trial court retains discretion to determine how properly to address this issue in a given case, the usual and expected result should be exclusion of the evidence.

(a) (1) (B) a copy of all documents, data compilations, electronically stored information, and tangible things in the possession or control of the party that the party may offer in its case-in-chief, except charts, summaries and demonstrative exhibits that have not yet been prepared and must be disclosed in accordance with paragraph (a)(5);

(a) (1) (C) a computation of any damages claimed and a copy of all discoverable documents or evidentiary material on which such computation is based, including materials about the nature and extent of injuries suffered;

(a) (4) Expert testimony. .

(a) (4) (A) Disclosure of expert testimony. A party shall, without waiting for a discovery request, provide to the other parties the following information regarding any person who may be used at trial to present evidence under Rules 702, 703, or of the Utah Rules of Evidence and who is retained or specially employed to provide expert testimony in the case or whose duties as an employee of the party regularly involve giving expert testimony: (i) the expert's name and qualifications, including a list of all publications authored within the preceding 10 years, and a list of any other cases in which the expert has testified as an expert at trial or by deposition within the preceding four years, (ii) a brief summary of the opinions to which the witness is expected to testify, (iii) all data and other information that will be relied upon by the witness in forming those opinions, and (iv) the compensation to be paid for the witness's study and testimony.

(a) (4) (B) Limits on expert discovery. Further discovery may be obtained from an expert witness either by deposition or by written report. A deposition shall not exceed four hours and the party taking the deposition shall pay the expert's reasonable hourly fees for attendance at the deposition. A report shall be signed by the expert and shall contain a complete statement of all opinions the expert will offer at trial and the basis and reasons for

86 them. Such an expert may not testify in a party's case-in-chief concerning any matter not fairly 87 disclosed in the report. The party offering the expert shall pay the costs for the report.

88 (a) (4) (C) Timing for expert discovery.

89 (a) (4) (C) (i) The party who bears the burden of proof on the issue for which expert
90 testimony is offered shall provide the information required by paragraph (a)(4)(A) within seven 91 days after the close of fact discovery. Within seven days thereafter, the party opposing the 92 expert may serve notice electing either a deposition of the expert pursuant to paragraph 93 (a)(4)(B) and Rule 30, or a written report pursuant to paragraph (a)(4)(B). The deposition shall 94 occur, or the report shall be provided, within 28 days after the election is made. If no election
95 is made, then no further discovery of the expert shall be permitted.

96 (a) (4) (C) (ii) The party who does not bear the burden of proof on the issue for which 97 expert testimony is offered shall provide the information required by paragraph (a)(4)(A)
98 within seven days after the later of (i) the date on which the election under paragraph
99 (a)(4)(C)(i) is due, or (ii) receipt of the written report or the taking of the expert's deposition
100 pursuant to paragraph (a)(4)(C)(i). Within seven days thereafter, the party opposing the expert 101 may serve notice electing either a deposition of the expert pursuant to paragraph (a)(4)(B) and 102 Rule 30, or a written report pursuant to paragraph (a)(4)(B). The deposition shall occur, or the 103 report shall be provided, within 28 days after the election is made. If no election is made, then 104 no further discovery of the expert shall be permitted.

105 (a) (4) (D) Multiparty actions. In multiparty actions, all parties opposing the expert 106 must agree on either a report or a deposition. If all parties opposing the expert do not agree,
107 then further discovery of the expert may be obtained only by deposition pursuant to paragraph 108 (a)(4)(B) and Rule 30.

109 (a) (4) (E) Summary of non-retained expert testimony. If a party intends to present
110 evidence at trial under Rules 702, 703, or of the Utah Rules of Evidence from any person other
111 than an expert witness who is retained or specially employed to provide testimony in the case
112 or a person whose duties as an employee of the party regularly involve giving expert testimony, 113 that party must provide a written summary of the facts and opinions to which the witness is expected to testify in accordance with the deadlines set forth in paragraph (a)(4)(C). A deposition of such a witness may not exceed four hours.

(a) (5) Pretrial disclosures.

(a) (5) (A) A party shall, without waiting for a discovery request, provide to other parties:

(a) (5) (A) (i) the name and, if not previously provided, the address and telephone number of each witness, unless solely for impeachment, separately identifying witnesses the party will call and witnesses the party may call;

(a) (5) (A) (ii) the name of witnesses whose testimony is expected to be presented by transcript of a deposition and a copy of the transcript with the proposed testimony designated; and

(a) (5) (A) (iii) a copy of each exhibit, including charts, summaries and demonstrative exhibits, unless solely for impeachment, separately identifying those which the party will offer and those which the party may offer.

(a) (5) (B) Disclosure required by paragraph (a)(5) shall be made at least 28 days before trial. At least 14 days before trial, a party shall serve and file counter designations of deposition testimony, objections and grounds for the objections to the use of a deposition and to the admissibility of exhibits. Other than objections under Rules 402 and 403 of the Utah Rules of Evidence, objections not listed are waived unless excused by the court for good cause.

(b) Discovery scope.

(b) (1) In general. Parties may discover any matter, not privileged, which is relevant to the claim or defense of any party if the discovery satisfies the standards of proportionality set forth below. Privileged matters that are not discoverable or admissible in any proceeding of any kind or character include all information in any form provided during and created specifically as part of a request for an investigation, the investigation, findings, or conclusions of peer review, care review, or quality assurance processes of any organization of health care providers as defined in the Utah Health Care Malpractice Act for the purpose of evaluating care provided to reduce morbidity and mortality or to improve the quality of medical care, or for the purpose of peer review of the ethics, competence, or professional conduct of any health care provider.

(b) (2) Proportionality. Discovery and discovery requests are proportional if:

(b) (2) (A) the discovery is reasonable, considering the needs of the case, the amount in controversy, the complexity of the case, the parties' resources, the importance of the issues, and the importance of the discovery in resolving the issues;

(b) (2) (B) the likely benefits of the proposed discovery outweigh the burden or expense;

(b) (2) (C) the discovery is consistent with the overall case management and will further the just, speedy and inexpensive determination of the case;

(b) (2) (D) the discovery is not unreasonably cumulative or duplicative;

(b) (2) (E) the information cannot be obtained from another source that is more convenient, less burdensome or less expensive; and

(b) (2) (F) the party seeking discovery has not had sufficient opportunity to obtain the information by discovery or otherwise, taking into account the parties' relative access to the information.

(b) (3) Burden. The party seeking discovery always has the burden of showing proportionality and relevance. To ensure proportionality, the court may enter orders under Rule 37.

(b) (4) Electronically stored information. A party claiming that electronically stored information is not reasonably accessible because of undue burden or cost shall describe the source of the electronically stored information, the nature and extent of the burden, the nature of the information not provided, and any other information that will enable other parties to evaluate the claim.

(b) (5) Trial preparation materials. A party may obtain otherwise discoverable documents and tangible things prepared in anticipation of litigation or for trial by or for another party or by or for that other party's representative (including the party's attorney, consultant, surety, indemnitor, insurer, or agent) only upon a showing that the party seeking discovery has substantial need of the materials and that the party is unable without undue hardship to obtain substantially equivalent materials by other means. In ordering discovery of such materials, the court shall protect against disclosure of the mental impressions, conclusions, opinions, or legal theories of an attorney or other representative of a party.

(b) (6) Statement previously made about the action. A party may obtain without the showing required in paragraph (b)(5) a statement concerning the action or its subject matter previously made by that party. Upon request, a person not a party may obtain without the required showing a statement about the action or its subject matter previously made by that person. If the request is refused, the person may move for a court order under Rule 37. A statement previously made is (A) a written statement signed or approved by the person making it, or (B) a stenographic, mechanical, electronic, or other recording, or a transcription thereof, which is a substantially verbatim recital of an oral statement by the person making it and contemporaneously recorded.

(b) (7) Trial preparation; experts.

(b) (7) (A) Trial-preparation protection for draft reports or disclosures. Paragraph (b)(5) protects drafts of any report or disclosure required under paragraph (a)(4), regardless of the form in which the draft is recorded.

(b) (7) (B) Trial-preparation protection for communications between a party's attorney and expert witnesses. Paragraph (b)(5) protects communications between the party's attorney and any witness required to provide disclosures under paragraph (a)(4), regardless of the form of the communications, except to the extent that the communications:

(b) (7) (B) (i) relate to compensation for the expert's study or testimony;

(b) (7) (B) (ii) identify facts or data that the party's attorney provided and that the expert considered in forming the opinions to be expressed; or

(b) (7) (B) (iii) identify assumptions that the party's attorney provided and that the expert relied on in forming the opinions to be expressed.

(b) (7) (C) Expert employed only for trial preparation. Ordinarily, a party may not, by interrogatories or otherwise, discover facts known or opinions held by an expert who has been retained or specially employed by another party in anticipation of litigation or to prepare for trial and who is not expected to be called as a witness at trial. A party may do so only:

(b) (7) (C) (i) as provided in Rule 35(b); or

(b) (7) (C) (ii) on showing exceptional circumstances under which it is impracticable for the party to obtain facts or opinions on the same subject by other means.

(b) (8) Claims of privilege or protection of trial preparation materials.

(b) (8) (A) Information withheld. If a party withholds discoverable information by claiming that it is privileged or prepared in anticipation of litigation or for trial, the party shall make the claim expressly and shall describe the nature of the documents, communications, or things not produced in a manner that, without revealing the information itself, will enable other parties to evaluate the claim.

(b) (8) (B) Information produced. If a party produces information that the party claims is privileged or prepared in anticipation of litigation or for trial, the producing party may notify any receiving party of the claim and the basis for it. After being notified, a receiving party must promptly return, sequester, or destroy the specified information and any copies it has and may not use or disclose the information until the claim is resolved. A receiving party may promptly present the information to the court under seal for a determination of the claim. If the receiving party disclosed the information before being notified, it must take reasonable steps to retrieve it. The producing party must preserve the information until the claim is resolved.

(c) Methods, sequence and timing of discovery; tiers; limits on standard discovery; extraordinary discovery.

(c) (1) Methods of discovery. Parties may obtain discovery by one or more of the following methods: depositions upon oral examination or written questions; written interrogatories; production of documents or things or permission to enter upon land or other property, for inspection and other purposes; physical and mental examinations; requests for admission; and subpoenas other than for a court hearing or trial.

(c) (2) Sequence and timing of discovery. Methods of discovery may be used in any sequence, and the fact that a party is conducting discovery shall not delay any other party's discovery. Except for cases exempt under paragraph (a)(3), a party may not seek discovery from any source before that party's initial disclosure obligations are satisfied.

(c) (3) Definition of tiers for standard discovery. Actions claiming $50,000 or less in damages are permitted standard discovery as described for Tier 1. Actions claiming more than $50,000 and less than $300,000 in damages are permitted standard discovery as described for Tier 2. Actions claiming $300,000 or more in damages are permitted standard discovery as described for Tier 3. Absent an accompanying damage claim for more than $300,000, actions claiming non-monetary relief are permitted standard discovery as described for Tier 2.

(c) (4) Definition of damages. For purposes of determining standard discovery, the amount of damages includes the total of all monetary damages sought (without duplication for alternative theories) by all parties in all claims for relief in the original pleadings.

(c) (5) Limits on standard fact discovery. Standard fact discovery per side (plaintiffs collectively, defendants collectively, and third-party defendants collectively) in each tier is as follows. The days to complete standard fact discovery are calculated from the date the first defendant's first disclosure is due and do not include expert discovery under paragraphs (a)(4)(C) and (D).

Tier	Amount of Damages	Total Fact Deposition Hours	Rule 33 Interrogatories including all discrete subparts	Rule 34 Requests for Production	Rule 36 Requests for Admission	Days to Complete Standard Fact Discovery
1	$50,000 or less	3	0	5	5	120

244	2	More than $50,000 and less than $300,000 or non- monetary relief	15	10	10	10	180
245	3	$300,000 or more	30	20	20	20	210

246 (c) (6) Extraordinary discovery. To obtain discovery beyond the limits established in 247 paragraph (c)(5), a party shall file:

248 (c) (6) (A) before the close of standard discovery and after reaching the limits of 249 standard discovery imposed by these rules, a stipulated statement that extraordinary discovery 250 is necessary and proportional under paragraph (b)(2) and that each party has reviewed and 251 approved a discovery budget; or

252 (c) (6) (B) before the close of standard discovery and after reaching the limits of 253 standard discovery imposed by these rules, a motion for extraordinary discovery setting forth
254 the reasons why the extraordinary discovery is necessary and proportional under paragraph 255 (b)(2) and certifying that the party has reviewed and approved a discovery budget and 256 certifying that the party has in good faith conferred or attempted to confer with the other party
257 in an effort to achieve a stipulation.

258 (d) Requirements for disclosure or response; disclosure or response by an organization;
259 failure to disclose; initial and supplemental disclosures and responses.

260 (d) (1) A party shall make disclosures and responses to discovery based on the 261 information then known or reasonably available to the party.

262 (d) (2) If the party providing disclosure or responding to discovery is a corporation, 263 partnership, association, or governmental agency, the party shall act through one or more officers, directors, managing agents, or other persons, who shall make disclosures and responses to discovery based on the information then known or reasonably available to the party.

(d) (3) A party is not excused from making disclosures or responses because the party has not completed investigating the case or because the party challenges the sufficiency of another party's disclosures or responses or because another party has not made disclosures or responses.

(d) (4) If a party fails to disclose or to supplement timely a disclosure or response to discovery, that party may not use the undisclosed witness, document or material at any hearing or trial unless the failure is harmless or the party shows good cause for the failure.

(d) (5) If a party learns that a disclosure or response is incomplete or incorrect in some important way, the party must timely provide the additional or correct information if it has not been made known to the other parties. The supplemental disclosure or response must state why the additional or correct information was not previously provided.

(e) Signing discovery requests, responses, and objections. Every disclosure, request for discovery, response to a request for discovery and objection to a request for discovery shall be in writing and signed by at least one attorney of record or by the party if the party is not represented. The signature of the attorney or party is a certification under Rule 11. If a request or response is not signed, the receiving party does not need to take any action with respect to it. If a certification is made in violation of the rule, the court, upon motion or upon its own initiative, may take any action authorized by Rule 11 or Rule 37(e).

(f) Filing. Except as required by these rules or ordered by the court, a party shall not file with the court a disclosure, a request for discovery or a response to a request for discovery, but shall file only the certificate of service stating that the disclosure, request for discovery or response has been served on the other parties and the date of service.

Section 2. Legislative note.

It is the intent of the Legislature that when the Court Rules are compiled and printed, the following language be added as a Legislative Note.

292 "Legislative Note.

293 (1) The amended language in paragraph (b)(1) is intended to incorporate long-standing 294 protections against discovery and admission into evidence of privileged matters connected to 295 medical care review and peer review into the Utah Rules of Civil Procedure. These privileges, 296 found in both Utah common law and statute, include Sections 26-25-3, 58-13-4, and 58-13-5,
297 UCA, 1953. The language is intended to ensure the confidentiality of peer review, care review,
298 and quality assurance processes and to ensure that the privilege is limited only to documents
299 and information created specifically as part of the processes. It does not extend to knowledge 300 gained or documents created outside or independent of the processes. The language is not 301 intended to limit the court's existing ability, if it chooses, to review contested documents in 302 camera in order to determine whether the documents fall within the privilege. The language is 303 not intended to alter any existing law, rule, or regulation relating to the confidentiality, 304 admissibility, or disclosure of proceedings before the Utah Division of Occupational and 305 Professional Licensing. The Legislature intends that these privileges apply to all pending and 306 future proceedings governed by court rules, including administrative proceedings regarding 307 licensing and reimbursement.

308 (2) The Legislature does not intend that the amendments to this rule be construed to 309 change or alter a final order concerning discovery matters entered on or before the effective 310 date of this amendment.

311 (3) The Legislature intends to give the greatest effect to its amendment, as legally 312 permissible, in matters that are pending on or may arise after the effective date of this 313 amendment, without regard to when the case was filed."

314 Section 3. Effective date.

315 This resolution takes effect upon approval by a constitutional two-thirds vote of all
316 members elected to each house.

Re: Request from Utah Supreme Court

Dear Lauren –

The Supreme Court has recently considered court data surrounding self-represented parties in civil actions. As you're aware from your experience in practice and time on the Court's Advisory Committee, self-represented litigants make up a large percentage of parties interacting with our civil justice system. Because of this, the Court would like to modify the composition of your Committee to include two new members that bring in the perspective of self-represented litigants. The new members can be either former self-represented litigants or someone in a position to offer the relevant perspective. This might include: front counter clerks, community-based organizations, social services agencies (libraries, homeless shelters, community action agencies, senior centers, and independent non-profits), and legal clinics (Timpanogos Legal Center, Utah Legal Services, the Legal Aid Society of Salt Lake City, the Utah Bar's Access to Justice office, S. J. Quinney College of Law's Pro Bono Initiative, and J. Reuben Clark Law School's Community Legal Clinic). Would you mind placing this item on an upcoming committee meeting for discussion? I am glad to come and present the issue and field questions. I would also encourage the invitation of Nathanael Player of the Administrative Office of the Court's Self-Help Center as the Court has looked to him for guidance on this issue.

The Court would also like your Committee to study the following three rules with a focus on eliminating the hurdles that self-represented parties face. The three rules include:

URCP 12(a)(1) directs a defendant to serve an answer within a specific time. However, the rule does not tell the defendant to file the answer as well, often leading to default. We would like the Committee to evaluate whether adding the requirement in the rule that the answer be filed would reduce the number of cases ending in default.

URCP 26.1(h) requires parties in domestic relations actions to be served with notice of the requirements to exchange initial disclosures and financial declarations. However, in practice, when parties agree on all terms, the disclosures are not required. The Court would like the Committee to consider amending the rule to clarify that the disclosures are only required if the responding party files an answer or otherwise disagrees with the petition.

URCP 104 requires the filing of a separate affidavit in support of a divorce decree, even though court form pleadings articulate the grounds for jurisdiction and for divorce as sworn statements under the Unsworn Declarations Act, Utah Code Title 78B, Chapter 18a. This rule duplications work, adds more generation of paperwork, and more confusion in divorce actions. The Court would like the Committee to consider repealing this rule or amending it to clarify that a sworn pleading can suffice for the affidavit mentioned in the rule.

Please let me know if you have questions or if I can assist in any way!

Respectfully,

Nick Stiles

Rule 12. Defenses and objections.

Effective: 11/1/2021

(a) When presented.

(1) In actions other than domestic relations. Unless otherwise provided by statute or order of the court, a defendant must serve an answer within 21 days after the service of the summons and complaint is complete within the state and within 30 days after service of the summons and complaint is complete outside the state. A party served with a pleading stating a cross-claim must serve an answer thereto within 21 days after the service. The plaintiff must serve an answer to a counterclaim in the answer within 21 days after service of the answer or, if a reply is ordered by the court, within 21 days after service of the order, unless the order otherwise directs. The service of a motion under this rule alters these periods of time as follows, unless a different time is fixed by order of the court, but a motion directed to fewer than all of the claims in a pleading does not affect the time for responding to the remaining claims:

(A) If the court denies the motion or postpones its disposition until the trial on the merits, the responsive pleading must be served within 14 days after notice of the court's action;

(B) If the court grants a motion for a more definite statement, the responsive pleading must be served within 14 days after the service of the more definite statement.

(2) In domestic relations actions. A party served with a domestic relations action must serve an answer within 21 days after service of the summons and petition is complete within the state and within 30 days after service of the summons and petition is complete outside the state. Any counterpetition must be filed with the answer. A party served with a counterpetition must serve an answer within 21 days after service of the counterpetition.

(b) How presented. Every defense, in law or fact, to claim for relief in any pleading, whether a claim, counterclaim, cross-claim, or third-party claim, must be asserted in the responsive pleading thereto if one is required, except that the following defenses may at the option of the pleader be made by motion: (1) lack of jurisdiction over the subject matter, (2) lack of jurisdiction over the person, (3) improper venue, (4) insufficiency of process, (5) insufficiency of service of process, (6) failure to state a claim upon which relief can be granted, (7) failure to join an indispensable party. A motion making any of these defenses must be made before pleading if a further pleading is permitted. No defense or objection is waived by being joined with one or more other defenses or objections in a responsive pleading or motion or by further pleading after the denial of such motion or objection. If a pleading sets forth a claim for relief to which the adverse party is not required to serve a responsive pleading, the adverse party may assert at the trial any defense in law or fact to that claim for relief. If, on a motion asserting the defense numbered (6) to dismiss for failure of the pleading to state a claim upon which relief can be granted, matters outside the pleading are presented to and not excluded by the court, the motion must be treated as one for summary judgment and disposed of as provided in Rule 56, and all parties must be given reasonable opportunity to present all material made pertinent to such a motion by Rule 56.

(c) Motion for judgment on the pleadings. After the pleadings are closed, but within such time as not to delay the trial, any party may move for judgment on the pleadings. If, on a motion for judgment on the pleadings, matters outside the pleadings are presented to and not excluded by the court, the motion must be treated as one for summary judgment and disposed of as provided in Rule 56, and all parties must be given reasonable opportunity to present all material made pertinent to such a motion by Rule 56.

(d) Preliminary hearings. The defenses specifically enumerated (1) - (7) in subdivision (b) of this rule, whether made in a pleading or by motion, and the motion for judgment mentioned in subdivision (c) of this rule must be heard and determined before trial on application of any party, unless the court orders that the hearings and determination thereof be deferred until the trial.

(e) Motion for more definite statement. If a pleading to which a responsive pleading is permitted is so vague or ambiguous that a party cannot reasonably be required to frame a responsive pleading, the party may move for a more definite statement before interposing a responsive pleading. The motion must point out the defects complained of and the details desired. If the motion is granted and the order of the court is not obeyed within 14 days after notice of the order or within such other time as the court may fix, the court may strike the pleading to which the motion was directed or make such order as it deems just.

(f) Motion to strike. Upon motion made by a party before responding to a pleading or, if no responsive pleading is permitted by these rules, upon motion made by a party within 21 days after the service of the pleading, the court may order stricken from any pleading any insufficient defense or any redundant, immaterial, impertinent, or scandalous matter.

(g) Consolidation of defenses. A party who makes a motion under this rule may join with it the other motions herein provided for and then available. If a party makes a motion under this rule and does not include therein all defenses and objections then available which this rule permits to be raised by motion, the party must not thereafter make a motion based on any of the defenses or objections so omitted, except as provided in subdivision (h) of this rule.

(h) Waiver of defenses. A party waives all defenses and objections not presented either by motion or by answer or reply, except (1) that the defense of failure to state a claim upon which relief can be granted, the defense of failure to join an indispensable party, and the objection of failure to state a legal defense to a claim may also be made by a later pleading, if one is permitted, or by motion for judgment on the pleadings or at the trial on the merits, and except (2) that, whenever it appears by suggestion of the parties or otherwise that the court lacks jurisdiction of the subject matter, the court must dismiss the action. The objection or defense, if made at the trial, must be disposed of as provided in Rule 15\(b\) in the light of any evidence that may have been received.

(i) Pleading after denial of a motion. The filing of a responsive pleading after the denial of any motion made pursuant to these rules must not be deemed a waiver of such motion.

(j) Security for costs of a nonresident plaintiff. When the plaintiff in an action resides out of this state, or is a foreign corporation, the defendant may file a motion to require the plaintiff to furnish security for costs and charges which may be awarded against such plaintiff. Upon hearing and determination by the court of the reasonable necessity therefor, the court must order the plaintiff to file a $300.00 undertaking with sufficient sureties as security for payment of such costs and charges as may be awarded against such plaintiff. No security must be required of any officer, instrumentality, or agency of the United States.

(k) Effect of failure to file undertaking. If the plaintiff fails to file the undertaking as ordered within 30 days of the service of the order, the court must, upon motion of the defendant, enter an order dismissing the action.

Re: Request from Utah Supreme Court

Dear Lauren –

The Supreme Court has recently considered court data surrounding self-represented parties in civil actions. As you're aware from your experience in practice and time on the Court's Advisory Committee, self-represented litigants make up a large percentage of parties interacting with our civil justice system. Because of this, the Court would like to modify the composition of your Committee to include two new members that bring in the perspective of self-represented litigants. The new members can be either former self-represented litigants or someone in a position to offer the relevant perspective. This might include: front counter clerks, community-based organizations, social services agencies (libraries, homeless shelters, community action agencies, senior centers, and independent non-profits), and legal clinics (Timpanogos Legal Center, Utah Legal Services, the Legal Aid Society of Salt Lake City, the Utah Bar's Access to Justice office, S. J. Quinney College of Law's Pro Bono Initiative, and J. Reuben Clark Law School's Community Legal Clinic). Would you mind placing this item on an upcoming committee meeting for discussion? I am glad to come and present the issue and field questions. I would also encourage the invitation of Nathanael Player of the Administrative Office of the Court's Self-Help Center as the Court has looked to him for guidance on this issue.

The Court would also like your Committee to study the following three rules with a focus on eliminating the hurdles that self-represented parties face. The three rules include:

URCP 12(a)(1) directs a defendant to serve an answer within a specific time. However, the rule does not tell the defendant to file the answer as well, often leading to default. We would like the Committee to evaluate whether adding the requirement in the rule that the answer be filed would reduce the number of cases ending in default.

URCP 26.1(h) requires parties in domestic relations actions to be served with notice of the requirements to exchange initial disclosures and financial declarations. However, in practice, when parties agree on all terms, the disclosures are not required. The Court would like the Committee to consider amending the rule to clarify that the disclosures are only required if the responding party files an answer or otherwise disagrees with the petition.

URCP 104 requires the filing of a separate affidavit in support of a divorce decree, even though court form pleadings articulate the grounds for jurisdiction and for divorce as sworn statements under the Unsworn Declarations Act, Utah Code Title 78B, Chapter 18a. This rule duplications work, adds more generation of paperwork, and more confusion in divorce actions. The Court would like the Committee to consider repealing this rule or amending it to clarify that a sworn pleading can suffice for the affidavit mentioned in the rule.

Please let me know if you have questions or if I can assist in any way!

Respectfully,

Nick Stiles

Rule 26.1. Disclosure and discovery in domestic relations actions.

(2) For the two tax years before the petition was filed, complete federal and state income tax returns, including Form W-2 and supporting tax schedules and attachments, filed by or on behalf of that party or by or on behalf of any entity in which the party has a majority or controlling interest, including, but not limited to, Form 1099 and Form K-1 with respect to that party.

(3) Pay stubs and other evidence of all earned and un-earned income for the 12 months before the petition was filed.

(4) All loan applications and financial statements prepared or used by the party within the 12 months before the petition was filed.

(6) All statements for the 3 months before the petition was filed for all financial accounts, including, but not limited to checking, savings, money market funds, certificates of deposit, brokerage, investment, retirement, regardless of whether the account has been closed including those held in that party's name, jointly with another person or entity, or as a trustee or guardian, or in someone else's name on that party's behalf.

(7) If the foregoing documents are not reasonably available or are in the possession of the other party, the party disclosing the Financial Declaration must estimate the amounts entered on the Financial Declaration, the basis for the estimation and an explanation why the documents are not available.

(d) Certificate of service. Each party must file a Certificate of Service with the court certifying that he or she has provided the Financial Declaration and attachments to the other party.

(e) Exemptions.

(1) Agencies of the State of Utah are not subject to these disclosure requirements.

(2) In cases where assets are not at issue, such as paternity, modification, and grandparents' rights, a party must only serve:

(A) the party's last three current paystubs and the previous year tax return;

(B) six months of bank and profit and loss statements if the party is self-employed;
and

(C) proof of any other assets or income relevant to the determination of a child support award.

51 The court may require the parties to complete a full Financial Declaration for purposes
52 of determining an attorney fee award or for any other reason. Any party may by 53 motion or through the discovery process also request completion of a full Financial 54 Declaration.

55 (f) Sanctions. Failure to fully disclose all assets and income in the Financial Declaration
56 and attachments may subject the non-disclosing party to sanctions
57 under Rule 37 including an award of non-disclosed assets to the other party, attorney's 58 fees or other sanctions deemed appropriate by the court.

59 (g) Failure to comply. Failure of a party to comply with this rule does not preclude any 60 other party from obtaining a default judgment, proceeding with the case, or seeking other 61 relief from the court.

62 (h) Notice of requirements. Notice of the requirements of this rule must be served on the 63 other party and all joined parties with the initial petition.

Fact sheet on Attorney-Conducted Voir Dire:

Utah is in the minority

As of 2007, Utah was one of only 10 states in which judges predominantly conducted voir dire.¹

Table 21: Who Conducts Voir Dire in State Courts?
Predominantly or Exclusively Judge-Conducted Voir Dire	AZ, DC, DE, MA, MD, ME, NH, NJ, SC, UT
Judge and Attorney Conduct Voir Dire Equally	CA, CO, HI, ID, IL, KY, MI, MN, MS, NM, NV, NY, OH, OK, PA, VA, WI, WV
Predominantly or Exclusively Attorney-Conducted Voir Dire	AK, AL, AR, CT, FL, GA, IA, IN, KS, LA, MO, MT, NC, ND, NE, OR, RI, SD, TN, TX, VT, WA, WY

That number has decreased at least by one though since Massachusetts adopted attorney-conducted voir dire in 2015 (see article and rule below).

Length of Attorney-Conducted Voir Dire

The Center for Jury Studies conducted a study on how much time attorney-conducted voir dire adds to a trial. As a reference point, they calculated that the average 12 person civil jury trial with equal time between judge and attorney-conducted questioning and three peremptoriness takes 114 minutes, or approximately 2 hours to complete.²

When voir dire is conducted predominantly by attorneys the average times increase by 70 minutes.⁴ This additional time, little more than an hour, is a relatively small price to pay in the grand scheme of the importance impartial jurors play to the process. Since the attorneys on the case are more likely to know the finite details of their case, which the Judge may not be aware of, it makes sense that questions the attorneys have are not always the same as those a judge may ask.

² See Id. at 30 showing a table of how different variables increase or decrease the average time for voir dire when compared to the reference.

⁴ Id. Using the table, when judges conduct voir dire exclusively, it saves 47 minutes compared to the reference, and when attorneys predominantly conduct voir dire, it adds 25 minutes. By comparison, when attorneys exclusively conduct voir dire, it adds 105 minutes instead of 25.

The Benefit of Attorney Conducted Voir Dire

Repeated studies show that attorney-conducted voir dire elicit far more truthfulness about juror biases than judge-conducted voir dire.⁵

Jurors are twice as honest when attorneys ask them questions than with judges ask the identical questions.⁶

Jurors are significantly more likely to face the pressure of “evaluation anxiety” when asked questions by judges as well as an “expectancy effect” that when they are asked by a judge if they can be impartial that the judge is implicitly encouraging them to answer “yes.”⁷

Attorney-conducted Voir Dire is encouraged in Utah⁸ but rarely permitted by courts outside of a few jurisdictions.

In State v. Williams, the Utah Court of Appeals has given guidance on how Utah courts should oversee attorney-conducted voir dire, with details about what should, and shouldn’t, be allowed based on how other jurisdictions handle attorney-conducted voir dire.⁹ Although criminal in nature, this case and its guidelines can be equally as informative to the use of attorney-conducted voir dire in civil cases.

The proposed rule change adopts guidance by Williams while also looking to other jurisdictions as supplemental guidance to construct a comprehensive rule.

Indeed, our rules now expressly provide for attorney-conducted juror examination, see Utah R. Crim. P. 18(b), and many judges and attorneys wisely embrace the conscientious use of a well-drafted questionnaire.”).

⁹ State v. Williams, 2018 UT App 96,

Rule 47. Jurors.

(a) Examination of jurors. Upon a motion by either party, the court shall permit the parties or their attorneys to conduct the examination of prospective jurors. If such a motion is made, the court shall permit the parties or their attorneys to make a preliminary statement of the case and notify the parties in advance of trial. If no motion is made, the court or may itself conduct the examination. In the latter event, the court shall permit the parties or their attorneys to supplement the examination by such further inquiry as is material and proper or shall itself submit to the prospective jurors such additional questions of the parties or their attorneys as is material and proper. Prior to examining the jurors, the court may make a preliminary statement of the case. The court may permit the parties or their attorneys to make a preliminary statement of the case and notify the parties in advance of trial.

(b) Procedure for Attorney-Conducted Jury Selection.

(b)(1) The Court may impose reasonable restrictions on attorney-conducted jury selection; including, a reasonable time limited allotted to each side. In determining a reasonable time limit, the court should consider the complexity of the issues in the case, the length of the overall trial, and any stipulations of the parties.

(b)(2) A party may give a preliminary statement of the case to the entire panel. The statement should orient the panel to the questions that will be asked without commenting on specific facts to be presented during trial. The statement may not be used as a tool to persuade members of the panel to adopt a position or predisposition to the evidence, or bolster an anticipated witness's credibility. The party may inform the panel about a relevant law, such as an anticipated defense, if needed to inquire into any bias on following that law. The party may make additional statements during the time allotted for questioning as needed to orient the panel to new topics.

(b)(3) Questions should be targeted to reveal prospective jurors' biases or prejudices. The court may not prohibit a questions simply because the bias or prejudice of concern is not related to a for-cause strike or because the questions relates to a sensitive topic. Either by objection from opposing counsel, or by the court acting sua sponte, the court may prohibit a question that:

(b)(3)(A) may confuse the person asked;

(b)(3)(B) is rhetorical or waits for no answer;

(b)(3)(C) may harass, embarrass, inflame, or ask highly personal information about a juror;

(b)(3)(D) makes repetitive inquires of a juror;

Commented [KN1]: State v. Purdy, 491 N.W.2d 402 (N.D. 1992):

Rule 24(a), N.D.R.Crim.P., provides that "[t]he court shall permit the defendant or the defendant's attorney and the prosecuting attorney to participate in the examination of prospective jurors." However, the right to voir dire is not without limitations. It is properly within a trial court's discretion to impose reasonable restrictions on the exercise of voir dire, such as placing reasonable time limits on the voir dire examination and preventing the propounding of vexatious or repetitious questions. See, e.g., Hatchett v. State, 503 N.E.2d 398, 402 (Ind.1987); People v. Jean, 75 N.Y.2d 744, 551 N.Y.S.2d 889, 890, 551 N.E.2d 90, 91 (1989); Maddux v. State, 825 S.W.2d 511, 514 (Tex.Ct.App.1992). Nevertheless, because the purpose of voir dire is to obtain a fair and impartial jury [see State v. Gross, 351 N.W.2d 428, 433 (N.D.1984); Explanatory Note to Rule 24, N.D.R.Crim.P.], placing arbitrary and unreasonable time limits on voir dire can result in reversible error. See, e.g., State v. Petersen, 368 N.W.2d 320, 322 (Minn.Ct.App.1985); State v. Evans, 352 N.W.2d 824, 826 (Minn.Ct.App.1984). We agree with those jurisdictions which hold that to establish prejudi...

Commented [KN7]: Wyo R. Crim P. 24

(b)(3)(F) has no apparent link to uncovering a potential bias;

Commented [KN8]: State v. Saunders, 1999 UT 59, ¶ 43

(b)(3)(G) seeks to influence how a juror may decide the case by doing any of the following:

"As a general rule, trial judges have some discretion in limiting voir dire inquiry. See, e.g., Worthen, 765 P.2d at 845. That discretion is most broad when it is exercised with respect to questions that have no apparent link to any potential bias. However, the trial judge's discretion narrows to the extent that questions do have some possible link to possible bias, and when proposed voir dire questions go directly to the existence of an actual bias, that discretion disappears."

(b)(3)(G)(i) raises a hypothetical that closely approximates the facts of the case;
(b)(3)(G)(ii) invites the juror to predict how he or she may ultimately decide the case;

Commented [KN9]: State v. Janis, 880 NW 2d 76, 82-83 (SD 2016) - this case is cited with approval in State v. Williams.

(b)(3)(G)(iii) asks the juror to judge the weight to be given to an operative fact; or

(b)(3)(G)(iv) seeks to have a juror commit to, pledge, or otherwise maintain a particular position in advance of the actual presentation of the evidence, unless that position is to follow the judge's instructions, or to be fair and impartial during the trial.

"Prospective jurors may not be questioned about hypothetical facts to be proved at trial, but may be questioned about their mental attitudes regarding certain types of evidence."

(b)(4) A question about how a particular piece of evidence may affect a juror's predisposition to one side is not equivalent to asking the juror to indicate how much weight that evidence would have in deciding the outcome of the case.

Commented [KN10]: Haarhuis v. Cheek, 805 SE 2d 720, 726 (NC App 2017) - this case is referenced with approval in State v. Williams

(b)(5) If a party asks a question that requests highly personal information from a juror, may embarrass a juror, or may cause a bias or prejudice to form in the minds of other jurors, the court may instruct that the juror be questioned outside of the presence of the panel. The court may require that the juror answer the question if the question is highly relevant to the issue of bias. The court should not impose time restrictions on questions to individuals outside the presence of the jury. The party's presence is not required if the answer may relate to information that the juror does not wish a party to hear.

Commented [KN11]: Hyundai Motor Co. v. Vasquez, 189 S.W.3d 743, 753 (2006) - this case is referenced with approval in State v. Williams

Commented [KN12]: State v. Broyhill, 803 S.E.2d 832, 841 (N.C. App 2017) - this case is cited with approval in State v. Williams.

See also John T. Bibb, Voir Dire: What Constitutes an Impermissible Attempt to Commit A Prospective Juror to A Particular Result, 48 Baylor L. Rev. 857, 874 (1996)

(b)(6) The plaintiff goes first in attorney-conducted voir dire.

"Texas lawyers will exceed the scope of permissible voir dire examination by asking questions that tend to elicit a pledge from a prospective juror as to how much weight the juror will give to such evidence in the determination of the final verdict. Texas courts generally prohibit any voir dire questions which ask prospective jurors to indicate their views on certain facts, and thereby commit themselves to certain views or conclusions.⁸⁴ The rule denying committal inquiries on the weight of evidence supports the underlying policy of voir dire: to obtain a fair trial from an unbiased jury by preventing jurors from determining critical issues based on a previous commitment as to the weight of particular evidence."

(b)(7) The court may sanction a party for violating this subsection by prohibiting the question, admonishing the party, giving a curative instruction, declaring a mistrial, or any other sanction as appropriate or required under the circumstances.

Formatted: p0, Font Alignment: Auto, Pattern: Clear

(c) Procedures for use of a supplemental jury questionnaire

Formatted: Font: (Default) Arial, 10 pt, Font color: Auto

(c)(1) Upon timely request, the court may permit a party to submit a questionnaire to aid in the discovery of bias or prejudices. The court may set reasonable limits on the length of the questionnaire or number of questions in considering the complexity of the issues in the case, the length of the overall trial, the seriousness of the offense, and any stipulation of the parties.

(c)(2) Before issuing the questionnaire, the court may strike any question that follows one of the prohibited questions described in subsection (b). The court should not modify, or require that a party modify, a question unless doing so is necessary to avoid asking a prohibited question. The court may not strike a question simply because that question serves only the function of a peremptory challenge.

Commented [KN13]: Barrett v. Peterson, 868 P.2d 96 (Utah Ct. App. 1993) (assigning error when a court changed the wording of proposed questions when the changes to wording changed the bias that the litigant intended to uncover).

(c)(3) The Court must allow the parties a reasonable opportunity to review the answers to the questionnaires in advance of making questions to the panel.

(d) Rehabilitation prohibited. When a juror admits to a bias, further inquiry may be made to allow the juror to elaborate or clarify the answer without an attempt to commit the juror to impartiality.

Commented [KN14]: Current advisory committee notes:

"Although thorough questioning of a juror to determine the existence, nature and extent of a bias is appropriate, it is not the judge's duty to extract the "right" answer from or to "rehabilitate" a juror."

However, see State v. Fletcher, 2015 UT App 167, ¶ 23

"When an inference of bias is raised, the inference is generally not rebutted simply by a subsequent general statement by the juror that he or she can be fair and impartial," but instead, "[t]he level of investigation necessary once voir dire reveals potential juror bias will vary from case to case and is necessarily dependent on the juror's responses to the questions asked." State v. Woolley, 810 P.2d 440, 445 (Utah Ct. App. 1991), overruled on other grounds as recognized by Robertson, 2005 UT App 419, 122 P.3d 895.

Also see discussion in State v. Jonas, 904 N.W.2d 566 (Iowa 2017).

"As noted in People v. Merrow, answers to the trial judge's generalized and leading questions "may suggest overt acquiescence in the trial court's efforts to elicit a commitment to neutrality" but are unreliable."

(eb) Alternate jurors. The court may direct that alternate jurors be impaneled. Alternate jurors, in the order in which they are called, shall replace jurors who, prior to the time the jury retires to consider its verdict, become unable or disqualified to perform their duties. Alternate jurors shall be selected at the same time and in the same manner, shall have the same qualifications, shall be subject to the same examination and challenges, shall take the same oath, and shall have the same functions, powers, and privileges as principal jurors. An alternate juror who does not replace a principal juror shall be discharged when the jury retires to consider its verdict unless the parties stipulate otherwise and the court approves the stipulation. The court may withhold from the jurors the identity of the alternate jurors until the jurors begin deliberations.

(fc) Challenge defined; by whom made. A challenge is an objection made to the trial jurors and may be directed (1) to the panel or (2) to an individual juror.

(gd) Challenge to panel; time and manner of taking; proceedings. A challenge to the panel can be founded only on a material departure from the forms prescribed in respect to the drawing and return of the jury, or on the intentional omission of the proper officer to summon one or more of the jurors drawn. It must be taken before a juror is sworn. It must be in writing or be stated on the record, and must specifically set forth the facts constituting the ground of challenge. If the challenge is allowed, the court must discharge the jury so far as the trial in question is concerned.

(he) Challenges to individual jurors; number of peremptory challenges. The challenges to individual jurors are either peremptory or for cause. Each party shall be entitled to three peremptory challenges. Several defendants or several plaintiffs shall be considered as a single party for the purposes of making peremptory challenges unless there is a substantial controversy between them, in which case the court shall allow as many additional peremptory challenges as is just. If one or two alternate jurors are called, each party is entitled to one peremptory challenge in addition to those otherwise allowed.

(if) Challenges for cause. A challenge for cause is an objection to a particular juror and shall be heard and determined by the court. The juror challenged and any other person may be examined as a witness on the hearing of such challenge. A challenge for cause may be taken on one or more of the following grounds. On its own motion the court may remove a juror upon the same grounds.

(if)(1) A want of any of the qualifications prescribed by law to render a person competent as a juror.

(if)(2) Consanguinity or affinity within the fourth degree to either party, or to an officer of a corporation that is a party.

(if)(3) Standing in the relation of debtor and creditor, guardian and ward, master and servant, employer and employee or principal and agent, to either party, or united in business with either party, or being on any bond or obligation for either party; provided, that the relationship of debtor and creditor shall be deemed not to exist between a municipality and a resident thereof indebted to such municipality by reason of a tax, license fee, or service charge for water, power, light or other services rendered to such resident.

(if)(4) Having served as a juror, or having been a witness, on a previous trial between the same parties for the same cause of action, or being then a witness therein.

(if)(5) Pecuniary interest on the part of the juror in the result of the action, or in the main question involved in the action, except interest as a member or citizen of a municipal corporation.

(if)(6) Conduct, responses, state of mind or other circumstances that reasonably lead the court to conclude the juror is not likely to act impartially. No person may serve as a juror, if challenged, unless the judge is convinced the juror can and will act impartially and fairly.

(ig) Selection of jury. The judge shall determine the method of selecting the jury and notify the parties at a pretrial conference or otherwise prior to trial. The following methods for selection are not exclusive.

(ig)(1) Strike and replace method. The court shall summon the number of jurors that are to try the cause plus such an additional number as will allow for any alternates, for all peremptory challenges permitted, and for all challenges for cause that may be granted. At the direction of the judge, the clerk shall call jurors in random order. The judge may hear and determine challenges for cause during the course of questioning or at the end thereof. The judge may and, at the request of any party, shall hear and determine challenges for cause outside the hearing of the jurors. After each challenge for cause sustained, another juror shall be called to fill the vacancy, and any such new juror may be challenged for cause. When the challenges for cause are completed, the clerk shall provide a list of the jurors remaining, and each side, beginning with the plaintiff, shall indicate thereon its peremptory challenge to one juror at a time in regular turn until all peremptory challenges are exhausted or waived. The clerk shall then call the remaining jurors, or so many of them as shall be necessary to constitute the jury, including any alternate jurors, and the persons whose names are so called shall constitute the jury. If alternate jurors have been selected, the last jurors called shall be the alternates, unless otherwise ordered by the court prior to voir dire.

(ig)(2) Struck method. The court shall summon the number of jurors that are to try the cause plus such an additional number as will allow for any alternates, for all peremptory challenges permitted and for all challenges for cause that may be granted. At the direction of the judge, the clerk shall call jurors in random order. The judge may hear and determine challenges for cause during the course of questioning or at the end thereof. The judge may and, at the request of any party, shall hear and determine challenges for cause outside the hearing of the jurors. When the challenges for cause are completed, the clerk shall provide a list of the jurors remaining, and each side, beginning with the plaintiff, shall indicate thereon its peremptory challenge to one juror at a time in regular turn until all peremptory challenges are exhausted or waived. The clerk shall then call the remaining jurors, or so many of them as shall be necessary to constitute the jury, including any alternate jurors, and the persons whose names are so called shall constitute the jury. If alternate jurors have been selected, the last jurors called shall be the alternates, unless otherwise ordered by the court prior to voir dire.

(ig)(3) In courts using lists of prospective jurors generated in random order by computer, the clerk may call the jurors in that random order.

(h) Oath of jury. As soon as the jury is selected an oath must be administered to the jurors, in substance, that they and each of them will well and truly try the matter in issue between the parties, and render a true verdict according to the evidence and the instructions of the court.

(i) Proceedings when juror discharged. If, after impaneling the jury and before verdict, a juror becomes unable or disqualified to perform the duties of a juror and there is no alternate juror, the parties may agree to proceed with the other jurors, or to swear a new juror and commence the trial anew. If the parties do not so agree the court shall discharge the jury and the case shall be tried with a new jury.

(j) Questions by jurors. A judge may invite jurors to submit written questions to a witness as provided in this section.

(j)(1) If the judge permits jurors to submit questions, the judge shall control the process to ensure the jury maintains its role as the impartial finder of fact and does not become an investigative body. The judge may disallow any question from a juror and may discontinue questions from jurors at any time.

(j)(2) If the judge permits jurors to submit questions, the judge should advise the jurors that they may write the question as it occurs to them and submit the question to the bailiff for transmittal to the judge. The judge should advise the jurors that some questions might not be allowed.

(j)(3) The judge shall review the question with counsel and unrepresented parties and rule upon any objection to the question. The judge may disallow a question even though no objection is made. The judge shall preserve the written question in the court file. If the question is allowed, the judge shall ask the question or permit counsel or an unrepresented party to ask it. The question may be rephrased into proper form. The judge shall allow counsel and unrepresented parties to examine the witness after the juror's question.

(k) View by jury. When in the opinion of the court it is proper for the jury to have a view of the property which is the subject of litigation, or of the place in which any material fact occurred, it may order them to be conducted in a body under the charge of an officer to the place, which shall be shown to them by some person appointed by the court for that purpose. While the jury are thus absent no person other than the person so appointed shall speak to them on any subject connected with the trial.

(l) Communication with jurors. There shall be no off-the-record communication between jurors and lawyers, parties, witnesses or persons acting on their behalf. Jurors shall not communicate with any person regarding a subject of the trial. Jurors may communicate with court personnel and among themselves about topics other than a subject of the trial. It is the duty of jurors not to form or express an opinion regarding a subject of the trial except during deliberation. The judge shall so admonish the jury at the beginning of trial and remind them as appropriate.

(m) Deliberation of jury. When the case is finally submitted to the jury they may decide in court or retire for deliberation. If they retire they must be kept together in some convenient place under charge of an officer until they agree upon a verdict or are discharged, unless otherwise ordered by the court. Unless by order of the court, the officer having charge of them must not make or allow to be made any communication to them with respect to the action, except to ask them if they have agreed upon their verdict, and the officer must not, before the verdict is rendered, communicate to any person the state of deliberations or the verdict agreed upon.

(n) Exhibits taken by jury; notes. Upon retiring for deliberation the jury may take with them the instructions of the court and all exhibits which have been received as evidence in the cause, except exhibits that should not, in the opinion of the court, be in the possession of the jury, such as exhibits of unusual size, weapons or contraband. The court shall permit the jury to view exhibits upon request. Jurors are entitled to take notes during the trial and to have those notes with them during deliberations. As necessary, the court shall provide jurors with writing materials and instruct the jury on taking and using notes.

(o) Additional instructions of jury. After the jury have retired for deliberation, if there is a disagreement among them as to any part of the testimony, or if they desire to be informed on any point of law arising in the cause, they may require the officer to conduct them into court. Upon their being brought into court the information required must be given in the presence of, or after notice to, the parties or counsel. Such information must be given in writing or stated on the record.

(p) New trial when no verdict given. If a jury is discharged or prevented from giving a verdict for any reason, the action shall be tried anew.

(q) Court deemed in session pending verdict; verdict may be sealed. While the jury is absent the court may be adjourned from time to time in respect to other business, but it shall be open for every purpose connected with the cause submitted to the jury, until a verdict is rendered or the jury discharged. The court may direct the jury to bring in a sealed verdict at the opening of the court, in case of an agreement during a recess or adjournment for the day.

(r) Declaration of verdict. When the jury or three-fourths of them, or such other number as may have been agreed upon by the parties pursuant to Rule 48, have agreed upon a verdict they must be conducted into court, their names called by the clerk, and the verdict rendered by their foreperson; the verdict must be in writing, signed by the foreperson, and must be read by the clerk to the jury, and the inquiry made whether it is their verdict. Either party may require the jury to be polled, which shall be done by the court or clerk asking each juror if it is the juror's verdict. If, upon such inquiry or polling there is an insufficient number of jurors agreeing therewith, the jury must be sent out again; otherwise the verdict is complete and the jury shall be discharged from the cause. (s) Correction of verdict. If the verdict rendered is informal or insufficient, it may be corrected by the jury under the advice of the court, or the jury may be sent out again.

Rule 47. Jurors.

(a) Examination of jurors. Upon a motion by either party, the court shall permit the parties or their attorneys to conduct the examination of prospective jurors. If such a motion is made, the court shall permit the parties or their attorneys to make a preliminary statement of the case and notify the parties in advance of trial. ~~If no motion is made, the court or~~ may itself conduct the examination. In the latter event, the court shall permit the parties or their attorneys to supplement the examination by such further inquiry as is material and proper or shall itself submit to the prospective jurors such additional questions of the parties or their attorneys as is material and proper. Prior to examining the jurors, the court may make a preliminary statement of the case. ~~The court may permit the parties or their attorneys to make a preliminary statement of the case and notify the parties in advance of trial.~~

(b) Procedure for Attorney-Conducted Jury Selection.

(b)(1) The Court may impose reasonable restrictions on attorney-conducted jury selection; including, a reasonable time limited allotted to each side. In determining a reasonable time limit, the court should consider the complexity of the issues in the case, the length of the overall trial, and any stipulations of the parties.

(b)(2) A party may give a preliminary statement of the case to the entire panel. The statement should orient the panel to the questions that will be asked without commenting on specific facts to be presented during trial. The statement may not be used as a tool to persuade members of the panel to adopt a position or predisposition to the evidence, or bolster an anticipated witness's credibility. The party may inform the panel about a relevant law, such as an anticipated defense, if needed to inquire into any bias on following that law. The party may make additional statements during the time allotted for questioning as needed to orient the panel to new topics.

(b)(3) Questions should be targeted to reveal prospective jurors' biases or prejudices. The court may not prohibit a questions simply because the bias or prejudice of concern is not related to a for-cause strike or because the questions relates to a sensitive topic. Either by objection from opposing counsel, or by the court acting sua sponte, the court may prohibit a question that:

(b)(3)(A) may confuse the person asked;

(b)(3)(B) is rhetorical or waits for no answer;

(b)(3)(C) may harass, embarrass, inflame, or ask highly personal information about a juror;

(b)(3)(D) makes repetitive inquires of a juror;

Commented [KN1]: State v. Purdy, 491 N.W.2d 402 (N.D. 1992):

Rule 24(a), N.D.R.Crim.P., provides that "[t]he court shall permit the defendant or the defendant's attorney and the prosecuting attorney to participate in the examination of prospective jurors." However, the right to voir dire is not without limitations. It is properly within a trial court's discretion to impose reasonable restrictions on the exercise of voir dire, such as placing reasonable time limits on the voir dire examination and preventing the propounding of vexatious or repetitious questions. See, e.g., Hatchett v. State, 503 N.E.2d 398, 402 (Ind.1987); People v. Jean, 75 N.Y.2d 744, 551 N.Y.S.2d 889, 890, 551 N.E.2d 90, 91 (1989); Maddux v. State, 825 S.W.2d 511, 514 (Tex.Ct.App.1992). Nevertheless, because the purpose of voir dire is to obtain a fair and impartial jury [see State v. Gross, 351 N.W.2d 428, 433 (N.D.1984); Explanatory Note to Rule 24, N.D.R.Crim.P.], placing arbitrary and unreasonable time limits on voir dire can result in reversible error. See, e.g., State v. Petersen, 368 N.W.2d 320, 322 (Minn.Ct.App.1985); State v. Evans, 352 N.W.2d 824, 826 (Minn.Ct.App.1984). We agree with those jurisdictions which hold that to establish prejudicial

(b)(3)(G) seeks to influence how a juror may decide the case by doing any of the following:

"As a general rule, trial judges have some discretion in limiting voir dire inquiry. See, e.g., Worthen, 765 P.2d at 845. That discretion is most broad when it is exercised with respect to questions that have no apparent link to any potential bias. However, the trial judge's discretion narrows to the extent that questions do have some possible link to possible bias, and when proposed voir dire questions go directly to the existence of an actual bias, that discretion disappears."

(b)(3)(G)(i) raises a hypothetical that closely approximates the facts of the case;
(b)(3)(G)(ii) invites the juror to predict how he or she may ultimately decide the case;

Commented [KN9]: State v. Janis, 880 NW 2d 76, 82-83 (SD 2016) - this case is cited with approval in State v. Williams.

(b)(3)(G)(iii) asks the juror to judge the weight to be given to an operative fact; or
(b)(3)(G)(iv) seeks to have a juror commit to, pledge, or otherwise maintain a particular position in advance of the actual presentation of the evidence, unless that position is to follow the judge's instructions, or to be fair and impartial during the trial.

"Prospective jurors may not be questioned about hypothetical facts to be proved at trial, but may be questioned about their mental attitudes regarding certain types of evidence."

(b)(4) A question about how a particular piece of evidence may affect a juror's predisposition to one side is not equivalent to asking the juror to indicate how much weight that evidence would have in deciding the outcome of the case.

(b)(5) If a party asks a question that requests highly personal information from a juror, may embarrass a juror, or may cause a bias or prejudice to form in the minds of other jurors, the court may instruct that the juror be questioned outside of the presence of the panel. The court may require that the juror answer the question if the question is highly relevant to the issue of bias. The court should not impose time restrictions on questions to individuals outside the presence of the jury. The party's presence is not required if the answer may relate to information that the juror does not wish a party to hear.

(b)(6) The plaintiff goes first in attorney-conducted voir dire.

"Texas lawyers will exceed the scope of permissible voir dire examination by asking questions that tend to elicit a pledge from a prospective juror as to how much weight the juror will give to such evidence in the determination of the final verdict. Texas courts generally prohibit any voir dire questions which ask prospective jurors to indicate their views on certain facts, and thereby commit themselves to certain views or conclusions.⁸⁴ The rule denying committal inquiries on the weight of evidence supports the underlying policy of voir dire: to obtain a fair trial from an unbiased jury by preventing jurors from determining critical issues based on a previous commitment as to the weight of particular evidence."

(b)(7) The court may sanction a party for violating this subsection by prohibiting the question, admonishing the party, giving a curative instruction, declaring a mistrial, or any other sanction as appropriate or required under the circumstances.

(c) Procedures for use of a supplemental jury questionnaire

Formatted: Font: (Default) Arial, 10 pt, Font color: Auto

(c)(1) Upon timely request, the court may permit a party to submit a questionnaire to aid in the discovery of bias or prejudices. The court may set reasonable limits on the length of the questionnaire or number of questions in considering the complexity of the issues in the case, the length of the overall trial, the seriousness of the offense, and any stipulation of the parties.

(c)(2) Before issuing the questionnaire, the court may strike any question that follows one of the prohibited questions described in subsection (b). The court should not modify, or require that a party modify, a question unless doing so is necessary to avoid asking a prohibited question. The court may not strike a question simply because that question serves only the function of a peremptory challenge.

(c)(3) The Court must allow the parties a reasonable opportunity to review the answers to the questionnaires in advance of making questions to the panel.

(d) Rehabilitation prohibited. When a juror admits to a bias, further inquiry may be made to allow the juror to elaborate or clarify the answer without an attempt to commit the juror to impartiality.

(e) Alternate jurors. The court may direct that alternate jurors be impaneled. Alternate jurors, in the order in which they are called, shall replace jurors who, prior to the time the jury retires to consider its verdict, become unable or disqualified to perform their duties. Alternate jurors shall be selected at the same time and in the same manner, shall have the same qualifications, shall be subject to the same examination and challenges, shall take the same oath, and shall have the same functions, powers, and privileges as principal jurors. An alternate juror who does not replace a principal juror shall be discharged when the jury retires to consider its verdict unless the parties stipulate otherwise and the court approves the stipulation. The court may withhold from the jurors the identity of the alternate jurors until the jurors begin deliberations.

(f) Challenge defined; by whom made. A challenge is an objection made to the trial jurors and may be directed (1) to the panel or (2) to an individual juror.

(g) Challenge to panel; time and manner of taking; proceedings. A challenge to the panel can be founded only on a material departure from the forms prescribed in respect to the drawing and return of the jury, or on the intentional omission of the proper officer to summon one or more of the jurors drawn. It must be taken before a juror is sworn. It must be in writing or be stated on the record, and must specifically set forth the facts constituting the ground of challenge. If the challenge is allowed, the court must discharge the jury so far as the trial in question is concerned.

(h) Challenges to individual jurors; number of peremptory challenges. The challenges to individual jurors are either peremptory or for cause. Each party shall be entitled to three peremptory challenges. Several defendants or several plaintiffs shall be considered as a single party for the purposes of making peremptory challenges unless there is a substantial controversy between them, in which case the court shall allow as many additional peremptory challenges as is just. If one or two alternate jurors are called, each party is entitled to one peremptory challenge in addition to those otherwise allowed.

Commented [KN13]: Barrett v. Peterson, 868 P.2d 96 (Utah Ct. App. 1993) (assigning error when a court changed the wording of proposed questions when the changes to wording changed the bias that the litigant intended to uncover).

Commented [KN14]: Current advisory committee notes:

"Although thorough questioning of a juror to determine the existence, nature and extent of a bias is appropriate, it is not the judge's duty to extract the "right" answer from or to "rehabilitate" a juror."

However, see State v. Fletcher, 2015 UT App 167, ¶ 23

"When an inference of bias is raised, the inference is generally not rebutted simply by a subsequent general statement by the juror that he or she can be fair and impartial," but instead, "[t]he level of investigation necessary once voir dire reveals potential juror bias will vary from case to case and is necessarily dependent on the juror's responses to the questions asked." State v. Woolley, 810 P.2d 440, 445 (Utah Ct. App. 1991), overruled on other grounds as recognized by Robertson, 2005 UT App 419, 122 P.3d 895.

Also see discussion in State v. Jonas, 904 N.W.2d 566 (Iowa 2017).

"As noted in People v. Merrow, answers to the trial judge's generalized and leading questions "may suggest overt acquiescence in the trial court's efforts to elicit a commitment to neutrality" but are unreliable."

(f) Challenges for cause. A challenge for cause is an objection to a particular juror and shall be heard and determined by the court. The juror challenged and any other person may be examined as a witness on the hearing of such challenge. A challenge for cause may be taken on one or more of the following grounds. On its own motion the court may remove a juror upon the same grounds.

(f)(1) A want of any of the qualifications prescribed by law to render a person competent as a juror.

(f)(2) Consanguinity or affinity within the fourth degree to either party, or to an officer of a corporation that is a party.

~~(f)~~(3) Standing in the relation of debtor and creditor, guardian and ward, master and servant, employer and employee or principal and agent, to either party, or united in business with either party, or being on any bond or obligation for either party; provided, that the relationship of debtor and creditor shall be deemed not to exist between a municipality and a resident thereof indebted to such municipality by reason of a tax, license fee, or service charge for water, power, light or other services rendered to such resident.

(f)(4) Having served as a juror, or having been a witness, on a previous trial between the same parties for the same cause of action, or being then a witness therein.

(f)(5) Pecuniary interest on the part of the juror in the result of the action, or in the main question involved in the action, except interest as a member or citizen of a municipal corporation.

(f)(6) Conduct, responses, state of mind or other circumstances that reasonably lead the court to conclude the juror is not likely to act impartially. No person may serve as a juror, if challenged, unless the judge is convinced the juror can and will act impartially and fairly.

(g) Selection of jury. The judge shall determine the method of selecting the jury and notify the parties at a pretrial conference or otherwise prior to trial. The following methods for selection are not exclusive.

(g)(1) Strike and replace method. The court shall summon the number of jurors that are to try the cause plus such an additional number as will allow for any alternates, for all peremptory challenges permitted, and for all challenges for cause that may be granted. At the direction of the judge, the clerk shall call jurors in random order. The judge may hear and determine challenges for cause during the course of questioning or at the end thereof. The judge may and, at the request of any party, shall hear and determine challenges for cause outside the hearing of the jurors. After each challenge for cause sustained, another juror shall be called to fill the vacancy, and any such new juror may be challenged for cause. When the challenges for cause are completed, the clerk shall provide a list of the jurors remaining, and each side, beginning with the plaintiff, shall indicate thereon its peremptory challenge to one juror at a time in regular turn until all peremptory challenges are exhausted or waived. The clerk shall then call the remaining jurors, or so many of them as shall be necessary to constitute the jury, including any alternate jurors, and the persons whose names are so called shall constitute the jury. If alternate jurors have been selected, the last jurors called shall be the alternates, unless otherwise ordered by the court prior to voir dire.

(g)(2) Struck method. The court shall summon the number of jurors that are to try the cause plus such an additional number as will allow for any alternates, for all peremptory challenges permitted and for all challenges for cause that may be granted. At the direction of the judge, the clerk shall call jurors in random order. The judge may hear and determine challenges for cause during the course of questioning or at the end thereof. If alternate jurors have been selected, the last jurors called shall be the alternates, unless otherwise ordered by the court prior to voir dire.

(g)(3) In courts using lists of prospective jurors generated in random order by computer, the clerk may call the jurors in that random order.

(h) Oath of jury. As soon as the jury is selected an oath must be administered to the jurors, in substance, that they and each of them will well and truly try the matter in issue between the parties, and render a true verdict according to the evidence and the instructions of the court.

(i) Proceedings when juror discharged. If, after impaneling the jury and before verdict, a juror becomes unable or disqualified to perform the duties of a juror and there is no alternate juror, the parties may agree to proceed with the other jurors, or to swear a new juror and commence the trial anew. If the parties do not so agree the court shall discharge the jury and the case shall be tried with a new jury.

(j) Questions by jurors. A judge may invite jurors to submit written questions to a witness as provided in this section.

Rule 59. New trial; altering or amending a judgment.

Effective: 5/1/2016

(a) Grounds. Except as limited by Rule 61, a new trial may be granted to any party on any issue for any of the following reasons:

(1) irregularity in the proceedings of the court, jury or opposing party, or any order of the court, or abuse of discretion by which a party was prevented from having a fair trial;

(2) misconduct of the jury, which may be proved by the affidavit or declaration of any juror;

(3) accident or surprise that ordinary prudence could not have guarded against;

(4) newly discovered material evidence that could not, with reasonable diligence, have been discovered and produced at the trial;

(5) excessive or inadequate damages that appear to have been given under the influence of passion or prejudice;

(6) insufficiency of the evidence to justify the verdict or other decision; or

(7) that the verdict or decision is contrary to law or based on an error in law.

(b) Time for motion. A motion for a new trial must be filed no later than 28 days after entry of the judgment. When the motion for a new trial is filed under paragraph (a)(1), (2), (3), or (4), it must be supported by affidavits or declarations. If a motion for a new trial is supported by affidavits or declarations, they must be served with the motion.

(c) Further action after non-jury trial. After a nonjury trial, the court may, on motion for a new trial, open the judgment if one has been entered, take additional testimony, amend findings of fact and conclusions of law or make new ones, and direct entry of a new judgment.

(d) New trial on initiative of court or for reasons not in the motion. No later than 28 days after entry of the judgment the court, on its own, may order a new trial for any

27 reason that would justify a new trial on motion of a party. After giving the parties 28 notice and an opportunity to be heard, the court may grant a timely motion for a new 29 trial for a reason not stated in the motion. The order granting a new trial must state the 30 reasons for the new trial.

31 (e) Motion to alter or amend a judgment. A motion to alter or amend the judgment
32 must be filed no later than 28 days after entry of the judgment.

Tab 12

1 Rule 6. Time.

2 Effective: 5/1/2021

3 (a) Computing time. The following rules apply in computing any time period specified
4 in these rules, any local rule or court order, or in any statute that does not specify a 5 method of computing time.

6 (1) When the period is stated in days or a longer unit of time:

7 (A) exclude the day of the event that triggers the period;

8 (B) count every day, including intermediate Saturdays, Sundays, and legal 9 holidays; and

10 (C) include the last day of the period, but if the last day is a Saturday, Sunday, or 11 legal holiday, the period continues to run until the end of the next day that is not 12 a Saturday, Sunday or legal holiday.

13 (2) When the period is stated in hours:

14 (A) begin counting immediately on the occurrence of the event that triggers the 15 period;

16 (B) count every hour, including hours during intermediate Saturdays, Sundays, 17 and legal holidays; and

18 (C) if the period would end on a Saturday, Sunday, or legal holiday, the period
19 continues to run until the same time on the next day that is not a Saturday, 20 Sunday, or legal holiday.

21 (3) Unless the court orders otherwise, if the clerk's office is inaccessible:

22 (A) on the last day for filing under Rule 6(a)(1), then the time for filing is 23 extended to the first accessible day that is not a Saturday, Sunday or legal 24 holiday; or

(B) during the last hour for filing under Rule 6(a)(2), then the time for filing is extended to the same time on the first accessible day that is not a Saturday, Sunday, or legal holiday.

(4) Unless a different time is set by a statute or court order, filing on the last day means:

(A) for electronic filing, before midnight; and

(B) for filing by other means, the filing must be made before the clerk's office is scheduled to close.

(5) The "next day" is determined by continuing to count forward when the period is measured after an event and backward when measured before an event.

(6) "Legal holiday" means the day for observing:

(A) New Year's Day;

(B) Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. Day;

(C) Washington and Lincoln Day;

(D) Memorial Day;

(E) Independence Day;

(F) Pioneer Day;

(G) Labor Day;

(H) Columbus Day;

(I) Veterans' Day;

(J) Thanksgiving Day;

(K) Christmas; and

(L) any day designated by the Governor or Legislature as a state holiday.

(b) Extending time.

(1) When an act may or must be done within a specified time, the court may, for good cause, extend the time:

(A) with or without motion or notice if the court acts, or if a request is made, before the original time or its extension expires; or

(B) on motion made after the time has expired if the party failed to act because of excusable neglect.

(2) A court must not extend the time to act under Rules 50\(b\) and \(d\), 52\(b\), 59\(b\), \(d\) and \(e\), and 60\(c\).

(c) Additional time after service by mail. When a party may or must act within a specified time after service and service is made exclusively by mail under Rule 5\(b\)\(3\)\(C\)\(i\), 7 days are added after the period would otherwise expire under paragraph (a).

(d) Response time for an unrepresented party. When a party is not represented by an attorney, does not have an electronic filing account, and may or must act within a specified time after the filing of a paper, the period of time within which the party may or must act is counted from the service date and not the filing date of the paper.

(e) Filing or service by inmate.

(1) For purposes of Rule 45(i) and this paragraph (e), an inmate is a person confined to an institution or committed to a place of legal confinement.

(2) Papers filed or served by an inmate are timely filed or served if they are deposited in the institution's internal mail system on or before the last day for filing or service. Timely filing or service may be shown by a contemporaneously filed notarized statement or written declaration setting forth the date of deposit and stating that first-class postage has been, or is being, prepaid, or that the inmate has complied with any applicable requirements for legal mail set by the institution. Response time will be calculated from the date the papers are received by the court,

75 or for papers served on parties that do not need to be filed with the court, the 76 postmark date the papers were deposited in U.S. mail.

77 (3) The provisions of paragraph (e)(2) do not apply to service of process, which is 78 governed by Rule 4.

79

Tab 13

1 Rule 60. Relief from judgment or order.

2 Effective: 5/1/2016

3 (a) Clerical mistakes. The court may correct a clerical mistake or a mistake arising from 4 oversight or omission whenever one is found in a judgment, order, or other part of the 5 record. The court may do so on motion or on its own, with or without notice. After a 6 notice of appeal has been filed and while the appeal is pending, the mistake may be 7 corrected only with leave of the appellate court.

8 (b) Mistakes; inadvertence; excusable neglect; newly discovered evidence; fraud,
9 etc. On motion and upon just terms, the court may relieve a party or its legal 10 representative from a judgment, order, or proceeding for the following reasons:

11 ~~(b)~~(1) mistake, inadvertence, surprise, or excusable neglect;

12 ~~(b)~~(2) newly discovered evidence which by due diligence could not have been 13 discovered in time to move for a new trial under Rule 59(b);

14 ~~(b)~~(3) fraud (whether previously called intrinsic or extrinsic), misrepresentation or 15 other misconduct of an opposing party;

16 ~~(b)~~(4) the judgment is void;

17 ~~(b)~~(5) the judgment has been satisfied, released, or discharged, or a prior judgment
18 upon which it is based has been reversed or vacated, or it is no longer equitable that 19 the judgment should have prospective application; or 20 ~~(b)~~(6) any other reason that justifies relief.

21 (c) Timing and effect of the motion. A motion under paragraph (b) must be filed 22 within a reasonable time and for reasons in paragraph (b)(1), (2), or (3), not more than 23 90 days after entry of the judgment or order or, if there is no judgment or order, from 24 the date of the proceeding. The motion does not affect the finality of a judgment or 25 suspend its operation.

(d) Other power to grant relief. This rule does not limit the power of a court to entertain an independent action to relieve a party from a judgment, order or proceeding or to set aside a judgment for fraud upon the court. The procedure for obtaining any relief from a judgment shall be by motion as prescribed in these rules or by an independent action.

Advisory Committee Notes

The 1998 amendment eliminates as grounds for a motion the following: "(4) when, for any cause, the summons in an action has not been personally served upon the defendant as required by Rule 4(e) and the defendant has failed to appear in said action." This basis for a motion is not found in the federal rule. The committee concluded the clause was ambiguous and possibly in conflict with rule permitting service by means other than personal service.

[Note adopted \[YEAR\]](#)

2016 amendments

The deadlines for a motion are as stated in this rule, but if a motion under paragraph (b) is filed within 28 days after the judgment, it will have the same effect on the time to appeal as a motion under Rule 50, 52, or 59. See the 2016 amendments to Rule of Appellate Procedure 4\(b\).

Spencer v. OPC
Opinion of the Court

JUSTICE PEARCE, opinion of the Court:

INTRODUCTION

¶1 The district court suspended Terry R. Spencer from the practice of law for six months and one day for violations of Utah Rules of Professional Conduct 1.5(a), 1.8(e), and 8.4(c). More than one year later, Spencer moved the district court to partially set aside its decision because, he alleged, counsel for the Office of Professional Conduct had committed fraud on the court when she knowingly made false statements, elicited false testimony from a witness, and failed to notify the district court of controlling case law contrary to her position. The district court denied Spencer’s motion as untimely, reasoning that Spencer had failed to adequately explain the year-long delay in bringing his motion.

¶2 Spencer claims the district court erred when it found that he had unduly delayed bringing his motion. But Spencer has failed to marshal the evidence that supported the district court’s decision, and he has also failed to directly challenge the district court’s reasoning. Spencer has thus failed to meet his burden of persuasion on appeal. We affirm.

BACKGROUND

¶3 The Office of Professional Conduct (OPC) filed a complaint against Spencer in district court, alleging twelve violations of the Utah Rules of Professional Conduct (Disciplinary Action).¹ After a three-day trial, the district court determined that Spencer had violated the Rules and entered its Ruling and Order Regarding Sanctions suspending Spencer from the practice of law for six months and one day (Ruling and Order).²

¶4 More than one year after the district court’s amended Ruling and Order, and more than eight months after Spencer had finished

¹ The OPC subsequently amended its complaint to include an additional violation based on Spencer’s conduct before the court of appeals. The OPC ultimately withdrew this allegation, and the district court did not consider it.

² The district court amended its Ruling and Order less than two months later in response to the OPC’s rule 59(e) motion to fix two “minor inaccuracies.” Those changes are not material to our decision.

Opinion of the Court

serving his suspension, Spencer moved to partially set aside the district court's amended Ruling and Order under Utah Rule of Civil Procedure 60(b)(6).³ In his motion, Spencer asserted that the attorney representing the OPC (OPC Counsel) had committed fraud on the court—and violated the Utah Rules of Professional Conduct—during the underlying Disciplinary Action in three ways.

¶5 Spencer first argued that OPC Counsel had knowingly made and offered false statements concerning Spencer's connection to a business named The Smart Way Financial, LLC (TSWF). During her examination of Spencer, OPC Counsel asked Spencer if he was an owner of TSWF. Spencer responded, "I don't know." OPC Counsel then stated that she had searched the online Utah Department of Commerce database and "found that [Spencer] w[as], in fact, . . . related to [TSWF]." Following her examination of Spencer, OPC Counsel examined attorney Bradley Carr, whose testimony also tied Spencer to TSWF. Spencer argued that OPC Counsel and Carr's statements were false—and that OPC Counsel knew it—because at the time of the Disciplinary Action, Department of Commerce records "clearly demonstrate[d] that [Spencer] had no interest in, and no relationship to, [TSWF]."

¶6 Spencer also argued that OPC Counsel "appear[ed] to have knowingly elicited false testimony" from Carr on another topic. Before the Disciplinary Action had been filed, Carr, on behalf of one of Spencer's former clients, had filed a lawsuit against Spencer that claimed, among other things, malpractice and fraud (Malpractice Action). In the Disciplinary Action, Carr testified that the fraud claim was based on the propriety of the attorney fees Spencer had charged his then-client. According to Spencer, Carr later contradicted this testimony in the Malpractice Action. And Spencer wanted the district court to determine which of Carr's statements were false so that "[i]f it [was] determined that [Carr] made false on-the-record statement[s] during his testimony in [the Disciplinary Action], then

³ Rule 60(b) sets forth specific reasons for which a court may, "[o]n motion and upon just terms, . . . relieve a party or its legal representative from a judgment, order, or proceeding." UTAH R. CIV. P. 60(b). Rule 60(b)(6) is the catch-all provision of rule 60; under it, a court may grant relief for "any other reason that justifies relief." Id. R. 60(b)(6).

Spencer v. OPC
Opinion of the Court

[OPC Counsel's elicitation of this testimony] may be considered a further 'fraud upon the court.'"

¶7 Finally, Spencer argued that OPC Counsel had failed to inform the district court of controlling case law contrary to her position—namely, State v. Gordon, 886 P.2d 112 (Utah Ct. App. 1994). In her closing arguments, OPC Counsel claimed that Spencer had violated a specific Rule of Professional Conduct when he failed to disclose “a very important fact” in a court proceeding. Spencer argued that he wasn’t required to make that disclosure under Gordon and that by failing to alert the court to that case, OPC Counsel had committed fraud on the court.

¶8 As to the timeliness of his motion, Spencer claimed that he had discovered the alleged fraud after the applicable time period set forth in rule 60. And he argued that a footnote in State v. Boyden, 2019 UT 11, 441 P.3d 737, authorizes a court to address fraud on the court under those circumstances.

¶9 The OPC opposed Spencer’s motion. The OPC largely argued that Spencer’s rule 60(b)(6) motion was meritless. The OPC also argued that Spencer’s motion was untimely. As the OPC saw it, Boyden was limited to its facts and did not exempt Spencer’s motion from the relevant time restriction.

¶10 The district court agreed that Spencer had taken too long to file his motion. The district court noted that rule 60(b)(6) motions must be brought “within a reasonable time.” UTAH R. CIV. P. 60(c). And Spencer’s rule 60(b)(6) motion, the district court concluded, was untimely for two reasons. As to the first, the district court stated that,

[Spencer] ha[d] not provided any credible explanation for his delay in bringing this motion, or any credible explanation for why he could not have learned of the bases for his motion before, during, or shortly after the [disciplinary] trial. Indeed, by asserting that [OPC Counsel] misrepresented the information that was available through the Utah Department of Commerce . . . , [Spencer] is implicitly admitting that he was able to determine whether [OPC Counsel]’s representations were correct [at the time the representations were made]. Further, [Spencer] fails to credibly explain why he was unable—before, during, or shortly after the . . . trial—to challenge the veracity of [Carr]’s testimony, or bring the controlling authority in question to the Court’s attention.

Opinion of the Court

As to the second reason, the district court found that “the interest in finality [in a ruling and order entered sixteen months prior]—combined with [Spencer]’s lack of diligence—weigh[ed] heavily against the timeliness of [Spencer]’s motion.”

STANDARD OF REVIEW

¶11 “[A] district court has broad discretion in ruling on a motion to set aside an order or judgment under rule 60(b), and [t]hus, we review a district court’s denial of a 60(b) motion under an abuse of discretion standard.” In re Estate of Willey, 2016 UT 53, ¶ 5, 391 P.3d 171 (alterations in original) (citation omitted) (internal quotation marks omitted).

ANALYSIS

I. SPENCER HAS FAILED TO MEET HIS BURDEN OF PERSUASION ON APPEAL

¶12 Spencer argues that the district court erred when it denied his rule 60(b)(6) motion as untimely. Spencer’s opening brief tracks, almost verbatim, his original rule 60(b)(6) motion. Specifically, Spencer’s brief argues that OPC Counsel committed fraud on the court—and violated the Utah Rules of Professional Conduct—when she (1) knowingly made false statements concerning Spencer’s connection to TSWF, (2) knowingly elicited false testimony from Carr concerning Spencer’s connection to TSWF and the nature of the fraud allegation in the Malpractice Action, and (3) failed to disclose controlling case law contrary to her position at closing arguments. Spencer’s brief diverges from his rule 60(b)(6) motion, though not substantively, when it “invites” us, under separate heading, “to utilize [State v. Boyden, 2019 UT 11, 441 P.3d 737] to set forth guidelines for cases involving fraud upon the court . . . discovered after the . . . [time periods] provided in Rule 60(b).”

¶13 The OPC argues, among other things, that Spencer has failed to meet his burden of persuasion on appeal because he has failed to marshal the evidence that supported the district court’s conclusion. The OPC also claims that Spencer’s brief merely “recite[s] the same arguments in his appeal that he made in [his rule 60(b)(6) motion]” and “offers nothing by the way of analysis or evidence to show how the [district] court abused its discretion in denying his [m]otion.” We agree with the OPC.

¶14 Rule 24 of the Utah Rules of Appellate Procedure “prescribe[s] standards for the form, organization, and content of a brief on appeal.” State v. Nielsen, 2014 UT 10, ¶ 33, 326 P.3d 645. As to content, rule 24 requires an appellant's brief to "explain, with reasoned analysis supported by citations to legal authority and the record, why [it] should prevail on appeal." UTAH R. APP. P. 24(a)(8). An appellant "will almost certainly fail to carry its burden of persuasion on appeal if it fails to marshal and respond to evidence or authority that could sustain the decision under review." In re Discipline of LaJeunesse, 2018 UT 6, ¶ 28, 416 P.3d 1122 (citation omitted) (internal quotation marks omitted).

Spencer v. OPC

¶15 We addressed the marshaling requirement in LaJeunesse. There, the OPC appealed the district court's decision to dismiss its complaint against attorney Richard LaJeunesse. Id. ¶¶ 21–22. Although we ultimately affirmed the district court on the merits, id. ¶ 48, we recognized that we could have affirmed solely on the OPC's "fail[ure] to carry its burden as the appellant," id. ¶ 26. We concluded that the OPC had failed to marshal the evidence because its brief had "fail[ed] to append or recite the findings and conclusions entered by the district court," id. ¶ 29, and "ignore[d] crucial elements" of the district court's ruling and analysis, id. ¶¶ 30–31. And we said that when "the appellant fails to acknowledge the lower court's decision—or to identify specific grounds for challenging it—we may affirm without reaching the merits of the question presented." Id. ¶ 32.

¶16 Spencer's statement of the factual and procedural background of the case, like the OPC's in LaJeunesse, "makes only the barest mention of the district court's [decision]." Id. ¶ 29. Spencer devotes just a single sentence to the two-page order he now appeals. And that sentence merely informs us that the district court denied his rule 60(b)(6) motion. He simply makes no attempt to address the facts that the district court relied on to conclude that his motion was untimely.

¶17 The argument section of Spencer's brief fares no better. The great bulk of Spencer's argument is dedicated to rehashing the merits of his rule 60(b)(6) motion. Only three sentences are given to the district court's actual decision:

[T]he Trial Court improperly concluded that [Spencer]'s Rule 60(b)(6) Motion was untimely, as it was not until . . . Carr made statements . . . in the [Malpractice Action] . . . that [Spencer] learned that the testimony provided by [Carr] in the underlying [Disciplinary Action] was false and/or misleading. It was the realization that [Carr] provided false and/or misleading testimony in the underlying [Disciplinary Action] that caused [Spencer] to review the documents—available from the Utah Department of Commerce—in the context of [Carr]’s testimony. From these documents, [Spencer] came to understand that [OPC Counsel] had made false statements in the [Disciplinary Action].

¶18 These three sentences ignore “crucial elements of [the district court]’s ruling.” See LaJeunesse, 2018 UT 6, ¶ 30. Specifically, Spencer’s brief does not address the district court’s observation that “by asserting that [OPC Counsel] misrepresented the information that was available through the Utah Department of Commerce in [the Disciplinary Action], [Spencer] is implicitly admitting that he was able to determine whether [OPC Counsel]’s representations were correct [at the time they were made].”⁴ Nor does it address the district court’s assertion that Spencer has “fail[ed] to credibly explain why he was unable—before, during, or shortly after the [Disciplinary Action]—to challenge the veracity of [Carr]’s testimony,” particularly when Spencer had access to the complaint Carr filed in the Malpractice Action at the time Carr testified in the Disciplinary Action, or why he was unable to “bring the controlling authority in question to the [district court]’s attention.” Spencer cannot meet his burden of demonstrating that the district court erred without addressing these crucial aspects of the district court’s ruling.

¶19 Instead of addressing the district court’s analysis, Spencer argues that his motion is timely under the logic of a footnote in State v. Boyden, 2019 UT 11, ¶ 37 n.8. As Spencer sees it, Boyden grants a party leave to file a rule 60(b)(6) motion alleging fraud on the court outside of the time constraints rule 60 establishes. In other words, Spencer reads Boyden to provide a way around the time restrictions applicable to a rule 60(b)(6) motion when that motion alleges fraud on the court. But the footnote on which Spencer hangs his hat

⁴ Spencer made this admission explicit at oral argument. There he admitted that “[he] knew [OPC Counsel’s statements] were false at the time [of the Disciplinary Action],” and that his decision to file a rule 60(b)(6) motion over a year after those statements were uttered was simply “a judgment call” on his part. Oral Argument at 18:33, 19:09, Spencer v. OPC, 2022 UT 29 (No. 20210458), <https://www.utcourts.gov/opinions/streams/index.php?court=sup>.

Spencer v. OPC

addressed a very specific factual scenario and was not intended to be a de facto rewrite of Utah Rule of Civil Procedure 60.

¶20 In Boyden, the State filed a rule 60(b)(3) motion to vacate the conviction of a defendant because the defendant had misrepresented his identity. Id. ¶ 8. The district court denied the State’s motion, concluding that it lacked jurisdiction, and even if it had it, the Post-Conviction Remedies Act (PCRA) was the State’s “sole remedy.” Id. ¶ 10. In reversing the district court, we concluded that “[t]he State could seek relief under rule 60(b) because neither the PCRA nor any other statute or rule govern[ed].” Id. ¶ 24. And the Utah Rules of Civil Procedure—specifically, rule 60(b)—“fill[ed] the gaps.” Id. ¶ 25.

¶21 We also dropped a footnote where we noted that the State’s rule 60(b)(3) motion was timely, and we made clear that we did not reach the question of whether the State could utilize rule 60(b)(3) had it discovered the alleged fraud more than three months after the entry of judgment. Id. ¶ 37 n.8. While we left that question unanswered, we made two additional observations. First, we explained that “rule 60 ‘does not limit the power of a court to entertain an independent action to relieve a party from a judgment, order or proceeding or to set aside a judgment for fraud upon the court.’” Id. (quoting UTAH R. CIV. P. 60(d)). We also stated that “courts have inherent authority to set aside judgments obtained through fraud on the court.” Id.

¶22 Spencer contends this footnote opened the door for a party to raise fraud on the court claims at any time. This was not Boyden’s intent. Boyden arose in a specific—and unique—context. The State was attempting to correct a serious error in a criminal conviction over the defendant’s objection. Yet neither the Rules of Criminal Procedure nor the PCRA gave the State an avenue for relief. Using the Rules of Civil Procedure as a gap-filler, we concluded that the State could use Rule of Civil Procedure 60(b) to correct the error. The State, moreover, had brought its rule 60(b)(3) motion within the applicable ninety-day time limit imposed by rule 60(c). See UTAH R. CIV. P. 60(c). But, recognizing that we were using a civil rule to gap-fill the criminal rules, and further recognizing that filing an independent action in a criminal context might raise double jeopardy concerns,⁵ we noted that the State would not have been without a remedy had it discovered the fraud on the court after the ninety days had expired. We did not mean to suggest, however, that rule 60(d) could be routinely used to circumvent rule 60(c)'s other timelines. Nor did we intend to suggest that a party for whom an independent action might be a viable path to raise its claims could take advantage of the observation that the State would not be without a remedy when double jeopardy concerns prevent it from filing an independent action. To the extent that others read the footnote the way Spencer does here, we disavow that interpretation and stress that the footnote must be read in the context in which it arose.

⁵ The Boyden footnote concluded with a string of citations to various cases in other jurisdictions. Most of these cases deal with the

¶23 In any event, even if Boyden applied here, Spencer would still need to address and attack the district court's conclusion that his motion was not brought within a reasonable time. See UTAH R. CIV. P. 60(c) (requiring all rule 60(b) motions "be filed within a reasonable time"). And as we explained above, Spencer has failed to do just that. We affirm.

II. OPC COUNSEL'S ALLEGED VIOLATIONS OF THE UTAH RULES OF PROFESSIONAL CONDUCT ARE NOT PROPERLY BEFORE US

¶24 Spencer also argues that OPC Counsel's conduct in the underlying Disciplinary Action violated a number of the Utah Rules of Professional Conduct. Specifically, Spencer contends that OPC Counsel violated (1) rule 3.3(a)(1) when she knowingly made false statements concerning his connection to TSWF, (2) rule 3.3(b) when she knowingly elicited false testimony concerning his connection to TSWF and the nature of the fraud allegation in the Malpractice Action, and (3) rule 3.3(a)(2) when she failed to disclose controlling case law contrary to her position at closing arguments.

¶25 The OPC argues that Spencer's allegations against OPC Counsel are inappropriately raised before this court. The OPC claims "[t]here is a procedure in place when there are allegations of misconduct against an attorney," and that Spencer stepped outside ability of a court to modify or vacate a sentence impacted by a defendant's fraud without courting double jeopardy. See United States v. Bishop, 774 F.2d 771, 774–76 (7th Cir. 1985); Goene v. State, 577 So.2d 1306, 1309 (Fla. 1991); People v. Ryan, 640 N.Y.S.2d 978, 983 (Sup. Ct. 1996); State v. Foster, 484 N.W.2d 113, 116–17 (N.D. 1992).

of that procedure when he appended his allegations against OPC Counsel to his appeal. The OPC is right.

¶26 “In attorney discipline cases, the power to sanction attorneys is vested in this court by the Utah Constitution.” Long v. Ethics & Discipline Comm. of the Utah Sup. Ct., 2011 UT 32, ¶ 41, 256 P.3d 206; see also UTAH CONST. art. VIII, § 4 (“The Supreme Court by rule shall govern the practice of law, including . . . the conduct and discipline of persons admitted to practice law.”). In line with this power, we have created a set of rules governing the process by which “any person may initiate a disciplinary proceeding against any [l]awyer.” SUP. CT. R. PRO. PRAC. 11-530(a); see id. R. 11-501 to -591.

¶27 These rules allow a person to initiate a disciplinary proceeding against an attorney for the OPC by filing a complaint with the OPC. See id. R. 11-530(a)(1). Our Ethics and Discipline Committee will then assign a screening panel to review the complaint.⁶ Id. R. 11-542(f). After reviewing the complaint, the screening panel chair will decide if the complaint merits dismissal. Id. R. 11-542(f)(1). If the complaint is dismissed, “[t]he Complainant may appeal the screening panel chair’s dismissal to the [chair of the Ethics and Discipline Committee],” who will then “conduct a de novo review of the file, and either affirm or reverse the dismissal.” Id. R. 11-542(f)(3), (4). “If the screening panel chair determines not to dismiss the Complaint, or the Committee chair reverses the dismissal on appeal, the Committee chair must request that the Supreme Court appoint a special counsel to . . . act as counsel for investigation . . . of the Complaint.” Id. R. 11-542(5). After the investigation is complete, the special counsel will “notify the OPC of the results.” Id.

¶28 Spencer, it seems, has followed that process to its finish. Indeed, the OPC claims—and Spencer does not dispute—that “Spencer . . . already submit[ted] a complaint relating to [OPC

Counsel]’s conduct to the OPC and through a special prosecutor, those allegations were dismissed.”

¶29 Our Rules do not permit Spencer to use the appeal of his rule 60(b) motion as a vehicle to re-litigate his allegations against OPC Counsel. Our Rules specify the process a complainant must follow to lodge a complaint and to contest that complaint’s dismissal. See id. R. 11-501 to -591. And while we do not foreclose the ability of a complainant to argue that she should be able to use the Utah Rules of Civil Procedure to augment that process in an appropriate case, see UTAH R. CIV. P. 65B, we prohibit a complainant from relying on an appeal of a related motion to subvert it.

III. FRAUD ON THE COURT CLAIMS

¶30 Spencer has not met his burden of persuasion on appeal, and we affirm on that basis. But we believe it prudent to note a misunderstanding underlying the district court’s ruling that went unaddressed by the parties. We accordingly raise this issue sua sponte to prevent the inadvertent creation of conflict in our rule 60 case law.

¶31 Spencer filed a motion for relief under paragraph (b)(6), a catchall provision offering relief “for . . . any other reason that justifies relief.” UTAH R. CIV. P. 60(b)(6). But Spencer’s motion was wholly based on his allegation that OPC Counsel had committed fraud on the court. In In re Estate of Willey, we held that a party “cannot seek relief under rule 60(b)(6) based on an allegation of fraud on the court.”⁷ 2016 UT 53, ¶ 8, 391 P.3d 171.

¶32 In Willey, a stockholder filed a rule 60(b) motion to set aside two district court orders relating to the stockholder’s interests in a business. Id. ¶ 1. The stockholder claimed relief under paragraphs (b)(4) and (6) of rule 60. Id. ¶ 7. While the stockholder made several arguments that rightly invoked paragraph (b)(4), “[t]he only other basis upon which [he] sought relief was fraud on the court.” Id. ¶ 8. The Willey court concluded that the stockholder was unable to seek relief from fraud on the court under paragraph (b)(6). Id. We explained that,

⁷ Rule 60(b) of the Utah Rules of Civil Procedure allows a court, “[o]n motion and upon just terms,” to “relieve a party or its legal representative from a judgment, order, or proceeding” for the reasons enumerated in paragraphs (b)(1) through (6). Rule 60(b) motions “must be filed within a reasonable time,” and, if based on paragraphs (b)(1) through (3), “not more than 90 days after entry of the judgment or order or, if there is no judgment or order, from the date of the proceeding.” UTAH R. CIV. P. 60(c). Due to “these differing times,” it is important that “we . . . determine under what paragraphs [a party]’s reasons for relief fall.” In re Estate of Willey, 2016 UT 53, ¶ 7, 391 P.3d 171.

[A] motion seeking relief from a judgment based upon an allegation of fraud on the court necessarily falls under paragraph (b)(3), not paragraph (b)(6).

Under the plain language of rule 60, a party seeking to be relieved from a judgment or order based upon an allegation of fraud on the court must do so under paragraph (b)(3). Motions under paragraph (b)(6), on the other hand, must be based on a reason other than those listed in paragraphs (b)(1) through (5).

Id. ¶ 8–9 (citing UTAH R. CIV. P. 60(b)). In other words, Willey instructed courts to classify a rule 60(b) motion—and assess its timeliness—by its content, not its caption. See id. ¶ 10 (classifying the stockholder’s rule 60(b) motion into the proper subsections, (b)(3) and (4), and “proceed[ing] to determine if [he] timely filed his motion” under those subsections).

¶33 Under Willey, therefore, the district court should have classified Spencer’s rule 60(b)(6) motion as a rule 60(b)(3) motion and assessed its timeliness accordingly. But this does not change the outcome of the case because even if the district court had properly classified Spencer’s rule 60(b) motion, it would have reached the same conclusion—Spencer’s motion was untimely.

¶34 All rule 60(b) motions “must be filed within a reasonable time.” UTAH R. CIV. P. 60(c). Rule 60(b)(3) motions, moreover, “must be filed . . . not more than 90 days after entry of the judgment or order.” Id. “The language of the rule is clear; a party must file a rule 60(b) motion within a reasonable time, which is within ninety days after a judgment or order is entered, if the motion is filed under paragraph[] . . . (3).” Willey, 2016 UT 53, ¶ 12 (footnote omitted).

¶35 Spencer filed his rule 60(b) motion more than one year after the district court entered its final Ruling and Order. This is well past the ninety-day limit rule 60(b) imposes. The district court thus correctly denied Spencer’s motion as untimely.⁸

⁸ The parties have not questioned Willey, and it remains good law. But as we reread Willey, we note that we seem to have interpreted our rule 60 without acknowledging the line other courts have drawn between “fraud of an adverse party” and “fraud on the court” when interpreting similarly-worded rules. See, e.g., United States v. Sierra Pac. Indus., Inc., 862 F.3d 1157, 1167–68 (9th Cir. 2017) (emphasizing that “not all fraud is fraud on the court” (citation omitted)); Torres v. Bella Vista Hosp., Inc., 914 F.3d 15, 19 (1st Cir. 2019) (defining fraud on the court as “fraud that seriously affects the integrity of the normal process of adjudication, defile[s] the court itself, and prevents the judicial machinery from performing its usual function” (alteration in original) (citation omitted) (internal quotation marks omitted)); Fernandez v. Fernandez, 358 P.3d 562, 566–68 (Alaska 2015) (limiting fraud on the court to fraud that “involve[s] far more than an injury to a single litigant” and “defiles the court itself” (citations omitted)); see also 12 JAMES WM MOORE, MOORE’S FEDERAL PRACTICE §§ 60.21[4], 60.43[1] (Matthew Bender 3d ed. 2021) (addressing the difference between fraud by an opposing party and fraud on the court). As a result, our rule may be out of step with how those jurisdictions offer relief from a judgment procured by fraud on the court. See, e.g., McGee v. Gonyo, 140 A.3d 162, 165 (Vt. 2016) (“[A] claim of fraud ‘upon the court’ is ‘governed by the catch-all provision of Rule 60(b)(6).’” (citation omitted)); accord Carter v. Anderson, 585 F.3d 1007, 1011 (6th Cir. 2009); Sierra Pac. Indus., Inc., 862 F.3d at 1167 (acknowledging a party’s ability to seek relief from the rendering court for fraud on the court under federal rule 60(d)(3)). We recognize that our deviation from those decisions may reflect different policy concerns. Or it may merely be an unintended consequence caused by the wording of our rule compared to that of the federal rule. Compare UTAH R. CIV. P. 60(d), with FED. R. CIV. P. 60(d); see also United States v. Buck, 281 F.3d 1336, 1341–42 (10th Cir. 2002) (explaining that there are two “avenues for relief from fraud upon the court” under federal rule 60(d): “[t]he first . . . is an independent action,” and “[t]he second . . . is to invoke the inherent power of a court to set aside its judgment if procured by fraud upon the court”). In any event, the parties have not raised these issues, so without proper briefing, we are not in a position to address them. Rather than wait for another case to examine whether our rule 60

CONCLUSION

¶36 Spencer claims the district court erred when it denied his rule 60(b) motion as untimely. But Spencer does not adequately address the district court's decision in his brief and thus fails to meet his burden of persuasion on appeal. We affirm the district court.

properly balances finality against the need to ensure that fraud on the court can be effectively addressed, we refer the question to our Advisory Committee on the Rules of Civil Procedure.
