(1) INTRODUCTIONS

The meeting started at 4:02 p.m. after forming a quorum. Ms. Lauren DiFrancesco welcomed the Committee and guests.

(2) APPROVAL OF MINUTES

Ms. DiFrancesco asked for approval of the October and November Minutes subject to amendments noted by the Minutes subcommittee. Judge Clay Stucki moved to adopt the Minutes as amended. Mr. Jim Hunnicutt seconded. The Minutes were unanimously approved.

(3) RULE 41. PUBLIC COMMENTS (DISMISSAL OF ACTIONS; VOLUNTARY DISMISSAL)

This rule would be amended to allow a plaintiff to dismiss a part of claim. Ms. DiFrancesco reported to the committee on the public comments and opened to discussion to the Committee. One issue raised was whether an amendment according to the public comment would allow a situation where one defendant has answered in a multi-defendant claim, the plaintiff may then voluntarily dismiss the other defendants which may affect the answering party's rights such as in cross claims and joinders. The Committee discussed how other motions could fix those issues.

Ms. Vogel also offered that the rule should make it easy for parties to dismiss parties that should not be sued. For example, where a self-represented party may dismiss a child inadvertently listed as a defendant on an eviction case.

The Committee discussed edits to 41(a)(1)(A)(ii) to ensure the language does not raise confusion or ambiguity on who a party to a case is. Ms. DiFrancesco referred to other state and federal rules for guidance on the language as well as how the term party is used at various stages of litigation. Ultimately, the Committee questioned whether the rule should be halted. Ms. DiFrancesco explained that the Committee must act based on the stage of the rule-making procedures and gave a summary of the history of the amendments on the rule and the rationale. After greater analysis the Committee decided to remove the further suggested amendments and refer the initial proposed rule amendments unchanged to the Supreme Court for final approval. The motion was made by Mr. Jim Hunnicutt, seconded by Judge Rita Cornish, and passed unanimously.

(4) RULE 59. PUBLIC COMMENTS (ALTERING OR AMENDING A JUDGMENT)

There were no public comments. Due to inadvertence, no vote was taken on referral of the Rule to the Supreme Court for final approval. This item will be on the February agenda.

(5) RULE 10(d). SIZE OF TOP MARGINS

This proposed Rule would change the top margin for filed papers to 1-inch from 1 ½ -inches under Rule 10(d). Ms. Keri Sargent explained that the forms will still be accessible and readable with the margin change even though it will decrease the space available for the judge’s signature. She also noted that in situations where the judge and commissioner must sign, the signatures will be narrower, but the system will not reject the form and the form will still be legible. The Committee discussed how the signatures appear on various orders. The Committee also noted that the Utah Appellate rules require a 1-inch margin all around however the appellate courts rarely issue orders. The Committee discussed whether current forms would need to be reformatted but decided they did not need to be based on the language of the rule. Judge Stucki moved to adopt the amendment. Mr. Trevor Lee seconded the motion. The motion passed by majority with seven in favor, three opposed, and one abstained.

(6) RULE 45. SUBPOENA.

Ms. DiFrancesco relayed the comments of the Supreme Court to the Committee whether a committee note was necessary to clarify whether Licensed Paralegal Practitioner (LPPs) may sign subpoenas under Rule 45(e)(4)(A). The Supreme Court advised that the Committee Note was not necessary and may create the suggestion that other actions allowable by LLPs are not allowed because they are not accompanied by a Committee Note.

Ms. DiFrancesco tabled discussion on Rule 45(e)(3) until she receives further clarification from Justice Pohlman.¹ Ms. Vogel suggested a language change to “say that an objection may be made” rather than a “motion to quash” where many regular people do not know the legal terminology “motion to quash.” DiFrancesco suggested the issue be tabled until next month to discuss further.

(7) RULE 100A. CASE MANAGEMENT OF DOMESTIC RELATIONS ACTIONS.

Mr. Hunnicutt presented on the proposed amendment. The Office of Recovery Services (ORS) asked to be exempted from the requirements of the Rule because of the burden the rule imposes; however, the Committee questioned whether the proposed change would add a new burden on the clerk of court where they may need IT assistance in case management conferences. The Committee amended subsection (a) of the Rule to exempt the ORS. Mr. Hunnicutt motioned to adopt the changes. The motion was seconded by Judge Stone. The motion was unanimously passed.

(8) RULE 26. GENERAL PROVISIONS GOVERNING DISCLOSURE AND DISCOVERY (COMMITTEE NOTE)

¹ Following the meeting, Ms. DiFrancesco reviewed her notes again and refreshed her recollection. She determined that it will not be necessary to consult further with Justice Pohlman at this time.

Ms. DiFrancesco noted that the response from the legislative counsel is that the legislative note may be removed. The Committee discussed whether to remove it in its entirety or to remove it with a note that it has been removed. Judge Stucki moved to remove the legislative note in its entirety. Judge Cornish seconded. The motion unanimously passed.

(9) Rule 26. Standard Protective Order in Civil Discovery.

Mr. Ash McMurray presented on the plain language subcommittee review of the standard protective order form. Ms. DiFrancesco noted that the idea behind the plain language subcommittee looking at the form was to allow the Supreme Court to know what is being approved when Rule 26 goes into effect. The Forms Committee wanted to have the plain language subcommittee review the form before they approved the form. Mr. McMurray summarized the work that the subcommittee undertook. Given the time constraint in the meeting and to respond to the Forms Committee, the subcommittee was instructed to send out the final suggestions to the Committee for approval via email.²

Ms. Vogel raised again whether the Standard Protective Order should be called a protective order where the naming may take away from the efficacy of other abuse protective orders. The Committee voted on the various suggestions for renaming the order between Standard Protective Order for Civil Discovery or Standard Civil Discovery Protective Order. The Committee decided on Standard Civil Discovery Protective Order.

(10) ADJOURNMENT.

The meeting adjourned at 6:00 p.m.

² Following the meeting, the Committee voted by email. Judge Stucki moved to approve the Form. Ms. Tonya Wright seconded. The Committee approved for the form to be submitted to the Forms Committee for further review and action.

Rules Returning from Public Comment:

Rule 59

No public comments.

Rule 59. New trial; altering or amending a judgment.

Effective: 5/1/2016

(a) Grounds. Except as limited by Rule 61, a new trial may be granted to any party on any issue for any of the following reasons:

(1) irregularity in the proceedings of the court, jury or opposing party, or any order of the court, or abuse of discretion by which a party was prevented from having a fair trial;

(2) misconduct of the jury, which may be proved by the affidavit or declaration of any juror;

(3) accident or surprise that ordinary prudence could not have guarded against;

(4) newly discovered material evidence that could not, with reasonable diligence, have been discovered and produced at the trial;

(5) excessive or inadequate damages that appear to have been given under the influence of passion or prejudice;

(6) insufficiency of the evidence to justify the verdict or other decision; or

(7) that the verdict or decision is contrary to law or based on an error in law.

(b) Time for motion. A motion for a new trial must be filed no later than 28 days after entry of the judgment. When the motion for a new trial is filed under paragraph (a)(1), (2), (3), or (4), it must be supported by affidavits or declarations. If a motion for a new trial is supported by affidavits or declarations, they must be served with the motion.

(c) Further action after non-jury trial. After a nonjury trial, the court may, on motion for a new trial, open the judgment if one has been entered, take additional testimony, amend findings of fact and conclusions of law or make new ones, and direct entry of a new judgment.

(d) New trial on initiative of court or for reasons not in the motion. No later than 28 days after entry of the judgment the court, on its own, may order a new trial for any

27 reason that would justify a new trial on motion of a party. After giving the parties
28 notice and an opportunity to be heard, the court may grant a timely motion for a new 29 trial for a reason not stated in the motion. The order granting a new trial must state the 30 reasons for the new trial.

31 (e) Motion to alter or amend a judgment. Unless otherwise provided for by statute or 32 rule, a~~A~~ motion to alter or amend the judgment must be filed no later than 28 days after 33 entry of the judgment.

TAB 3

Rule 45. Subpoena.

(a) Form; issuance.

(1) Every subpoena shall:

(A) issue from the court in which the action is pending;

(B) state the title and case number of the action, the name of the court from which it is issued, and the name and address of the party or attorney responsible for issuing the subpoena;

(C) command each person to whom it is directed

(i) to appear and give testimony at a trial, hearing or deposition, or

(ii) to appear and produce for inspection, copying, testing or sampling documents, electronically stored information or tangible things in the possession, custody or control of that person, or

(iii) to copy documents or electronically stored information in the possession, custody or control of that person and mail or deliver the copies to the party or attorney responsible for issuing the subpoena before a date certain, or

(iv) to appear and to permit inspection of premises;

(D) if an appearance is required, give notice of the date, time, and place for the appearance and, if remote transmission is requested, instructions for participation and whom to contact if there are technical difficulties; and

(E) include a notice to persons served with a subpoena in a form substantially similar to the approved subpoena form. A subpoena may specify the form or forms in which electronically stored information is to be produced.

(2) The clerk shall issue a subpoena, signed but otherwise in blank, to a party requesting it, who shall complete it before service. An attorney admitted to practice in Utah may issue and sign a subpoena as an officer of the court.

(b) Service; fees; prior notice.

(1) A subpoena may be served by any person who is at least 18 years of age and not a party to the case. Service of a subpoena upon the person to whom it is directed shall be made as provided in Rule 4(d).

(2) If the subpoena commands a person's appearance, the party or attorney responsible for issuing the subpoena shall tender with the subpoena the fees for one day's attendance and the mileage allowed by law. When the subpoena is issued on behalf of the United States, or this state, or any officer or agency of either, fees and mileage need not be tendered.

(3) If the subpoena commands a person to copy and mail or deliver documents or electronically stored information, to produce documents, electronically stored information or tangible things for inspection, copying, testing or sampling or to permit inspection of premises, the party or attorney responsible for issuing the subpoena shall serve each party with the subpoena by delivery or other method of actual notice before serving the subpoena.

(c) Appearance; resident; non-resident.

(1) A person who resides in this state may be required to appear:

(A) at a trial or hearing in the county in which the case is pending; and

(B) at a deposition, or to produce documents, electronically stored information or tangible things, or to permit inspection of premises only in the county in which the person resides, is employed, or transacts business in person, or at such other place as the court may order.

(2) A person who does not reside in this state but who is served within this state may be required to appear:

(A) at a trial or hearing in the county in which the case is pending; and

(B) at a deposition, or to produce documents, electronically stored information or tangible things, or to permit inspection of premises only in the county in which the person is served or at such other place as the court may order.

(d) Payment of production or copying costs. The party or attorney responsible for issuing the subpoena shall pay the reasonable cost of producing or copying documents, electronically stored information, or tangible things. Upon the request of any other party and the payment of reasonable costs, the party or attorney responsible for issuing the subpoena shall provide to the requesting party copies of all documents, electronically stored information or tangible things obtained in response to the subpoena or shall make the tangible things available for inspection.

(e) Protection of persons subject to subpoenas; objection.

(1) The party or attorney responsible for issuing a subpoena shall take reasonable steps to avoid imposing an undue burden or expense on the person subject to the subpoena. The court shall enforce this duty and impose upon the party or attorney in breach of this duty an appropriate sanction, which may include, but is not limited to, lost earnings and a reasonable attorney fee.

(2) A subpoena to copy and mail or deliver documents or electronically stored information, to produce documents, electronically stored information or tangible things, or to permit inspection of premises shall comply with Rule 34(a) and (b)(1), except that the person subject to the subpoena must be allowed at least 14 days after service to comply.

(3) Although not required, The the person subject to the subpoena or a non-party affected by the subpoena may serve an objection or file a motion to quash under Rule 37 ~~object under Rule 37~~ if the subpoena:

(A) fails to allow reasonable time for compliance;

(B) requires a resident of this state to appear at other than a trial or hearing in a county in which the person does not reside, is not employed, or does not transact business in person;

(C) requires a non-resident of this state to appear at other than a trial or hearing in a county other than the county in which the person was served;

(D) requires the person to disclose privileged or other protected matter and no exception or waiver applies;

(E) requires the person to disclose a trade secret or other confidential research, development, or commercial information;

(F) subjects the person to an undue burden or cost;

(G) requires the person to produce electronically stored information in a form or forms to which the person objects;

Commented [JW1]: Should this be "file a motion to quash under Rule 37 or otherwise object if the subpoena"? Lauren to seek clarification from Justice Pohlman here. At 12/7 SC conf, Justice Pohlman agreed that only an objection should be required, and all sub (3) paras apply to objections and to motions to quash.

(H) requires the person to provide electronically stored information from sources that the person identifies as not reasonably accessible because of undue burden or cost; or

(I) requires the person to disclose an unretained expert's opinion or information not describing specific events or occurrences in dispute and resulting from the expert's study that was not made at the request of a party.

(4) Timing and form of objections.

(A) If the person subject to the subpoena or a non-party affected by the subpoena objects, the objection must be ~~made~~ in writing and made before the date for compliance.

(B) The objection shall be stated in a concise, non-conclusory manner.

(C) If the objection is that the information commanded by the subpoena is privileged or protected and no exception or waiver applies, or requires the person to disclose a trade secret or other confidential research, development, or commercial information, the objection shall sufficiently describe the nature of the documents, communications, or things not produced to enable the party or attorney responsible for issuing the subpoena to contest the objection.

(D) If the objection is that the electronically stored information is from sources that are not reasonably accessible because of undue burden or cost, the person from whom discovery is sought must show that the information sought is not reasonably accessible because of undue burden or cost.

(E) The objection shall be served on the party or attorney responsible for issuing the subpoena. The party or attorney responsible for issuing the subpoena shall serve a copy of the objection on the other parties.

(5) If objection is made, or if a party requests a protective order, the party or attorney responsible for issuing the subpoena is not entitled to compliance but may request an order to compel compliance under Rule 37(a). The objection or request shall be served on the other parties and on the person subject to the subpoena. An order compelling compliance shall protect the person subject to or affected by the subpoena from significant expense or harm. The court may quash or modify the subpoena. If the party or attorney responsible for issuing the subpoena shows a substantial need for the information that cannot be met without undue hardship, the court may order compliance upon specified conditions.

(f) Duties in responding to subpoena.

(1) A person commanded to copy and mail or deliver documents or electronically stored information or to produce documents, electronically stored information or tangible things shall serve on the party or attorney responsible for issuing the subpoena a declaration under penalty of law stating in substance:

(A) that the declarant has knowledge of the facts contained in the declaration;

(B) that the documents, electronically stored information or tangible things copied or produced are a full and complete response to the subpoena;

(C) that the documents, electronically stored information or tangible things are the originals or that a copy is a true copy of the original; and

(D) the reasonable cost of copying or producing the documents, electronically stored information or tangible things.

(2) A person commanded to copy and mail or deliver documents or electronically stored information or to produce documents, electronically stored information or tangible things shall copy or produce them as they are kept in the usual course of business or shall organize and label them to correspond with the categories in the subpoena.

(3) If a subpoena does not specify the form or forms for producing electronically stored information, a person responding to a subpoena must produce the information in the form or forms in which the person ordinarily maintains it or in a form or forms that are reasonably usable.

(4) If the information produced in response to a subpoena is subject to a claim of privilege or of protection as trial-preparation material, the person making the claim may notify any party who received the information of the claim and the basis for it. After being notified, the party must promptly return, sequester, or destroy the specified information and any copies of it and may not use or disclose the information until the claim is resolved. A receiving party may promptly present the information to the court under seal for a determination of the claim. If the receiving party disclosed the information before being notified, it must take reasonable steps to retrieve the information. The person who produced the information must preserve the information until the claim is resolved.

(g) Contempt. Failure by any person without adequate excuse to obey a subpoena served upon that person is punishable as contempt of court.

(h) Procedure when witness evades service or fails to attend. If a witness evades service of a subpoena or fails to attend after service of a subpoena, the court may issue a warrant to the sheriff of the county to arrest the witness and bring the witness before the court.

(i) Procedure when witness is an inmate. If the witness is an inmate as defined in Rule 6(e)(1), a party may move for an order to examine the witness in the institution or to produce the witness before the court or officer for the purpose of being orally examined.

(j) Subpoena unnecessary. A person present in court or before a judicial officer may be required to testify in the same manner as if the person were in attendance upon a subpoena.

~~Advisory Committee Note:~~

~~With regard to paragraph (a)(2), an attorney admitted to practice in Utah includes a Utah Licensed Paralegal Practitioner pursuant to Rule 86(a) and (b). Licensed paralegal practitioners may sign and issue subpoenas provided they use a court issued form approved by the Judicial Council in accordance with UCJA Rule 14-802(c).~~

MEMORANDUM

TO: Supreme Court Advisory Committee on the Rules of Civil Procedure

FROM: Subcommittee re Rules 12(a)(1), 26.1(h) and 104 (Loni Page, Tonya Wright, Keri Sargent and Susan Vogel)

DATE: January __, 2023

RE: Supreme Court request to review/revise Rules 12(a)(1), 26.1(h) and 104 per letter of September 2, 2022

RULE 12(a)(1)

The current rule states:

Rule 12. Defenses and objections.

Effective: 11/1/2021

(a) When presented.

(1) In actions other than domestic relations. Unless otherwise provided by statute or order of the court, a defendant must serve an answer within 21 days after the service of the summons and complaint is complete within the state and within 30 days after service of the summons and complaint is complete outside the state. A party served with a pleading stating a cross-claim must serve an answer thereto within 21 days after the service. The plaintiff must serve an answer to a counterclaim in the answer within 21 days after service of the answer or, if a reply is ordered by the court, within 21 days after service of the order, unless the order otherwise directs. The service of a motion under this rule alters these periods of time as follows, unless a different time is fixed by order of the court, but a motion directed to fewer than all of the claims in a pleading does not affect the time for responding to the remaining claims:

(A) If the court denies the motion or postpones its disposition until the trial on the merits, the responsive pleading must be served within 14 days after notice of the court's action;

(B) If the court grants a motion for a more definite statement, the responsive pleading must be served within 14 days after the service of the more definite statement.

The Supreme Court commented:

“URCP 12(a)(1) directs a defendant to serve an answer within a specific time. However, the rule does not tell the defendant to file the answer as well, often leading to default. We would like the Committee to evaluate whether adding the requirement in the rule that the answer be filed would reduce the number of cases ending in default.

Recommendations of our Subcommittee:

(Green indicates the language that we believe would address the Supreme Court’s concerns. Red indicates other changes we suggest to make the Rule more understandable to self-represented parties.)

Rule 12. Defenses and objections.

Effective: 11/1/2021

(a) When presented.

(1) In actions other than domestic relations. Unless otherwise provided by statute or order of the court, a defendant must file and serve an answer within 21 days after the service of the summons and complaint ~~is complete~~ within the state and within 30 days after service of the summons and complaint ~~is complete~~ outside the state. A party served with a ~~pleading stating~~ a cross-claim must file and serve an answer ~~thereto~~ the crossclaim within 21 days after ~~the~~ service. The plaintiff must file and serve an answer to a counterclaim ~~in the answer~~ within 21 days after service of the counterclaim answer or, if a reply is ordered by the court, within 21 days after service of the order, unless the court orders otherwise ~~directs~~. The service of a motion under this rule alters these periods of time as follows, unless a different time is ~~fixed by~~ ordered by ~~of~~ the court, but a motion directed to fewer than all of the claims in a pleading does not affect the time for responding to the remaining claims:

(A) If the court denies the motion or postpones its disposition until the trial on the merits, the responsive pleading must be served within 14 days after notice of the court's action;

(B) If the court grants a motion for a more definite statement, the responsive pleading must be served within 14 days after the service of the more definite statement.

Another suggestion is to add a table to make it easier to understand deadlines:

DOCUMENT SERVED	UPON	RESPONSE OF PARTY SERVED IF NOT IN AGREEMENT	DEADLINE AFTER SERVICE FOR FILING and SERVING ON OTHER PARTIES
Complaint or Petition and Summons	Defendant/Respondent	Answer, and (optional) Counterclaim or Counterpetition	21 days after service in-state or 30 days after service out of state
Counterclaim or Counterpetition	Plaintiff	Answer or Reply to Counterclaim/Counterpetition	21 days
Crossclaim	Co-plaintiff or co-defendant	Answer to Crossclaim	21 days

RULE 26.1(h)

The current rule states:

“(h) Notice of requirements. Notice of the requirements of this rule must be served on the other party and all joined parties with the initial petition.”

The Supreme Court commented:

“URCP 26.1(h) requires parties in domestic relations actions to be served with notice of the requirements to exchange initial disclosures and financial declarations. However, in practice, when parties agree on all terms, the disclosures are not required. The Court would like the Committee to consider amending the rule to clarify that the disclosures are only required if the responding party files an answer or otherwise disagrees with the petition.”

Recommendations of our Subcommittee:

h) Notice of requirements. Notice of the requirements of this rule must be served on the other party and all joined parties ~~with the initial petition~~ if the responding party files an Answer or other paper disagreeing with the petition.

RULE 104

The current rule states:

Rule 104. Divorce decree upon affidavit.
Effective: 11/1/2021

“A party in a divorce case may apply for entry of a decree without a hearing in cases in which the other party fails to make a timely appearance after service of process or other appropriate notice, waives notice, stipulates to the withdrawal of the answer, or stipulates to the entry of the decree or entry of default. An affidavit in support of the decree must accompany the application. The affidavit must contain evidence sufficient to support necessary findings of fact and a final judgment.”

The Supreme Court commented:

“URCP 104 requires the filing of a separate affidavit in support of a divorce decree, even though court form pleadings articulate the grounds for jurisdiction and for divorce as sworn statements under the Unsworn Declarations Act, Utah Code Title 78B, Chapter 18a. This rule duplications work, adds more generation of paperwork, and more confusion in divorce actions. The Court would like the Committee to consider 2 repealing this rule or amending it to clarify that a sworn pleading can suffice for the affidavit mentioned in the rule.”

Recommendations of our Subcommittee:

“A court may enter a divorce decree without a hearing if the documents filed in the case contain evidence sufficient to support necessary findings of fact and a final divorce decree.”

Or

Rule 104. Divorce decree upon affidavit.
Effective: 11/1/2021

“A party in a divorce case may ~~apply for request~~ entry of a decree without a hearing in cases in which the other party fails to make a timely appearance after service of process or other appropriate notice, waives notice, stipulates to the withdrawal of the answer, or stipulates to the entry of the decree or entry of default. An ~~affidavit~~ declaration in support of the decree must accompany the request

~~application~~. The ~~declaration affidavit~~ must contain evidence sufficient to support necessary findings of fact and a final judgment. A sworn pleading, such as a Verified Petition, can suffice for the declaration mentioned in the rule."

2 Effective: ~~5/1/2021~~

3 (a) Computing time. The following rules apply in computing any time period specified

5 method of computing time.

6 (1) When the period is stated in days or a longer unit of time:

7 (A) exclude the day of the event that triggers the period;

8 (B) count every day, including intermediate Saturdays, Sundays, and legal 9 holidays; and

10 (C) include the last day of the period, but if the last day is a Saturday, Sunday, or

13 (2) When the period is stated in hours:

15 period;

19 continues to run until the same time on the next day that is not a Saturday,
20 Sunday, or legal holiday.

21 (3) Unless the court orders otherwise, if the clerk's office is inaccessible:

22 (A) on the last day for filing under Rule 6(a)(1), then the time for filing is 23 extended to the first accessible day that is not a Saturday, Sunday or legal 24 holiday; or

26 extended to the same time on the first accessible day that is not a Saturday,
27 Sunday, or legal holiday.

28 (4) Unless a different time is set by a statute or court order, filing on the last day
29 means:

30 (A) for electronic filing, before midnight; and

(B) for filing by other means, the filing must be made before the clerk's office is scheduled to close.

(5) The "next day" is determined by continuing to count forward when the period is measured after an event and backward when measured before an event.

~~(L) any day designated by the Governor or Legislature as a state holiday.~~

(b) Extending time.

(1) When an act may or must be done within a specified time, the court may, for good cause, extend the time:

(A) with or without motion or notice if the court acts, or if a request is made, before the original time or its extension expires; or

(B) on motion made after the time has expired if the party failed to act because of excusable neglect.

(2) A court must not extend the time to act under Rules 50\(b\) and \(d\), 52\(b\), 59\(b\), \(d\) and \(e\), and 60\(c\).

60 (c) Additional time after service by mail. When a party may or must act within a 61 specified time after service and service is made exclusively by mail under 62 Rule 5(b)(3)(C)(i), 7 days are added after the period would otherwise expire under 63 paragraph (a).

64 (d) Response time for an unrepresented party. When a party is not represented by an 65 attorney, does not have an electronic filing account, and may or must act within a 66 specified time after the filing of a paper, the period of time within which the party may

MEMORANDUM

To: Advisory Committees on the Rules of Criminal, Civil, Juvenile, and Appellate Procedure
CC: Boards of Judges for Juvenile, District, Appellate, and Justice Courts.
From: Utah Supreme Court
Re: Remote vs. In-person Hearings

In October 2022, the Green Phase Workgroup presented its Report and Recommendation to the Judicial Council and Supreme Court Regarding the Ongoing Use of Virtual Meeting Technology to Conduct Court Proceedings. The Judicial Council considered the matter extensively and in November 2022, published its Findings and Recommendations Regarding Ongoing Use of Virtual Meeting Technology to Conduct Court Proceedings. The report provided in relevant part, “The Judicial Council recommends the Supreme Court consider establishing a rule that allows hearing participants to request permission to appear opposite the decision of the judicial officer.”¹

The Supreme Court recently considered this charge and requests its Advisory Committees provide recommendations on the following questions as they relate to each committee respectively:

1. Should there be a rule of procedure that allows participants to request their hearing be held opposite the decision of the judicial officer?
2. Should there be a rule of procedure that provides a presumption regarding certain hearing types? (Example: non-evidentiary, status hearings, etc.)
3. Should there be a rule of procedure that provides an appeal process for challenging the decision of a judicial officer as it relates to remote vs. in-person hearings, and if so, who should consider the appeal? (Example: presiding judge)

The Supreme Court welcomes the input from the various Boards of Judges concerning these questions, and invites the Boards to attend relevant advisory committee meetings or provide input directly to the Supreme Court.

REPORT AND RECOMMENDATIONS TO THE JUDICIAL COUNCIL AND SUPREME COURT REGARDING ONGOING USE OF VIRTUAL MEETING TECHNOLOGY TO CONDUCT COURT PROCEEDINGS

Executive Summary

The Judicial Council directed the Green Phase Working Group (GPWG) to study the ongoing use of virtual meeting technology to conduct court proceedings. The GPWG now submits the following report and recommendations for the Council's consideration.

- The use of virtual hearings to conduct court proceedings is accompanied by benefits and drawbacks, which must be identified, monitored, and balanced to best ensure that the courts continue striving to provide the public an open, fair, efficient, and independent system for the advancement of justice.
- A 2022 survey of Utah court users shows an overwhelming preference for the continued use of virtual hearings across court user types and age groups in district, juvenile, and justice courts.
- After careful study, the GPWG favors an approach that prioritizes judicial discretion in determining whether a hearing will be in person or virtual and allows court patrons to request to participate in a different manner.
- Recommended best practices for continued use of virtual hearings revolve around adequate notification of which hearings are intended to be conducted virtually, education and technical assistance to overcome technological and user-centric barriers, clear communication regarding decorum expectations, and continuing coordination with patrons, practitioners, the public, and other stakeholders.

Introduction

During the COVID-19 pandemic, virtual meeting technology allowed the Utah judiciary to continue striving to provide the public an open, fair, efficient, and independent system for the advancement of justice, even while public health considerations significantly restricted in-person gatherings. Judicial officers and court staff have developed proficiency in the logistics of scheduling and conducting virtual hearings, which has revealed benefits and drawbacks related to using virtual meeting technology for court proceedings.

The Judicial Council directed the Green Phase Working Group (GPWG)¹ to study the matter and develop recommendations regarding the ongoing use of virtual meeting technology to conduct court proceedings. While virtual hearings will undoubtedly continue to be an important tool for the judiciary, the tool's effectiveness varies based on the situation and the parties involved. The goal has been to ascertain how virtual meeting technology can be employed into the future to advance the judiciary's mission without sacrificing the effectiveness inherent in in-person proceedings.

This report:

1. identifies prevalent benefits and drawbacks of virtual hearings;
2. explores the effect of virtual hearings on access to justice;
3. addresses technology considerations;
4. presents aggregate court user feedback on the use of this technology; and
5. recommends best practice considerations moving forward.

Recommendations from the GPWG are noted with a blue background throughout the report and are listed again at the end of the report.

Definitions

"Virtual hearing" means a court proceeding where the judicial officer, court staff, parties, and attorneys simultaneously appear and participate through the use of virtual meeting technology from different physical locations.

"Hybrid hearing" means a court proceeding where some participants are present together in the physical courtroom while other participants simultaneously appear and participate in the proceedings through the use of virtual meeting technology from a different physical location.

"Virtual meeting technology" means a software platform that enables more than one individual to simultaneously participate in the same meeting from different physical locations.

Benefits and Drawbacks of Virtual Hearings

Virtual hearings have been critical to the operation of the judiciary during the pandemic. The use of technology allowed the courts to overcome the all-or-nothing choice between fully restricting access to the courts or exposing patrons, court staff, and judicial officers to a little-understood, highly contagious and deadly disease. Like any new technology, the benefits of virtual hearings came with drawbacks. The judiciary has learned a great deal about the utility and efficacy of virtual hearings since they became the default in 2020. Table 1 below outlines examples of the benefits and drawbacks of virtual hearings, as experienced by judicial officers, court employees, and court users throughout the state.

BENEFITS
Access to Courts	<ul style="list-style-type: none">• Some people will be able to attend a hearing who otherwise would not be able to do so.• Virtual hearings accommodate people who do not have a driver license but have access to virtual meeting technology.• The judiciary can draw from a larger pool of interpreters if interpreters do not have to attend court in person.• Extended family members and friends are able to attend proceedings such as adoptions.• News media outlets are able to cover hearings more regularly and across greater geographic diversity.
Convenience	<ul style="list-style-type: none">• Court patrons can appear in court without needing to take time from work or home responsibilities.• Virtual jury selection is less disruptive to potential jurors.
Financial Savings	<ul style="list-style-type: none">• Court patrons are less likely to lose wages for missing work if they are able to appear remotely.• Court patrons may avoid the need to pay for childcare or travel expenses to and from the courthouse.• Litigants may avoid having to pay their attorneys to travel to court or wait at the courthouse for their case(s) to be called.
Legal Representation	<ul style="list-style-type: none">• Practitioners may be able to represent more clients if they travel less for hearings.• Litigants can draw from a larger pool of attorneys if attorneys do not have to travel to different geographic regions of the state / county / city.• Underserved communities have greater access to pro bono representation.• Attorneys in some civil cases may be able to have better communication with their clients in a virtual setting where the client better understands that the communication will be focused and efficient.
Efficiency	<ul style="list-style-type: none">• Court patrons may spend less time unable to fulfill other responsibilities while waiting for their hearing.

	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Practitioners are able to accomplish more work when spending less time traveling to hearings / sitting in a courtroom waiting for their case(s). • Virtual hearings may be a more efficient use of resources than transporting people from jails, prisons, or other secure facilities.
Safety	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Virtual hearings offer an increased feeling of safety for victims of crime, petitioners for protective orders and civil stalking injunctions, parties in high conflict domestic cases, volunteers and others. • There are fewer law enforcement and public safety concerns than are involved with physically transporting inmates to a courthouse.
Comfort	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Some court patrons find appearing remotely for proceedings more comfortable / less intimidating, allowing them to be more authentic
Judicial Preference	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Some judicial officers prefer virtual jury selection over in-person jury selection.
Information	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • In some kinds of cases, courts receive additional information to use in decision-making when people who would not be able to participate in person are able to appear virtually.
DRAWBACKS
Loss of Court Efficiency	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • For certain hearings, conducting the hearing virtually may take longer than doing the same work in person. • Fewer opportunities for counsel to visit while in the courthouse may result in fewer cases being settled on terms acceptable to the parties. • It can be difficult to negotiate with another party through a virtual platform.
Lack of Decorum	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Because virtual hearings are often viewed as less formal, some participants show a lack of decorum reflected in their dress, location when appearing, other activities going on in the background, interruptions, and lack of civility.
Lack of Focus	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Court participants sometimes try to multitask during virtual hearings and do not give their full attention to the court proceeding.
Constraints on Other Actions	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • It is difficult or impossible to enforce certain court orders virtually. • It is difficult to serve parties who would be served at the courthouse if the hearing were in person. • It may be difficult to get defendants to report to jail when custody is ordered through a virtual hearing.
Resource Limitations	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Some jails are unable to accommodate the volume or timing of virtual hearings. • Lack of necessary equipment or insufficient access to the internet may limit or prevent some people from appearing through Webex.

Communication Friction	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Communication between attorneys and clients may suffer during virtual hearings and requires more planning to accommodate. • There are challenges using the Language Line (interpretation resource) in virtual hearings. • Obtaining victim and restitution information from prosecutors is more challenging in a virtual setting. • News media outlets obtain the highest quality recordings (particularly of higher profile case hearings) when recorded in person. • Judicial officers, attorneys, and jurors may miss important non-verbal cues that could be seen in person.
Technical Issues	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Technical problems sometimes interfere with hearings and may hinder access to court. • Virtual hearings use large amounts of bandwidth. • Interpretation sometimes suffers during virtual hearings. • The quality of the record may be diminished. • There is a learning curve for new participants.
Demands on Staff	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Non-IT staff are often required to provide impromptu technical support. • With the current system, scheduling virtual hearings requires additional work for staff.
Legal Concerns	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Virtual hearings may present constitutional deficiencies for some criminal hearings. • It can be difficult to judge the credibility of witnesses or ensure that witnesses are not impermissibly relying on extrinsic sources or aided by other individuals when providing testimony (despite amending the rule to include additional language in the oath). • It can be difficult to know whether another person is in the room with a virtual participant, trying to influence that participant.

Table 1 – Benefits and Drawbacks of Virtual Hearings

Access to Justice

Access to justice has been, is, and will continue to be a primary consideration when assessing court operations, including the use of virtual meeting technology. One of the benefits of virtual hearings has been an increase in access to justice for many people.

- Some parties find that it is much easier to participate in court proceedings virtually than to appear in person. Through the use of virtual hearings, barriers such as arranging transportation, finding daycare, or taking time off from work or other life responsibilities are reduced or eliminated. For some people, these barriers are the difference between being able to access court services and having to delay, or even forgo, court involvement, some of which affects physical safety. For others, these barriers could be the difference between a default judgment and the ability to meaningfully participate in their case. In some instances, it will be the difference between participation in an occupancy hearing and becoming homeless.
- Virtual hearings can reduce barriers by allowing court patrons to feel safe by appearing in a comfortable place and in a different location than the person they fear. Though a court patron in this situation may be capable of attending an in-person hearing, such a patron may reasonably view virtual hearings as increasing their access to the courts.
- Virtual hearings provide greater access for some court patrons and practitioners with disabilities. At least one attorney explained that he is often not able to attend in-person hearings because of his disabilities. The use of virtual hearings has allowed him to significantly expand his law practice because he is able to attend many more proceedings. This provides greater access to the attorney and his clients.
- For many people, virtual hearings provide greater access to justice simply because they are more convenient. While mere convenience may not override other considerations, it is still an important factor.

There are also aspects of virtual hearings that can impede access to justice. These obstacles must be understood and considered to ensure that the judiciary provides the best opportunities for the public to access court services.

- Some court patrons lack sufficient internet access, have limited means to purchase or maintain the necessary hardware, or are not comfortable with technology generally. This can impair or completely prevent the individual from appearing or effectively advocating their position in the case.
- Even for the users most comfortable with virtual hearings, technical problems outside of the individual's control can present barriers to accessing justice. Virtual platforms obviously depend on reliable networks and sufficient bandwidth. Some court patrons may use a less-than-optimal network that disrupts the hearing, making it difficult for the court to hear them and difficult for the patrons to follow what is taking place in the hearing. The demand for internal network bandwidth by court staff and judges sometimes exceeds supply, causing disruptions to virtual hearings and other network uses.

- Virtual hearings are also more prone to create issues with the quality of the audio recording of the court proceedings. Disruptions from other court patrons in the same hearing, bandwidth constraints and fluctuations, and sometimes limitations of the virtual platform itself have compromised the quality of the audio recordings that constitute “the record.” Recording quality concerns span the spectrum from minor annoyance in some cases to rendering the record completely useless during the transcription process. The diminishment of reliable recording quality is a clear and significant problem, particularly if issues in a case evade meaningful and complete appellate review due to a compromised recording.

The platform providers and our internal IT team have done much to improve the quality of the virtual hearing recordings and specific additional improvements are anticipated to be completed in the near future. With support from the Judicial Council, the IT and facilities teams are installing kiosks in courthouses throughout the state that provide reliable access to virtual hearings. The IT team has also been working hard to secure expanded bandwidth and provide support and training along with the necessary hardware and software.

Technology Considerations

Instituting virtual hearings in the Utah courts at the onset of the pandemic required the judiciary to purchase and roll out new technology, train judicial officers and employees, collaborate with system partners, and increase IT team support. A forward-looking and effective virtual hearings strategy will require additional and upgraded hardware and software, continual network monitoring and improvements, and significant time to fully implement.

Hardware and Software

The Utah courts have invested significant time and resources into establishing a baseline hardware and software foundation for conducting virtual hearings. These previous investments, coupled with planned upgrades, position the courts to continue using virtual and hybrid hearings into the future.

Early in the pandemic, the Utah courts determined that Webex was the virtual meeting technology platform best suited to the needs of the judiciary. The number of Webex accounts available to judicial officers and court employees has gradually increased since the beginning of the pandemic as licensing needs and available resources have allowed. The judiciary currently has approximately 1,900 Webex licenses for state and local courts. Most of the state courts' computers have been upgraded to meet the minimum standards for Webex, but some outdated computers remain in use and will need to be replaced.

Beyond the necessary software licensing and the computers to operate that software, other hardware and technology upgrades in the courtrooms statewide have been necessary to conduct efficient and effective virtual and hybrid hearings. Numerous courtroom upgrades such as rolling media carts, additional monitors to display proceedings to the parties, and video cameras have been purchased and installed to support both virtual and hybrid hearings. In the near future, additional upgrades will be installed in courtrooms to better facilitate remote appearances, the presentation of evidence, and other related functionalities. Important additional upgrades to hardware and software are planned including: enabling simultaneous interpretation; allowing Webex audio to be recorded directly to the courts' official audio recording platform "For The Record" (FTR); and cloud migration of FTR data.

Network Requirements

The increased use of virtual court hearings and meetings has at times placed a nearly overwhelming load on the courts' network capabilities and bandwidth. This voluminous data transmission burden has resulted in slow network response times for critical systems to function well. It is anticipated that these challenges will not be fully resolved until an ARPA-funded² network upgrade is completed in December 2024. This upgrade is intended to optimize system performance through the creation of discrete network connections to route network traffic for the courts' internal applications (CORIS, CARE, etc.) separately from external applications (Webex, Google services, etc.).

² "ARPA" is the American Rescue Plan Act of 2021 (H.R. 1319), enacted on March 11, 2021.

Other Technology-related Considerations and Challenges

While the advancements and expanded use of technology are critical to the successful ongoing use of virtual and hybrid hearings, there are some challenges that the courts should anticipate and prepare for:

- judicial officer and court staff training will remain a significant need;
- reliance for support from the IT team will increase and add additional pressures on a small support staff tasked with handling high support volume;
- supply chain issues for hardware and devices will likely present ongoing challenges into the foreseeable future; and
- upgrades such as Webex kiosks, permanent cameras in all courtrooms, an accessible and intuitive public portal, FTR migration to the cloud, simultaneous interpretation, and other changes will be implemented gradually through December 2024, which will require the courts to adopt some short-term solutions while coping with the necessary time to complete these critical technology upgrades.

GPWG Recommendation

Continue to invest in IT staff necessary to support virtual and hybrid hearings and to provide training to employees, judges and commissioners.

Court User Survey

During the summer of 2022, the Utah State Bar's Access to Justice Commission, in partnership with the Utah Judicial Council, conducted a limited survey of court users (primarily in the Third District) about their experiences with virtual hearings from the fall of 2021 through the spring of 2022. The results, which provide useful information for the judiciary, are found in "Utah Survey of Court Users: The Impact of Remote Hearings on Access to Justice, June 2022."³

At the time the report was published, a total of 212 individuals had provided survey responses, including 116 parties, 68 lawyers, 22 government agency workers, and 5 friends/guardians of a party. These individuals participated in a variety of hearings in district court (criminal and civil), juvenile court (delinquency and child welfare), and justice court (criminal, traffic, and small claims).

The most conclusive survey result was that 75% of respondents across all types of survey participants expressed a preference for virtual hearings.⁴ Parties were the most likely group to prefer virtual hearings (87%), followed by agency workers (77%) and lawyers (54%).⁵ See Figure 1.

While the preference of court users is only one consideration among many, it is strong evidence that there is value in conducting certain court proceedings through virtual hearings.

Source: Utah Survey of Court Users: The Impact of Remote Hearings on Access to Justice, June 2022.

³ See Appendix B for the Utah State Bar Access to Justice Commission full survey report.

⁴ Respondents were asked "For your court hearing or activity today, which do you prefer?" and were given two choices: "I prefer participating in person at the courthouse" and "I prefer participating remotely (by video, phone, or virtually)."

⁵ 100% of "friends / guardians of party" preferred virtual hearings, though the sample size of this group was five individuals.

Judicial Discretion vs. Patron Preference

There are many approaches the Judicial Council could adopt regarding the ongoing use of virtual hearings. In discussing various approaches, the GPWG weighed three main considerations: patron preference, consistency, and judicial discretion.

Consistency. There is value in having a consistent approach throughout the state. Court patrons know what to expect and can plan accordingly. Attorneys know whether a hearing is likely to be quick because it is virtual or whether the hearing will involve significant travel time to and from the courthouse. This is especially helpful for attorneys who practice in front of multiple judicial officers in different districts. It matters even more for non-profit legal service providers; they provide legal services across the state and have minimal administrative support to keep track of and cope with varying requirements. These agencies and other stakeholders have expressed a preference for statewide consistency.

Patron Preference. Public perception and participation are significantly impacted by the type of hearing. When attorneys, parties, and other court patrons can choose whether to access court remotely or in person, they are better able to manage their work and family obligations, schedules, finances, transportation, and personal safety. Court administration in Ohio has found that court users rank the courts higher in access and fairness when they are allowed to choose the venue because it allows them to participate in the process instead of just having the court process happen to them.

Judicial Discretion. Every hearing involves unique circumstances and people, and the judicial officer is in the best position to determine whether a virtual hearing or in-person hearing best serves the interests of justice given those unique factors. Additionally, our state comprises diverse geographic regions with unique strengths, needs, and characteristics. It is difficult to craft a single approach to determining whether hearings will be held virtually or in person that adequately serves the needs of all districts. Maximizing judicial discretion also allows judges to consider the impact virtual or in-person hearings have on their individual staff members.

The GPWG discussed and ultimately rejected an approach used by some states that establishes presumptions or mandates for every type of hearing. Though this approach establishes consistency, it almost completely ignores judicial discretion and the reality that every case is different. The GPWG also worried that complete judicial discretion discounts the feedback received from external stakeholders and leads to practices that are inconsistent for similar types of hearings.

In an effort to give appropriate weight to all three of these considerations, the GPWG recommends the following approach.

1. Judicial discretion

Judicial officers consider the factors discussed below in “Considerations for Judicial Officers” and other information relevant to the case, hearing, and parties and then determine whether a hearing will be in-person or virtual.

2. Court Patron Requests

- a. Where an in-person hearing is scheduled and a participant requests that they be allowed to participate virtually, the judicial officer must allow them to participate virtually if the participant shows good cause, which permission shall not be unreasonably withheld.
- b. Where a virtual hearing is scheduled and a participant requests that they be allowed to participate in person, the judicial officer must allow them to participate in person if the participant shows good cause, which permission shall not be unreasonably withheld.

3. Good Cause

A good cause standard should be established, as discussed below in “Amending Court Rules.”

4. Court Technology

- a. Courtroom technology must provide remote participants the same opportunity as in-person attendees to hear, view, and participate in the court proceeding.
- b. Each district should develop a digital evidence plan to standardize how digital evidence is managed within the district.

5. Remote Attendee Obligations

- a. A person who attends a court proceeding virtually must use a device and an internet connection that will contemporaneously transmit video and audio with sufficient quality to ensure a clear, verbatim record of the proceeding. If that technology is unavailable, the person must attend the court proceeding in person. The judicial officer may choose to require only audio transmission.
- b. Remote attendees must observe the same courtroom decorum as those attending in person, including appropriate courtroom attire, behavior, and language.
- c. Remote attendees must appear from a location that does not disrupt the court proceeding and allows the attendee to participate without distractions.
- d. Attendees must never appear in a court proceeding while operating a vehicle.
- e. Attorneys appearing remotely must be on time and not delay a court proceeding by overscheduling remote appearances.

GPWG Recommendation

Judicial officers should have discretion to determine whether a hearing will be in person or virtual. If a court patron requests to participate in a way other than the way identified by the judicial officer and demonstrates a valid reason, the judicial officer should be required to grant the request. Court rules should be adopted to implement this approach.

Considerations for Judicial Officers

Juvenile Courts

Addressing the individual needs of children and families is one of the foundational components of the Utah Juvenile Court. This approach extends to and influences decisions on appropriateness and effectiveness of conducting a hearing in-person or virtually. Maintaining judicial discretion in making these decisions is vital to preserving the defining characteristics of the juvenile court and ensuring an individualized approach to each case.

While the decisions on in-person and virtual hearings should be made based on unique circumstances of each case and each hearing, some juvenile court proceedings are more suitable to conduct virtually while other proceedings are more suitable for an in-person setting.

Virtual

The following juvenile court hearing types may be more appropriate to conduct virtually.

- Delinquency:
 - Detention Hearings
 - Expungements
 - Entire delinquency cases (contingent on the factors listed below)
 - Entire delinquency cases where minors are in an out-of-county placement
- Child Welfare:
 - Custody of Refugee Minor cases (CCS Petitioner)
 - Immigrant Status cases
 - Child Welfare Reviews (contingent on the factors listed below)
 - Child Welfare Post Termination Reviews

In Person

The following juvenile court hearing types may be more suitable to conduct in-person.

- Delinquency:
 - Trials
 - Evidentiary Hearings
 - Hearings on Motions to Suppress that include testimony
 - Competency hearings
 - Order to Show Cause/Contempt hearings
 - Criminal Information or Bind over cases that involve evidence
 - Any case where a party requests an in-person appearance
- Child Welfare:
 - Trials
 - Evidentiary hearings
 - Shelter hearings
 - Adjudication/Pretrial hearings
 - Disposition

- Permanency hearings
- Voluntary Relinquishment
- Order to Show Cause/Contempt hearings
- Any case where a party requests an in-person appearance
- Other Cases/Hearings
 - Treatment Courts
 - Petitions for Marriage
 - Judicial Bypass petitions
 - Emancipation petitions
 - Protective Orders
 - Adoption (with an option for virtual attendance for family members out of the area)

In making decisions on scheduling an in-person or virtual hearing, juvenile court judges should consider:

- Individual needs of youth and parents:
 - access to technology, including availability of Webex kiosks or other similar accommodations to facilitate participation in a virtual hearing;
 - transportation and travel challenges, including distance of residence from the courthouse (out of county, etc);
 - accommodation for youth enrolled in school; and
 - accommodation for working parents.
- Case Circumstances:
 - feasibility of a virtual hearing or transport for an incarcerated parent;
 - whether a case is high-profile;
 - whether a youth or parent would benefit from face-to-face interaction with the judge;
 - youth or parent lack of engagement;
 - youth is in a remote out of home placement and transport is not feasible; and
 - youth or parent display a lack of understanding of court processes or orders.
- Hearing Circumstances:
 - whether the hearing is a procedural or substantive type hearing;
 - whether evidence is being presented; and
 - whether witness testimony is required.

Juvenile court judges should additionally consider comfort level, preferences, and health accommodations of parties and teams. It may be beneficial at the time the next hearing is being scheduled to provide an opportunity for parties and participants to express their preferences regarding an in-person or virtual setting.

GPWG Recommendation

Juvenile court judges should consider the factors listed in this section when deciding whether a hearing will be in person or virtual.

Justice and District Courts

Post-pandemic, justice court judges and district court judges will continue to have the option to use in-person and virtual hearings to effectively accomplish the mission of the courts. While the state courts IT department has made significant improvements to the technology and hardware that make virtual hearings possible, the judiciary should continue to make additional investments in technology to better accommodate virtual hearings, facilitate hybrid hearings, and improve the evidence-presentation process for all hearing types in every courtroom throughout the state. Regardless of the type of hearing, an accurate audio record must be maintained.

Judicial discretion is paramount when deciding whether to hold an in-person or virtual hearing. Given the unique characteristics of each court, court location, and case, district court judges must have individual discretion to determine which hearing type will best promote the open, fair, and efficient administration of justice in each proceeding. In-person and virtual hearings offer different benefits and efficiencies, so judges will need to decide whether proceeding in person or virtually will best address the unique circumstances of each hearing.

It is also important to understand the technical limitations that impact virtual hearings. For example, some county jails have limited capacity for virtual hearings and cannot accommodate the number or length of virtual hearings a court may desire to hold.

The GPWG recommends justice court judges and district court judges consider principles of procedural fairness, factors outlined in court rule, and the following factors where relevant (listed in no particular order):

- Does an existing statute, rule, or principle of law require an in-person hearing? Can the mandatory nature of that requirement be waived by the parties (or by a single party)?
- Do all parties have sufficient access to technology for virtual hearings?
- What is the substantive or procedural importance of the hearing?
- Which type of hearing best promotes access to justice for the parties?
- Are the parties more comfortable with a virtual hearing (e.g., high-conflict domestic cases, protective order hearings, and civil stalking injunction hearings)?
- Does the type of hearing allow the parties to have access to counsel of their choice?
- Would the parties or their counsel be required to travel long distances for an in-person hearing?
- Is there a significant cost to a party for an in-person hearing (e.g., money, time, lost work, child care, cost of transportation from jail for civil proceeding, etc.)?
- Do the parties have a stated preference for a certain type of hearing? If so, how and when do parties state their hearing-type preference?

- Are the judge and court staff able to manage a virtual or hybrid courtroom effectively?
- Does the hearing make efficient use of judicial resources, facilities, and court personnel?
- Will a party be prejudiced from requiring an in-person, virtual, or hybrid hearing?
- Will the type of hearing unreasonably delay the progress of the case, increase expense, or complicate resolution of any issue?
- Will the type of hearing unreasonably limit the court's ability to assess credibility, voluntariness, or comprehension?
- Is there a fairness concern because one party has easier access to the courthouse, or greater facility with technology, and is seeking a strategic advantage?
- Does the type of hearing allow for greater access to effective interpretation services?
- Is there enough time to give notice for people to make appropriate arrangements—especially where there is a change from one hearing type to another?
- Does the type of hearing—particularly virtual and hybrid hearings—allow parties to share documents?
- In virtual and hybrid hearings, will the participants have prior or simultaneous access to documents, photos, etc., that are submitted to the courtroom?

GPWG Recommendation

Justice court judges and district court judges should consider the factors listed in this section when deciding whether a hearing will be in person or virtual.

Appellate Courts

The appellate courts have only one hearing type to consider in evaluating moving into a post-pandemic judicial environment—oral arguments. Oral arguments never have witnesses and very rarely utilize any form of evidentiary exhibits.

Likewise, procedural fairness in appellate hearings is accomplished by parties being able to clearly present their arguments and communicate with the members of the bench, and respond in rebuttal where appropriate, to opposing counsel's arguments. This of course has historically been accomplished by in-person oral arguments. Throughout the COVID-19 pandemic this was accomplished entirely via virtual hearings.

One aspect of procedural fairness that was not considered prior to the pandemic was that our appellate courts hear cases from all eight judicial districts while being housed in the Third District. This presents the question: how does this geographical arrangement impact litigants? For example, represented parties of an appeal originating in the Fifth District would possibly pay more for their appeal as their counsel is required to travel several hundred miles to Salt Lake City. Allowing for virtual appearances for these parties and attorneys, if able to be done equitably, would eliminate a procedural hurdle for the geographically distant party and increase procedural fairness.

Utah's appellate courtrooms are currently undergoing a significant technology overhaul that will allow both parties, as well as the appellate judges, to appear in person or virtually. The technology allows one party to appear virtually while the other appears in-person, and allows one or more judges to appear remotely while the others appear in-person.

Considerations for Deciding on In-person vs. Virtual Oral Argument

- What are the locations of parties and the costs of travel? Does requiring one party to travel a significantly greater distance to the courthouse create fairness issues?
- What are the unintended impacts of having appellate courts that operate from only one courthouse in the state? Does this geographic reality impact decisions to file appeals?
- Would in-person or virtual oral argument increase the diversity of the appellate bar? Would it increase the diversity of the appellate bench?
- Which method(s) do the parties prefer for making their oral arguments?
- Which method does the appellate bench prefer for holding oral argument? Because oral argument is designed to be an opportunity for judicial officers to ask questions presented in briefing, does this preference hold more weight than the preference of the parties?
- Does the type of case matter in making the decision on remote vs. in-person?

GPWG Recommendation

Appellate court judges should consider the factors listed in this section when deciding whether a hearing will be in person or virtual.

Recommended Best Practices for Virtual Hearings

The experiences of judicial officers and court staff with virtual hearings over the past two years helped the GPWG identify best practices for the ongoing use of virtual hearings. The following pages of this report provide both court-wide recommendations and recommendations for specific groups including judges and court staff, court patrons, attorneys, and the prison and jails.

Court-wide Recommendations:

1. Each court location should update judicial officers, court staff, patrons, attorneys, and community partners (e.g., the prison and jails) on relevant Webex updates and process changes. This may include a page on the court website for updates and regular revisions to posted Webex guides.
2. Each court calendar should clearly indicate if a hearing is scheduled to be held in person or through a virtual or hybrid hearing. If the calendar setting is for a virtual or hybrid hearing, the Webex link for the hearing should be included on the calendar for the parties, public, and media to access, as appropriate (i.e., some hearings — such as adoptions — are not open to the general public or media and would therefore not have a publicly-accessible Webex link).
3. A party who shows up at the courthouse for a virtual hearing — whether due to calendaring confusion or inability to access a virtual hearing on their own — should be provided access to participate in the virtual hearing. To facilitate this access, kiosks should be available at every courthouse for patrons to participate in virtual hearings as needed.
4. To address current challenges with the courts' network bandwidth, it is recommended that court employees working at a court location avoid using the wireless network and instead connect to the wired network whenever and wherever possible.
5. Court employees working at the same court location who attend a virtual meeting should gather as a group in a single location to attend the meeting from a single device and network connection as this reduces bandwidth pressure on the courts' network.
6. The public wireless networks in each court location share a statewide connection, resulting in limited capacity to support parties, attorneys, and members of the public who may expect to use the courts' public wireless network to attend remote hearings. These court participants should connect to virtual hearings using networks other than the courts' public wireless networks at the courthouse.

Recommendations for Specific Groups – Judicial Officers & Court Staff:

JUDICIAL OFFICERS & COURT STAFF
1	Notices: Contents	All notices for virtual hearings should include at a minimum the following information (taking into consideration Rule 43 of the Utah Rules of Civil Procedure): <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • the date and time of the hearing; • the type of hearing – virtual, hybrid, or in-person; • the purpose of the hearing; • how to join the hearing, including: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> – the Webex link (or how to access that link); – if permitted, how to call-in for the hearing; – whether participant video must be enabled; – how to access virtual hearing kiosks at a court location; • what to expect at a virtual hearing; • how to file, serve, and present evidence; • what patrons should tell their witnesses; • contact information for technical assistance (see Recommendation #5); • the process for submitting and presenting evidence (see Recommendation #8); and • how to request interpretation or accommodation (see Recommendation #12).
2	Notices: Plain Language	Notices should be easy to understand (i.e., in plain language, avoiding abbreviations or having standard abbreviations; etc.).
3	Notices: Hearing Changes	If a hearing is changed from in person to virtual or vice versa after notice was sent, a new timely notice should be provided to all participants.
4	Notices: Self-Represented Parties	If a self-represented party has provided an email address, notices should be sent by email. When possible, MyCase should be the preferred method for such communication.
5	Technical Assistance for Virtual Hearing Participants	Each court location should have a technical assistance phone number that is included on every hearing notice. Ideally this number should be specific to each court location, but at a minimum should connect the participant to a qualified individual who can: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> a) assist the participant to resolve technical issues; AND b) communicate immediately with the judicial officer's judicial assistant that the participant is attempting to connect to the virtual hearing but is experiencing technical issues.
6	Calendar Capacity	Virtual hearings may take longer and should be scheduled appropriately.

JUDICIAL OFFICERS & COURT STAFF
7	Webex Greeting	Participants should be greeted by a screen in Webex to confirm for participants and the public that they are in the right virtual location. For example, the screen could display the name of the judge, the time hearings are scheduled to begin, and what to do while waiting.
8	Instructions: Evidence	Judicial officers and judicial assistants should provide participants with clear instructions on how to submit and present evidence to the court during a virtual hearing.
9	Instructions: Expectations	If possible, any specific expectations of the parties should be clearly communicated to the parties in advance (e.g., if a camera is required for the party's participation in the hearing, if parties are expected to have spoken/negotiated before the hearing or if breakout rooms will be available for that purpose, etc.). These expectations could be provided in a flier, district-level standing order, or the Judicial Council may want to create a rule.
10	Instructions: Hearing Processes	The judicial officer or judicial assistant should provide hearing-specific instruction on virtual hearing processes (e.g., how a party/attorney should inform the court when their case is ready to be called). "How to" materials could be created for attorneys new to virtual hearings (how to find the calendar/hearing information, tips on how to communicate with clients if they are not in the same location during the hearing, how to prepare clients, how interpretation works during hearings, communicating with opposing side in advance of the hearing, use of breakout rooms, how to present evidence, etc.)
11	Instructions: Use of Webex	The courts should provide clear instructions explaining how to use Webex. "How to" materials could be created for all Webex users. Materials for attorneys new to virtual hearings might include how to find the calendar/hearing information, tips on how to communicate with clients if they are not in the same location during the hearing, how to prepare clients, how interpretation works during hearings, communicating with opposing side in advance of the hearing, use of breakout rooms, how to present evidence, etc.
12	Interpretation & Accommodation	When an interpreter is needed, judicial assistants should make arrangements for simultaneous interpretation if possible (or direct the party or attorney on how to arrange for simultaneous interpretation). The process for requesting other accommodations should be clearly communicated to participants.
13	Ongoing Training	Judicial officers and judicial assistants should receive ongoing training on Webex and other necessary virtual hearing technology.

JUDICIAL OFFICERS & COURT STAFF
14	Experience Sharing	The courts should provide regular opportunities for judicial officers, court staff, patrons, and stakeholders to share their feedback on the use of the virtual hearings.

Recommendations for Specific Groups – Court Patrons:

COURT PATRONS
1	Decorum Expectations	Participants SHOULD: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> a) remember that a virtual courtroom is subject to the same standards of behavior and decorum as in-person court; b) dress appropriately for a court appearance; c) be focused on the proceedings by pre-arranging care for other obligations that may need attention during the hearing (i.e., children, pets, etc.); and d) if late for a hearing, remain in the Webex proceeding until the judicial officer has finished calling through the other scheduled hearings before alerting the judicial officer. Participants SHOULD NOT: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> e) speak over another party or an interpreter; f) interrupt when joining a virtual hearing that has already started (remain muted until their case is called); and g) eat, drink, smoke, or drive during the hearing.
2	Technology Expectations	Participants SHOULD: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> a) Location – plan on joining the virtual hearing from a suitable location that is quiet, private, and allows the participant to focus; b) Camera – have video enabled and be visible to the court when participating in a proceeding, choosing a camera angle that avoids background distractions; c) Lighting – avoid camera angles that position a window or other bright light behind the participant (this often results in poor video quality and obscures the participant’s face); d) Audio – be aware of and try to minimize background noises; e) Calling in on a non-smartphone – avoid joining a virtual hearing via a non-smartphone, as it will limit Webex functionality (e.g., the participant won’t be able to be moved into a separate virtual room to talk with an attorney); and f) Bandwidth – use a network with sufficient bandwidth for a stable connection to the virtual hearing OR use a computer kiosk at the courthouse to join a virtual proceeding.

Recommendations for Specific Groups – Attorneys:

ATTORNEYS
1	Expectations	Expectations for attorneys should be outlined and disseminated. For example, attorneys SHOULD: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> a) Title & Name – ensure their Webex name displays their title followed by their full name (i.e., Defense Attorney Atticus Finch); b) Camera – have video enabled and be visible to the court when participating in a proceeding, choosing a camera angle that avoids background distractions; c) Audio – be aware of and try to minimize background noises, and use a quality microphone to help ensure an accurate record; d) Attire – dress appropriately for a court appearance; e) Simultaneous hearings – log into multiple simultaneous hearings only if the attorney can effectively manage participation in each hearing, ensuring appropriate, timely, and responsive communication with each court; and f) NEVER drive during an appearance.

Recommendations for Specific Groups – Prison & Jails:

PRISON & JAILS
1	Stakeholder Meetings	Stakeholder meetings should be held to discuss and establish best practices between the courts and the prison / jails, including: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> a) communication processes to notify the correctional facility if a hearing will be in person or virtual so appropriate transportation or virtual appearance can be arranged; b) the need for each correctional facility to provide at least two Webex-equipped rooms per court calendar to facilitate attorney / client communication in a breakout room, while the court moves forward with other cases in the remaining room. c) the need for each correctional facility to have a dedicated phone that an interpreter can use to provide simultaneous interpretation during the hearing to an inmate with limited english proficiency.

Amending Court Rules

Court Rule Amendment Recommendations - Appearing in Court

A foundational principle of our pre-pandemic understanding was that appearing in court meant being physically present in the courtroom. In limited circumstances judicial officers and practitioners would utilize phone conferences, and, with exception to some in-custody first appearances taking place remotely from jails, video conferencing was seldom used across the state. As a result, most rules and practices did not contemplate the use of virtual meeting technology or—at a minimum—indicated a strong preference for in-person appearances. With the rapid advancement in courtroom technology experienced over the last several years, this strong preference for in-person appearances seems to be an increasingly outdated approach to the administration of justice.

Pursuant to the Utah Constitution, the Supreme Court is obligated “to adopt rules of procedure and evidence” and the Judicial Council is obligated “to adopt rules for the administration of the courts of the state.” Court rules are essential to the mission of the Utah judiciary to provide the people an open, fair, efficient, and independent system for the advancement of justice under the law. Throughout the pandemic the interpretation of the meaning of this mission has evolved. The Supreme Court and Judicial Council amended or suspended application of certain rules to accommodate necessary pandemic-related changes to previously established practice. In large part, court rules are still built on a pre-pandemic understanding of the needs of judicial officers, court staff, and patrons. This section will provide recommendations our rulemaking bodies should consider when creating and amending rules in a post-pandemic judiciary.

Recommendations to Supreme Court

The Green Phase Workgroup acknowledges that many of the necessary changes found in this section implicate the direct authority of the Utah Supreme Court. As presented in Judicial Discretion v. Patron Preference, the GPWG recommends the Supreme Court establish a “good cause” standard that hearing participants must demonstrate in requesting to appear opposite the decision of the judicial officer. The GPWG recommends the Supreme Court charge its various advisory committees with defining the “good cause” standard through rule. The Supreme Court’s advisory committees are uniquely suited for this task because of their diverse practitioner composition, and practice of incorporating stakeholder comments into their decision-making process. Finally, the GPWG recommends that the Supreme Court establish an appeal process when a hearing participant believes a judicial officer is not appropriately applying the “good cause” standard as defined in the relevant procedural rules. Because the “good cause” standard may vary between procedural rule chapters, it will likely be necessary for each procedural rule chapter to define an appeal process.

GPWG Recommendation

The Supreme Court establish a “good cause” standard that hearing participants must demonstrate in requesting to appear opposite the decision of the judicial officer. The Supreme Court should define “good cause” and establish an appeal process when a hearing participant believes a judicial officer is not appropriately applying the “good cause” standard as defined in the relevant procedural rules.

Recommendations to the Judicial Council

During the pandemic, districts accommodated email filing for self-represented litigants who were not able to file electronically because in-person filing was not an option. That practice proved helpful to many self-represented litigants. The GPWG discussed whether the courts should continue to allow email filing by self-represented litigants. Due to the significant workload email filing adds to clerical staff, the GPWG recommends that all initial filings by self-represented litigants be made in person or via US mail. The GPWG also recommends that the Judicial Council amend its rules to specifically authorize self-represented litigants to make subsequent filings (after the initial filing) in a case through email. Notwithstanding the above, the GPWG recommends that a patron seeking a civil protective order or civil stalking injunction be allowed to file their initial request via email due to the significant access and safety concerns implicated in these proceedings.

GPWG Recommendation

All initial filings by self-represented litigants should be made in person or via US mail. The Judicial Council should amend its rules to specifically authorize self-represented litigants to make subsequent filings (after the initial filing) in a case through email. Notwithstanding the above, a patron seeking a civil protective order or civil stalking injunction be allowed to file their initial request via email due to the significant access and safety concerns implicated in these proceedings.

Constitutional Considerations

Rulemaking bodies should explore the constitutional concerns surrounding the use of in-person and virtual hearings, most importantly whether in-person and virtual hearings are constitutionally equivalent. For example, Rule 26(a)(1) of the Utah Rules of Juvenile Procedure provides that minors have a right “to appear in person and to defend in person or by counsel.” Rule 17.5 of the Utah Rules of Criminal Procedure identifies certain types of hearings that can be held via contemporaneous transmission, while prohibiting others, and allowing for waiver of the prohibition with mutual agreement of the parties. Our historical analysis of when parties were entitled to in-person hearings may not be current with recent technological advances and the availability of virtual resources. The GPWG recommends that the judiciary’s rulemaking bodies balance the increasing need for opportunities to improve access to justice, while simultaneously ensuring court rules and practices do not violate principles of due process.

Initial Rule Amendments to Consider

In addition to rule-making bodies providing guidance on the new “good cause” standard, there are other procedural and administrative rules that may benefit from amendment or clarification. The GPWG has formulated a list of the rules with the most perceptible need for attention, which is included under Appendix C of this report.

Stakeholder Input

The GPWG distributed a draft of this report to community stakeholders and government agencies, requesting their feedback.

Community Stakeholders

The most common feedback from community stakeholders was that options for virtual participation in court proceedings should continue and that court patrons should be able to request the opportunity to participate virtually even if the judicial officer has determined that the proceeding will be in person. Stakeholders explained that even though virtual hearings have some limitations and are not the best option in all circumstances, they have significantly expanded access to justice.

Multiple stakeholders expressed appreciation for virtual hearings while also noting a need for additional technical support for virtual hearing participants. Many participants will not have experience with Webex and may experience difficulties accessing a virtual hearing and navigating through Webex. Resources with detailed explanations about how to participate in a virtual hearing and employees or volunteers dedicated to assisting virtual hearing participants would help people overcome difficulties prior to and during their virtual hearing.

Two stakeholders noted that the health concerns regarding the pandemic are still very real and very serious for some people and asked for appropriate consideration of the circumstances of those people.

Stakeholders provided many additional recommendations, which are listed below.

- Coordinate with community organizations likely to provide access to technology and support efforts to strengthen these services.
- Provide dedicated staff to assist users experiencing technical problems with a virtual hearing.
- Establish consistent policies to determine whether hearings will be virtual or in person.
- Each court should have a single, consistent link used to access virtual hearings.
- For virtual calendars involving multiple cases, establish a consistent way to notify the court that a participant is prepared for their case to be called and a way to notify a participant that their case will be called next.
- Provide greater access to breakout rooms for conversations with clients and for negotiations among parties.
- Make reasonable accommodations for patrons with disabilities.
- Allow hearing participants to participate virtually upon a finding of good cause even if the court has determined the hearing will be in person.
- Provide better instructions accessing a virtual hearing and explaining the expectations for participants. This may be a short video or an information sheet.
- Provide links for all public virtual hearings in a central location on the courts' website.

- Establish consistent procedures for entering evidence in virtual hearings.
- Ask virtual hearing participants if another person is in the room in order to determine whether someone is trying to influence the participant.
- Develop procedures for patrons to participate in virtual hearings without sacrificing privacy.
- Expand the availability of court kiosks for pro se people to use for printing, scanning, and filing documents.
- In both virtual hearings and in-person hearings, allow appropriate time for participants to process questions and communicate with the judicial officer.
- Shift the approach of courts to make judicial officers seem approachable and encourage staff to help people navigate the complexities of court.
- Consider offering extended hours to accommodate people who work during the day.

Government Agencies

The Utah Department of Corrections (UDC) expressed hope that the courts would not change policies that would result in them needing to conduct more transports. UDC noted that increasing the number of transports would impact their capacity to handle other work. The Division of Juvenile Justice and Youth Services similarly expressed a hope that detention hearings could be held virtually. They noted that for youth in a community placement in their county, their case managers would plan to request in-person hearings when they felt it was necessary.

Future Questions

The judiciary will continue to learn about the utility of virtual hearings in coming months. Periodic review of these recommendations and policies based on these recommendations is important. The judiciary should gather and analyze data, including data from court patrons and stakeholders as well as data about virtual and in-person hearings, to see how virtual hearings are serving the public and advancing the mission of the judiciary.

GPWG Recommendation

The judiciary should gather and analyze data, including data from court patrons and stakeholders as well as data about virtual and in-person hearings, to see how virtual hearings are serving the public and advancing the mission of the judiciary.

There will certainly be additional questions that arise regarding the use of virtual hearings. The GPWG is willing to consider and make recommendations on any additional issues that would be helpful to the Judicial Council and Supreme Court.

Recommendations

- Continue to invest in IT staff necessary to support virtual and hybrid hearings and to provide training to employees and judicial officers.
- Judicial discretion vs. patron preference

1. Judicial discretion

Judicial officers consider the factors discussed below in “Considerations for Judicial Officers” and other information relevant to the case, hearing, and parties and then determine whether a hearing will be in-person or virtual.

2. Court Patron Requests

- a. Where an in-person hearing is scheduled and a participant requests that they be allowed to participate virtually, the judicial officer must allow them to participate virtually if the participant shows good cause, which permission shall not be unreasonably withheld.
- b. Where a virtual hearing is scheduled and a participant requests that they be allowed to participate in person, the judicial officer must allow them to participate in person if the participant shows good cause, which permission shall not be unreasonably withheld.

3. Good Cause

A good cause standard should be established, as discussed below in “Amending Court Rules.”

4. Court Technology

- a. Courtroom technology must provide remote participants the same opportunity as in-person attendees to hear, view, and participate in the court proceeding.
- b. Each district should develop a digital evidence plan to standardize how digital evidence is managed within the district.

5. Remote Attendee Obligations

- a. A person who attends a court proceeding virtually must use a device and an internet connection that will contemporaneously transmit video and audio with sufficient quality to ensure a clear, verbatim record of the proceeding. If that technology is unavailable, the person must attend the court proceeding in person. The court may choose to require only audio transmission.
- b. Remote attendees must observe the same courtroom decorum as those attending in person, including appropriate courtroom attire, behavior, and language.
- c. Remote attendees must appear from a location that does not disrupt the court proceeding and allows the attendee to participate without distractions. Attendees must never appear in a court proceeding while operating a vehicle.

- Juvenile court judges should consider the following factors when deciding whether a hearing will be in person or virtually.
 - Individual needs of youth and parents:
 - access to technology, including availability of Webex kiosks or other similar accommodations to facilitate participation in a virtual hearing;
 - transportation and travel challenges, including distance of residence from the courthouse (out of county, etc);
 - accommodation for youth enrolled in school; and
 - accommodation for working parents.
 - Case Circumstances:
 - feasibility of a virtual hearing or transport for an incarcerated parent;
 - whether a case is high-profile;
 - whether a youth or parent would benefit from face-to-face interaction with the judge;
 - youth or parent lack of engagement;
 - youth is in a remote out of home placement and transport is not feasible; and
 - youth or parent display a lack of understanding of court processes or orders.
 - Hearing Circumstances:
 - whether the hearing is a procedural or substantive type hearing;
 - whether evidence is being presented; and
 - whether witness testimony is required.
 - Judges should additionally consider comfort level, preferences, and health accommodations of parties and teams.
- Justice court judges and district court judges should consider the following factors when deciding whether a hearing will be in person or virtually.
 - Does an existing statute, rule, or principle of law require an in-person hearing? Can the mandatory nature of that requirement be waived by the parties (or by a single party)?
 - Do all parties have sufficient access to technology for virtual hearings?
 - What is the substantive or procedural importance of the hearing?

 - Does the type of hearing allow the parties to have access to counsel of their choice?
 - Would the parties or their counsel be required to travel long distances for an in-person hearing?
 - Is there a significant cost to a party for an in-person hearing (e.g., money, time, lost work, child care, cost of transportation from jail for civil proceeding, etc.)?

- Do the parties have a stated preference for a certain type of hearing? If so, how and when do parties state their hearing-type preference?
- Are the judge and court staff able to manage a virtual or hybrid courtroom effectively?
- Does the hearing make efficient use of judicial resources, facilities, and court personnel?
- Will a party be prejudiced from requiring an in-person, virtual, or hybrid hearing?
- Will the type of hearing unreasonably delay the progress of the case, increase expense, or complicate resolution of any issue?
- Will the type of hearing unreasonably limit the court's ability to assess credibility, voluntariness, or comprehension?
- Is there a fairness concern because one party has easier access to the courthouse, or greater facility with technology, and is seeking a strategic advantage?
- Does the type of hearing allow for greater access to effective interpretation services?
- Is there enough time to give notice for people to make appropriate arrangements—especially where there is a change from one hearing type to another?
- Does the type of hearing—particularly virtual and hybrid hearings—allow parties to share documents?
- In virtual and hybrid hearings, will the participants have prior or simultaneous access to documents, photos, etc., that are submitted to the courtroom?
- Appellate court judges should consider the following factors when deciding whether a hearing will be in person or virtually.
 - What are the locations of parties and the costs of travel? Does requiring one party to travel a significantly greater distance to the courthouse create fairness issues?
 - What are the unintended impacts of having appellate courts that operate from only one courthouse in the state? Does this geographic reality impact decisions to file appeals?
 - Would in-person or virtual oral argument increase the diversity of the appellate bar? Would it increase the diversity of the appellate bench?
 - Which method(s) do the parties prefer for making their oral arguments?
 - Which method does the appellate bench prefer for holding oral argument? Because oral argument is designed to be an opportunity for judicial officers to ask questions presented in briefing, does this preference hold more weight than the preference of the parties?
 - Does the type of case matter in making the decision on remote vs. in-person?
- Court-wide best practices
 - Each court location should update judicial officers, court staff, patrons, attorneys, and community partners (e.g., the prison and jails) on relevant Webex updates and process changes. This may include a page on the court website for updates and regular revisions to posted Webex guides.

- Each court calendar should clearly indicate if a hearing is scheduled to be held in person or through a virtual or hybrid hearing. If the calendar setting is for a virtual or hybrid hearing, the Webex link for the hearing should be included on the calendar for the parties, public, and media to access, as appropriate (i.e., some hearings — such as adoptions — are not open to the general public or media and would therefore not have a publicly-accessible Webex link).
 - A party who shows up at the courthouse for a virtual hearing — whether due to calendaring confusion or inability to access a virtual hearing on their own — should be provided access to participate in the virtual hearing. To facilitate this access, kiosks should be available at every courthouse for patrons to participate in virtual hearings as needed.
 - To address current challenges with the courts’ network bandwidth, it is recommended that court employees working at a court location avoid using the wireless network and instead connect to the wired network whenever and wherever possible.
 - Court employees working at the same court location who attend a virtual meeting should gather as a group in a single location to attend the meeting from a single device and network connection as this reduces bandwidth pressure on the courts’ network.
 - The public wireless networks in each court location share a statewide connection, resulting in limited capacity to support parties, attorneys, and members of the public who may expect to use the courts’ public wireless network to attend remote hearings. These court participants should connect to virtual hearings using networks other than the courts’ public wireless networks at the courthouse.

2	Notices: Plain Language	Notices should be easy to understand (i.e., in plain language, avoiding abbreviations or having standard abbreviations; etc.).
3	Notices: Hearing Changes	If a hearing is changed from in person to virtual or vice versa after notice was sent, a new timely notice should be provided to all participants.
4	Notices: Self-Represented Parties	If a self-represented party has provided an email address, notices should be sent by email. When possible, MyCase should be the preferred method for such communication.
5	Technical Assistance for Virtual Hearing Participants	Each court location should have a technical assistance phone number that is included on every hearing notice. Ideally this number should be specific to each court location, but at a minimum should connect the participant to a qualified individual who can: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> a) assist the participant to resolve technical issues; AND b) communicate immediately with the judicial officer's judicial assistant that the participant is attempting to connect to the virtual hearing but is experiencing technical issues.
6	Calendar Capacity	Virtual hearings may take longer and should be scheduled appropriately.
7	Webex Greeting	Participants should be greeted by a screen in Webex to confirm for participants and the public that they are in the right virtual location. For example, the screen could display the name of the judge, the time hearings are scheduled to begin, and what to do while waiting.
8	Instructions: Evidence	Judicial officers and judicial assistants should provide participants with clear instructions on how to submit and present evidence to the court during a virtual hearing.

JUDICIAL OFFICERS & COURT STAFF
9	Instructions: Expectations	If possible, any specific expectations of the parties should be clearly communicated to the parties in advance (e.g., if a camera is required for the party's participation in the hearing, if parties are expected to have spoken/negotiated before the hearing or if breakout rooms will be available for that purpose, etc.). These expectations could be provided in a flier, district-level standing order, or the Judicial Council may want to create a rule.
10	Instructions: Hearing Processes	The judicial officer or judicial assistant should provide hearing-specific instruction on virtual hearing processes (e.g., how a party/attorney should inform the court when their case is ready to be called). "How to" materials could be created for attorneys new to virtual hearings (how to find the calendar/hearing information, tips on how to communicate with clients if they are not in the same location during the hearing, how to prepare clients, how interpretation works during hearings, communicating with opposing side in advance of the hearing, use of breakout rooms, how to present evidence, etc.)
11	Instructions: Use of Webex	The courts should provide clear instructions explaining how to use Webex. "How to" materials could be created for all Webex users. Materials for attorneys new to virtual hearings might include how to find the calendar/hearing information, tips on how to communicate with clients if they are not in the same location during the hearing, how to prepare clients, how interpretation works during hearings, communicating with opposing side in advance of the hearing, use of breakout rooms, how to present evidence, etc.
12	Interpretation & Accommodation	When an interpreter is needed, judicial assistants should make arrangements for simultaneous interpretation if possible (or direct the party or attorney on how to arrange for simultaneous interpretation). The process for requesting other accommodations should be clearly communicated to participants.
13	Ongoing Training	Judicial officers and judicial assistants should receive ongoing training on Webex and other necessary virtual hearing technology.
14	Experience Sharing	The courts should provide regular opportunities for judicial officers, court staff, patrons, and stakeholders to share their feedback on the use of the virtual hearings.

- Best practices for court patrons

COURT PATRONS
1	Decorum Expectations	Participants SHOULD: h) remember that a virtual courtroom is subject to the same

COURT PATRONS
		standards of behavior and decorum as in-person court; <ul style="list-style-type: none"> i) dress appropriately for a court appearance; j) be focused on the proceedings by pre-arranging care for other obligations that may need attention during the hearing (i.e., children, pets, etc.); and k) if late for a hearing, remain in the Webex proceeding until the judicial officer has finished calling through the other scheduled hearings before alerting the judicial officer. Participants SHOULD NOT: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> l) speak over another party or an interpreter; m) interrupt when joining a virtual hearing that has already started (remain muted until their case is called); and n) eat, drink, smoke, or drive during the hearing.
2	Technology Expectations	Participants SHOULD: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> g) Location – plan on joining the virtual hearing from a suitable location that is quiet, private, and allows the participant to focus; h) Camera – have video enabled and be visible to the court when participating in a proceeding, choosing a camera angle that avoids background distractions; i) Lighting – avoid camera angles that position a window or other bright light behind the participant (this often results in poor video quality and obscures the participant's face); j) Audio – be aware of and try to minimize background noises; k) Calling in on a non-smartphone – avoid joining a virtual hearing via a non-smartphone, as it will limit Webex functionality (e.g., the participant won't be able to be moved into a separate virtual room to talk with an attorney); and l) Bandwidth – use a network with sufficient bandwidth for a stable connection to the virtual hearing OR use a computer kiosk at the courthouse to join a virtual proceeding.

- Best practices for attorneys

ATTORNEYS
1	Expectations	Expectations for attorneys should be outlined and disseminated. For example, attorneys SHOULD: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> g) Title & Name – ensure their Webex name displays their title followed by their full name (i.e., Defense Attorney Atticus Finch); h) Camera – have video enabled and be visible to the court when participating in a proceeding, choosing a camera angle that avoids background distractions; i) Audio – be aware of and try to minimize background noises, and

ATTORNEYS
		use a quality microphone to help ensure an accurate record; j) Attire – dress appropriately for a court appearance; k) Simultaneous hearings – log into multiple simultaneous hearings only if the attorney can effectively manage participation in each hearing, ensuring appropriate, timely, and responsive communication with each court; and l) NEVER drive during an appearance.

- Best practices for jails and prisons

PRISON & JAILS
1	Stakeholder Meetings	Stakeholder meetings should be held to discuss and establish best practices between the courts and the prison / jails, including: d) communication processes to notify the correctional facility if a hearing will be in person or virtual so appropriate transportation or virtual appearance can be arranged; e) the need for each correctional facility to provide at least two Webex-equipped rooms per court calendar to facilitate attorney / client communication in a breakout room, while the court moves forward with other cases in the remaining room. f) the need for each correctional facility to have a dedicated phone that an interpreter can use to provide simultaneous interpretation during the hearing to an inmate with limited english proficiency.

- The Supreme Court should establish a “good cause” standard that hearing participants must demonstrate in requesting to appear opposite the decision of the judicial officer. The Supreme Court should charge its various advisory committees with defining the “good cause” standard through rule. The Supreme Court should establish an appeal process when a hearing participant believes a judicial officer is not appropriately applying the “good cause” standard as defined in the relevant procedural rules. Because the “good cause” standard may vary between procedural rule chapters, it will likely be necessary for each procedural rule chapter to define an appeal process.
- All initial filings by self-represented litigants should be made in person or via US mail. The Judicial Council should amend its rules to specifically authorize self-represented litigants to make subsequent filings (after the initial filing) in a case through email. Notwithstanding the above, a patron seeking a civil protective order or civil stalking injunction be allowed to file their initial request via email due to the significant access and safety concerns implicated in these proceedings.
- The judiciary should gather and analyze data, including data from court patrons and stakeholders as well as data about virtual and in-person hearings, to see how virtual hearings are serving the public and advancing the mission of the judiciary.

Summary

When Governor Gary Herbert declared a state of emergency to enable the State of Utah to respond to novel coronavirus disease 2019 (COVID-19) on March 6, 2020, the landscape of justice changed rapidly. Since March 13, 2020, the Utah Supreme Court and the Utah Judicial Council have issued numerous Administrative Orders governing court operations during the pandemic to protect the public from the spread of disease. During this time, and out of necessity, the Utah State Courts relied on the use of Webex to conduct remote hearings and other court business statewide. Along the way, tools and processes were initiated to allow for fully remote hearings. Some are now working on returning to in-person hearings.

In the fall of 2021, the Access to Justice Commission (“ATJ Commission”) began studying remote hearings in Utah by conducting a survey of Utah court patrons and practitioners. The ATJ Commission initially partnered with the National Center for State Courts as part of a national review. The Commission then narrowed its focus to a Utah-specific survey. The data from this survey is the basis for this report. The focus of this study was determining whether and how remote hearings resulted in access to equal justice for people in Utah.

Based on the data collected, Utah court patrons and practitioners strongly prefer remote hearings, at least for some types of court hearings and activities. Court operations over Webex are done with courtesy and in a timely manner. While there are occasional issues, Webex sound and video are highly rated. Most importantly, remote hearings have increased access to equal justice for many people. Survey respondents list benefits that include being better able to provide representation in rural Utah, not having to miss work, and not having to pay for childcare and travel as strong benefits. Based on these due process and convenience factors, Utah courts should work to include remote access moving forward.

Method

A sample of data from Utah court patrons and practitioners was collected through two different online surveys. The first was prepared by the National Center for State Courts as a Utah-specific questionnaire using Qualtrics (“NCSC Survey”).⁶ Data through the NCSC survey currently includes 101 responses, collected from September 24, 2021, through June 5, 2022, with continuing responses anticipated.

The second was developed by the Access to Justice Commission Court User Survey Workgroup using SurveyMonkey (“ATJ Survey”).⁷ Data from the ATJ survey currently includes 119 responses, collected from March 14 through June 5, 2022, with responses continuing to accumulate. At present there are 220 individual records. Seven responses were excluded due to incomplete information, for a total sample of 213.

Limitations

There are limitations to the data collected through this survey of Utah court patrons and practitioners. Survey responses were primarily collected through a pilot program in the Third Judicial District. The combined responses are sufficient to draw several conclusions, but the data is less certain for some types of court use. For example, certain districts are under- or unrepresented, in part as a natural consequence of state population distribution and in part due to the constraints of the pilot study. Surveys were mostly collected by sending a link by email, reducing responses from call-in users. In addition, the survey did not collect any responses from jurors or witnesses, so it includes limited information on the efficacy of remote hearings for jury trials or complex litigation. To keep the survey small, important questions were not asked and they merit further study such as the impact of remote hearings on privacy or on victims of abuse.

Survey Participants

Surveys were sent or given to parties (plaintiffs and defendants), lawyers, agency workers, family members, and friends after they appeared in a Utah court. Agency workers include people from the Department of Child and Family Services, the Division of Juvenile Justice Services, and other court advocates. The sample population is based on respondents' ability and willingness to participate, not a scientific or fully representative sample. One district court, one justice court, and one juvenile court judicial team sent surveys to their court patrons.⁸ Starting in April, the Access to Justice Office of the Utah State Bar sent surveys to participants in the Third District immediate occupancy and debt collection calendars. The ATJ Office also sent surveys to volunteer attorneys in their programs. Links to the online surveys were provided through a variety of channels, including by email, text message, insertion in the Webex chat, and QR code.

Survey Content

The NCSC survey included 24 multipart questions and took approximately 5 minutes to complete. The ATJ survey was reduced to 19 questions that were included in the NCSC survey. The typical time spent completing this survey was 2 minutes and 2 seconds.

Both surveys included qualitative and quantitative questions about demographics, accessing remote proceedings, type and location of court use, their preferences, and other aspects of their experiences. The objective was to understand how court patrons and practitioners experienced virtual services in Utah courts. Data includes matching responses combined from surveys.

Survey Data and What It Tells Us

The 213 survey respondents combined from the NCSC and ATJ Surveys represent a population of parties (116), lawyers (69), agency workers (22), and family members and friends (5) who are diverse in their age, method of accessing the remote hearing, location, and type of court use. They represent actual court patrons and practitioners who appeared in a Utah district, justice, or juvenile court from fall 2021 to spring 2022. The NCSC Survey was slanted towards plaintiffs and defendants who comprised 90% of NCSC Survey respondents. The ATJ Survey respondents included more nonparties: 55% lawyers and 19% agency workers. Because court uses include juvenile matters, respondents included minors.

Respondents provided feedback in these key areas:

1. Stating a preference to participate in-person or remotely.
2. Evaluating whether the court team treated everyone with courtesy and respect.
3. Assessing if they got their court business done in a reasonable amount of time.
4. Rating the quality of Webex sound and video.

Age of Respondents

There were 199 respondents who self-identified their age by selecting from a range of ages. Most people were between 18 years and 49 years old (55%):

- 47 respondents aged 18 - 34 years (22%)
- 72 respondents aged 35 - 49 years (33%)

Minor children aged 17 or younger were 3% of the sample. The remainder included 21% respondents aged 50 - 64, 13% aged 65 or older and the remaining 8% did not respond to this field.

Age of Survey Respondents

Accessing Court

Hearings or Other Activities

The combined survey provided these options for how respondents accessed court: face-to-face at the courthouse, remotely using a court kiosk, remotely using a personal computer or laptop, remotely using a cell phone, iPad, or tablet, remotely from jail, prison, or detention center, remotely from a hospital, and other. Most respondents appeared remotely either using a personal computer or laptop (109) or using a cell phone, iPad, or tablet (71). There were some respondents who attended in-person (9) or used a court kiosk (2).

Locations Where Respondents Attended Court

Respondents appeared in district court (37%), justice court for small claims or criminal cases (34%), and juvenile court (19%).

Survey Respondents Participated in District, Justice, and Juvenile Courts

The ATJ Survey asked specifically about judicial district, while the NCSC did not. The ATJ Survey included responses from the 1st, 2nd, 3rd, 4th, 5th, and 7th Districts; however, most were from the Third District (77%).

All respondents were able to self-identify by county, but most were from Salt Lake County (176 responses in Salt Lake County, 22 blank for this field, and 16 responses from outside of Salt Lake County).

Open-Ended Responses

The survey asked this open-ended response question, “Please provide additional comments or suggestions about your experience today,” to allow respondents the opportunity to further comment on their experiences and give additional insights. Most people gave positive comments about their experiences but there were a few negative reactions. Overall, these open-ended responses tell a story of why there is such a strong preference for remote hearings, suggestions for continuing remotely, some of the problems, and why remote hearings remove access to justice obstacles for many.

Here are some examples of participant open responses received:

Ease: “Much easier to do virtually than find time, transportation, parking.”

Appendix B - Utah Survey of Court Users

Less Intimidating: “I felt the judge was more relaxed with the virtual court. I was much more comfortable at my work rather than standing in front of him. I felt it much easier to speak to him though I could see him and he could see me it was much calmer.”

Increased Representation: “I would not have been able to accept and represent in this case if it were not conducted remotely as it was in St. George and I am in Salt Lake.”

Better Access: “Love WebEx. Very efficient and allows for the best access to justice.”

Economic Savings: “I appreciate the flexibility and savings in gas!”

New Standard: “I think it’s nice to do the small cases remotely. The big cases could be used for the court such as criminal prosecutions since they require a lot of time Not everyone has the gas money nor the time to attend a hearing due to the demands from their job. It should be the new standard going forward after the pandemic so you guys can handle case loads faster.”

Too Lax: “The hearing was a couple of weeks ago, and I thought the time permitted for argument was excessive and the judge should have done more to require opposing counsel to conduct himself with professionalism and civility.”

No Covid Restrictions: “Court hearings should be in person, perhaps other than simple scheduling matters. No Covid restrictions should be imposed on any participants. Mask wearing should be discouraged, particularly for parties, attorneys, and judges.”

Tech Issues: “Horrible. I was never able to join the court proceedings because I never received the email with the link. I received an email a few days before, saying that an additional email would be sent to me, but I never received that email, and thus, could not join the court proceedings. This is not my fault at all.”

Need Clear Instruction: “... It may benefit a defendant to have a knowledge of each step involved in a case provided by the prosecution, including any possible deviations. Step by step knowledge of procedures would have greatly reduced the intimidation. (A ‘timeline’, printed chronological order of appointments and the purpose of each would save court staff countless hours answering the same questions that inevitably are asked and give confidence to all parties.)”

Inefficiency of In-person: “Remote hearings should be the default, except where testimony or evidence need be presented. In-person attendance is wasteful and inefficient.”

Job Stability: “Webex allows my clients to attend more hearings and still keep their jobs. It is vastly more efficient.”

Time & Money Savings: “Professionally conducted. Clear audio and video. Saves a lot of time and travel.”

Key Findings

This court user survey reveals important benefits to holding remote hearings. Remote hearings have made court more accessible, whether the participant was young or old, in the metro area or more rural, in small claims or district court. Participants believe remote hearings are usually handled professionally and they feel respected. They recognize Webex provides adequate sound and video. They appreciate the convenience as well as the savings in time and money.

75% of all Utah participants prefer remote hearings regardless of how they accessed court, their age, or location.

The most conclusive finding from the Court User Survey is that every type of participant strongly prefers remote access. Seventy-five percent of all survey respondents prefer remote hearings and only sixteen percent selected in-person (the other nine percent left this field blank). Comparing this preference by type of participant reveals interesting information. Based on this breakdown, it becomes clear that lawyers are participants who most want court to be in-person. Yet even this category shows that the majority of lawyers prefer remote access. Moreover, the people with the most to gain or lose – plaintiffs and petitioners, defendants and respondents, and their family, guardians, or friends – overwhelmingly prefer remote court hearings. This same trend can be found when considering preference of access by age.

All Types of Participants Prefer Remote Access

Appendix B - Utah Survey of Court Users

The robust preference for remote access is found in every age range. As one might expect, younger users would rather appear in court remotely. In fact, 100% of participants under the age of 17 selected this option. More surprisingly, 93% of older adults 65 years or over also expressed a clear preference for attending virtually. Perhaps this is due to mobility, transportation, or other factors, but it dispels the stereotype of older people struggling with technology. Participants aged 50-64 were the most likely to select the in-person option, and still 73% of this range preferred remote hearings. Ultimately, no matter what age the participant was, they prefer to access court remotely by either computer, laptop, or phone.

People of All Ages Prefer Remote Access

Even the type of court did not impact this preference for remote access by court patrons and practitioners. In fact, 78% of district court, 84% of justice court, and 85% of juvenile court participants all expressed preference for remote hearings. This data displays the importance of asking and acting on information instead of doing what might seem easier or more intuitive.

Utah survey participants are treated with courtesy and respect by the court.

There is a clear showing that survey participants feel they are treated with courtesy and respect by the judicial team and the judge. In the survey, respondents were asked to rate this by strongly agreeing, agreeing, being neutral, disagreeing, or strongly disagreeing. Out of 213 responses, 84% agreed with this statement with 70% “strongly agreeing.”

Utah survey participants get court business done in a reasonable amount of time whether they participate remotely or in-person.

Survey participants were asked if they were able to get their court business done in a reasonable amount of time by strongly agreeing, agreeing, being neutral, disagreeing, or strongly disagreeing. Out of 213 responses, 76% agreed with this statement with 58% “strongly agreeing.” While this is somewhat lower than their courtesy and respect rating, it is still a very positive response.

The quality of Webex sound and video are suitable for conducting the court business of Utah survey participants.

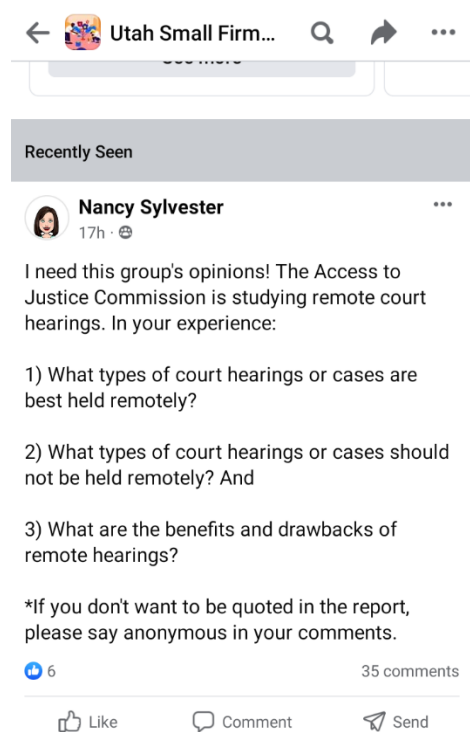

The Webex platform provides adequate sound and video quality, which allows survey respondents to participate in remote hearings. The NCSC and ATJ Surveys asked this question differently, so responses cannot be combined.⁹ However, the results show participants generally had a very positive view of Webex sound and video quality. For example, 72% of NCSC Survey respondents said they experienced no issues with being able to hear or be heard. Sound quality was rated even higher by ATJ Survey respondents: only 2 people said the sound quality was “Very Bad” and nobody selected “Bad.” This means that less than two percent negatively rated Webex sound quality. Moreover, 81.3% of NCSC Survey respondents said they experienced no issues with being able to see or be seen. Again, video was rated even higher by ATJ Survey respondents: less than one percent gave a negative rating; only 1 respondent said the quality was “Very Bad” and none selected “Bad.” This data shows most participants were satisfied that they could adequately hear and/or see during their remote hearing.

Snapshot: Dialogue from Lawyers in the Field

The data from the combined surveys provides useful information, yet it does not allow for conversation. The Court User Survey Workgroup recognized this and wanted to provide a channel for lawyers to discuss their personal experiences with remote court hearings. To collect this more qualitative information, they posted a query to the Utah Small Firm Attorney Network (USFAN), which is a Facebook group with over 900 Utah lawyers. USFAN actively discussed the merits and drawbacks of remote hearings. They also gave several suggestions on which types of hearings or cases were best suited for remote court. Other group members could respond and react to each comment.¹⁰ Some interesting themes, considerations, and suggestions are represented in their dialogue.

⁹ The NCSC Survey asked, “Were there any issues with the sound or audio that made it difficult to hear or be heard?” and “Were there any issues with the video that made it difficult to see or be seen?” The possible responses to both were “All of the time,” “Most of the time,” “Some of the time,” or “None of the time.” The ATJ Survey asked, “If you ATTENDED BY WEBEX, rate the quality of the SOUND” and “If you ATTENDED BY WEBEX, rate the quality of the VIDEO.” The possible responses to both ATJ questions were “Very bad,” “Bad,” “Neutral,” “Good,” “Very Good,” and “Not Applicable.”

The group strongly supported the continuation of remote court for most hearings. As to which are best done remotely, many agreed evidentiary hearings, especially those involving witness testimony or complex, voluminous documents should be done in-person whenever possible. For instance, Scott Wiser received 15 “likes” for this comment, “I think Webex should be the default for everything short of trials and evidentiary hearings, and even then Webex appearances should be liberally granted for good cause” Some advocated for remote hearings being the standard even when they include live testimony. Melissa Bean explained, “I’ve been pleased with almost everything by remote access – even live testimony ... I honestly can’t think of many cases that would necessitate in-person hearings.” Yet others noted technology issues can sometimes require reconstructing the record to make sure it is clear. Many suggested a hybrid approach where the lawyer and/or the parties could choose.

Group members acknowledged there can be drawbacks to remote hearings. Common weaknesses discussed were the lack of spontaneous negotiations and problem-solving or the occasional technical glitch. There was also some back-and-forth debate on the ability of the judge to make assessments of the truthfulness and character of witnesses. Marco Brown said he believed that the judge really needs to see a witness live and in-person. There were counterexamples, e.g., “I find that having the four parties on the screen actually allows the judge to really ‘see’ a party’s tells¹¹ much easier than in court.”

A significant part of the Group’s dialogue centered on issues involving access to equal justice and fairness. Many people highlighted the benefits of remote hearings:

1. Remote hearings allow greater access to lawyers, especially in rural areas. Justin Caplin shared, “An attorney can take hearings in Kanab and Cedar and Beaver, Panguitch, and even more remote cities and counties without having to drive 1 to 3 hours each way.”
2. All participants receive a cost savings in transportation and childcare.
3. Clients have lower legal costs. Christopher M. Guymon explained, “Instead of charging my client for 1+ hours per hearing, I often only need to charge .2 or .3 hours, so often I would say remote hearings save my clients a significant amount of money.” Jill Coil added, “It’s also allowed my attorneys to take in more clients. Now with us going back to court case load must go down which means we can’t serve as many.”

¹⁰ Some patterns and key ideas from the USFAN group are presented here, and the full Facebook dialogue, with replies and reactions, is attached as Exhibit A.

¹¹ Webster’s Dictionary defines a “tell” as an inadvertent behavior or mannerism that betrays a poker player’s true thoughts, intentions, or emotions. In this context, the commentor is likening a party’s revealing gestures, expressions, etc., to a poker player’s tell.

4. Remote hearings help stabilize jobs for clients who do not have to miss work. This is true because “A party can participate in a remote hearing from home or from the office without having to take a half day or full day off from work to drive downtown, especially when the majority of time at the courthouse is waiting for the other several cases to be called before theirs.”
5. Appearing virtually or on the phone saves time and is more convenient for clients and practitioners. “As a single parent and solo practitioner,” Sarah Larsen said, “I have really appreciated having most things remote” as it saves her time from not having to commute to be with her family.

Some lawyers noted that when dealing with indigent people or those who are incarcerated, additional issues need to be considered. If they do not have access to internet or a phone, it is important to have these resources available to them in a convenient and private location. Also, allowing incarcerated people to conduct “any and all civil hearings” remotely is important because “they have to pay separately for transport on civil issues,” said Brandon L. Merrill. While these anecdotal experiences and ideas are not quantitatively verified, they provide context and important qualitative information to help fill in some of the information missing from the Court User Survey.

Snapshot: A View from the Bench

Judges were not included the Court User Survey. However, Utah Judge Angela Fannesbeck shared a view “of the benefits and pitfalls of Webex or other virtual hearing platforms, and how they coincide with professional ethics and a lawyer’s responsibilities to the court and clients” in the July/August Utah Bar Journal.¹² Judge Fannesbeck acknowledges remote hearings have expanded access to equal justice for many people. She notes that for court patrons it is a less costly option that reduces the cost of legal representation, limits time away from work and removes transportation issues.¹³ Remote hearings also benefit lawyers by increasing productivity and preventing delays. Even witnesses benefit, especially if they are out-of-town or need protection.

Yet there are drawbacks to the system. Judge Fannesbeck explains that presenting evidence and properly identifying people can be challenging.¹⁴ Technology problems can make it difficult to hear or participate. She suggested there are also negative intangible consequences to virtual hearings like the informal nature of the proceedings including people wearing pajamas, revealing clothing, or appearing in public places.¹⁵ Judge Fannesbeck gives concrete ways that many of these obstacles in remote hearings can be overcome by following the guidelines and rules provided in the Utah Code of Judicial Administration and the Supreme Court Rules of Professional Practice.¹⁶ Ultimately, she expressed that virtual hearings “have both virtue and vice that can be successfully navigated by the court, the attorneys, and the participants” as long as they each actively work together.¹⁷ This balanced and nuanced approach can maximize the advantages and minimize the shortcomings of remote hearings.

Comparison with Other State Reporting

Utah responses align with similar data collected from other states which did not have the same study limitations. For example, the DC Bar Foundation commissioned a study on the perspectives of family law litigants on remote hearings and published the report in December 2021.¹⁸ The DC report showed that “remote hearings worked well for most people. Most study participants reported being satisfied with their remote proceedings” in a diverse array of family law case types, including child custody, child support, domestic violence, and divorce.¹⁹ Specifically, the DC report found that:

- 73% appreciated not having to find and pay for transportation to/from the courthouse,
- 62% appreciated not having to take time off work or school,
- 60% appreciated not having to find childcare, and
- 72% felt safer and less threatened by the opposing party.²⁰

The Texas Office of Court Administration partnered with the National Center for State Courts to study the use of remote hearings and the impact on judicial workload.²¹ The Texas report also highlighted the benefits of remote hearings for court users including “not needing to take time off work, locate transportation, or find childcare.” and noting it can be “emotionally easier” for some parties to not be in the same room.²²

While Utah has a court environment that is distinct from these states, the similarity of these findings further validate this report: providing options and support for remote hearings improves the court experience and increases access to justice for many patrons and practitioners.

Obstacles to Participation in Remote Hearings

While remote hearings promote access to justice for many, there are obstacles to participating in remote hearings. Commonly cited examples include language barriers, accessibility, and technological challenges.²³ These obstacles have been and continue to be overcome through strategic planning and targeted resources.

Court patrons may be non-English speakers or have only a limited understanding. They also may lack full literacy or comprehension. Potential solutions include providing translation services, making court documents and instructions available in other languages, and preparing explainer videos that can be distributed online, via email, and by text message.

Court patrons and practitioners may have a recognized disability under the Americans with Disabilities Act²⁴ or experience other accessibility issues. These are often referred to as the “digital divide” meaning lack of or poor connectivity to internet or Wi-Fi signal, limited access to email, restrictions on phone minutes or data plans and other barriers to remote access.²⁵ Solutions to accommodate ADA disabilities can include offering closed captioning, keyboard accessibility, screen reader support, and having automatic transcripts available.²⁶ To bridge the digital divide, having a call-in only option for remote hearings is essential. Other solutions include court use kiosks and working with libraries and other community partners to help provide access.

Remote hearings require some level of technical proficiency in either internet or phone use. For some it can be challenging to access the necessary technology. However, similar to the above discussion on accessibility, having strong partnerships with libraries, social service providers, and other community partners can help provide needed support. Other solutions include providing explainer videos and clear instructions written in plain language. Having staff available to provide support and troubleshooting if video or sound issues occur can help correct problems that may arise.

Acknowledging there are obstacles to remote hearings is not a sufficient reason to require in-person attendance at court. Instead, this recognition can be the touchstone for change and progress. In fact, organizations like the National Center for State Courts continue to develop and release guidelines, best practices, and ways to overcome problems to effectively manage hybrid and fully remote hearings. These efforts become even more important when looking at the barriers many Utah communities face when seeking legal representation.

Barriers to Accessing Legal Representation

Deciding whether Utah State Courts will go back in-person or continue to offer remote attendance will affect all Utahns. However, it will hit some Utah communities much more than others. There is a vast divide in how many lawyers are available based solely on where the person needing legal representation lives. This division plainly emerges when comparing the cases filed per attorney to the number of attorneys available in each Utah county.

Utah has 29 counties, and there are 8677 active attorneys in Utah.²⁷ In its directory, the Utah State Bar lists the county associated with each lawyer's preferred address. Legal representation deficiencies in many counties appear when this information is compared to the number of 2021 Utah district, justice, and juvenile court cases filed.

Utah County	# of Active Attorneys	Cases Per Attorney (District, Justice, and Juvenile for FY2021)
Salt Lake	5211	39

A person living in Salt Lake County can hire a local lawyer located near where they live and by the courthouse. A person living in Iron or Uintah County most likely can choose from several lawyers.

However, a person living in Beaver, Piute, Garfield, or San Juan will almost certainly struggle to find an attorney unless they can pay for and hire an out-of-town lawyer. Making the decision to continue offering remote hearings, at least for some people, cases, and circumstances can alleviate this disparity.

Recommendations

1. Utah courts should continue offering remote hearings. At a minimum, remote hearings are strongly preferred and more efficient for at least some hearings and types of actions.
2. Non-binary options for remote participation should be available, where some parts of the case may be held virtually or by video while other parts are in-person. This will remove barriers to making an appearance in court for both patrons and practitioners.
3. Hybrid options for appearing remotely should be used for ADA accommodations; resolving mobility issues for older adults; reducing the economic impact of in-person court caused by getting time off work; the cost of traveling to court and obtaining childcare; and promoting patron safety.
4. Clear explainers of common court procedures (like how to use Webex) should be created using plain language. These materials should be provided in written form and by video, which is then emailed and texted to court users as well as posted online. Written instructions can be translated into other languages as well.
5. Utah courts should conduct further study to determine which hearings and types of actions are best done remotely and which are better held in-person. They may consider expanding this court user survey to additional judicial teams statewide for this purpose.

Rule 11-105\(5\)\(B\) – Supreme Court Action on Rule Modifications.

Previously suspended by the Administrative Order, dated 4/11/2022, as follows:

Rules 2-205 and 11-105(5)(B) of the Utah Rules of Judicial Administration are suspended to the extent they require a rule amendment that has been adopted on an expedited basis to be immediately published for comment and to be published for 45 days. Rule amendments will be published for public comment as directed by the body that adopts the rule, including reducing the time for public comment.

Rule 4-503 – Mandatory Electronic Filing

The Judicial Council should amend this rule to accommodate email filing in some circumstances.

Rule 2-103 – Open and closed meetings.

While the Judicial Council already provides notice to the public about its meetings (through the Utah Public Notices website), the Judicial Council should consider including in that notice the Webex link to the meeting.

UTAH STATE COURTS

UTAH JUDICIAL COUNCIL

FINDINGS AND RECOMMENDATIONS REGARDING ONGOING USE OF VIRTUAL MEETING TECHNOLOGY TO CONDUCT COURT PROCEEDINGS

November 10, 2022

In February 2022, the Judicial Council established the Green Phase Working Group and directed it to study and make recommendations about the ongoing use of virtual meeting technology in court proceedings. The Judicial Council acknowledges the exhaustive work of the members and staff of the Green Phase Working Group. Their work culminated in a detailed, insightful, and instructive report containing recommendations and best practices regarding the use of virtual court hearings. On October 24, 2022, the Judicial Council adopted the recommendations and best practices with a few adjustments. Below are the findings and recommendations of the Judicial Council which reflect the adjustments made during their October 24, 2022 meeting. The full text of the Green Phase Working Group report is also attached. Where there are differences between this document and the report, this document governs.

Investments in IT Staff

The Judicial Council needs to continue to invest in resources necessary to support virtual and hybrid hearings and to provide training to employees and judicial officers.

Judicial Discretion

Judicial officers should consider the factors noted below in “Considerations for Judicial Officers” and other information relevant to the case, hearing, and parties and then determine whether a hearing will be in-person or virtual.

Hearing Participants Preference

The Judicial Council recommends the Supreme Court consider establishing a rule that allows hearing participants to request permission to appear opposite the decision of the judicial officer.

Guidelines

A judicial officer, courthouse, district, or bench may establish presumptions or guidelines for holding certain types of hearings in person or virtually.

Courtroom Technology

Courtroom technology must provide remote participants the same opportunity as in-person attendees to hear, view, and participate in the court proceeding.

Each district should develop a digital evidence plan to standardize how digital evidence is managed within the district.

Remote Attendee Obligations

A person who attends a court proceeding virtually must use a device and an internet connection that will contemporaneously transmit video and audio with sufficient quality to ensure a clear, verbatim record of the proceeding. If that technology is unavailable, the person must attend the court proceeding in person. The judicial officer may choose to require only audio transmission.

Remote attendees must observe the same courtroom decorum as those attending in person, including appropriate courtroom attire, behavior, and language.

Remote attendees must appear from a location that does not disrupt the court proceeding and allows the attendee to participate without distractions. Attendees must never appear in a court proceeding while operating a vehicle.

Considerations for Judicial Officers

Juvenile Court Judges and Commissioners

Juvenile court judges and commissioners should consider the following factors when deciding whether a hearing will be held in person or virtually.

- Individual needs of youth and parents
 - access to technology, including availability of Webex kiosks or other similar accommodations to facilitate participation in a virtual hearing;
 - transportation and travel challenges, including distance of residence from the courthouse;
 - accommodation for youth enrolled in school; and
 - accommodation for working parents
- Case Circumstances
 - feasibility of a virtual hearing or transport for an incarcerated parent;
 - whether a case is high-profile;
 - whether a youth or parent would benefit from face-to-face interaction with the judge;
 - youth or parent lack of engagement;
 - whether a youth is in a remote out-of-home placement and transport is not feasible; and
 - whether a youth or parent display a lack of understanding of court processes or orders
- Hearing Circumstances
 - whether the hearing is a procedural or substantive;
 - whether evidence is being presented; and
 - whether witness testimony is required
- Comfort level, preferences, and health accommodations of parties and teams

Justice Court Judges and District Court Judges and Commissioners

Justice court judges and district court judges and commissioners should consider the following factors when deciding whether a hearing will be held in person or virtually.

- Does an existing statute, rule, or principle of law require an in-person hearing? Can the mandatory nature of that requirement be waived by the parties (or by a single party)?
- Do all parties have sufficient access to technology for virtual hearings?
- What is the substantive or procedural importance of the hearing?
- Which type of hearing best promotes access to justice for the parties?
- Are the parties more comfortable with a virtual hearing (e.g., high-conflict domestic cases, protective order hearings, and civil stalking injunction hearings)?

- Does the type of hearing allow the parties to have access to counsel of their choice?
- Would the parties or their counsel be required to travel long distances for an in-person hearing?
- Is there a significant cost to a party for an in-person hearing (e.g., money, time, lost work, child care, cost of transportation from jail for a civil proceeding, etc.)?
- Do the parties have a stated preference for a certain type of hearing?
- Are the judge and court staff able to manage a virtual or hybrid courtroom effectively?
- Does the hearing make efficient use of judicial resources, facilities, and court personnel?
- Will a party be prejudiced by requiring an in-person, virtual, or hybrid hearing?
- Will the type of hearing unreasonably delay the progress of the case, increase expense, or complicate resolution of any issue?
- Will the type of hearing unreasonably limit the court's ability to assess credibility, voluntariness, or comprehension?
- Is there a fairness concern because one party has easier access to the courthouse, or greater facility with technology, and is seeking a strategic advantage?
- Does the type of hearing allow for greater access to effective interpretation services?
- Is there enough time to give notice for people to make appropriate arrangements—especially where there is a change from one hearing type to another?
- Does the type of hearing—particularly virtual and hybrid hearings—allow parties to share documents?
- In virtual and hybrid hearings, will the participants have prior or simultaneous access to documents, photos, etc., that are submitted to the courtroom?

Appellate Court Judges

Appellate court judges should consider the following factors when deciding whether a hearing will be held in person or virtually.

- What are the locations of parties and the cost of travel? Does requiring one party to travel a significantly greater distance to the courthouse create fairness issues?
- What are the unintended impacts of having appellate courts that operate from only one courthouse in the state? Does this geographic reality impact decisions to file appeals?
- Would in-person or virtual oral arguments increase the diversity of the appellate bar? Would it increase the diversity of the appellate bench?
- Which method(s) do the parties prefer for making their oral arguments?
- Which method does the appellate bench prefer for holding oral argument? Because oral argument is designed to be an opportunity for judicial officers to ask questions presented in briefing, does this preference hold more weight than the preference of the parties?
- Does the type of case matter in making the decision?

Filings by Self-Represented Litigants

Because in-person filing was not possible during the pandemic, districts accommodated email filing by self-represented litigants who were not able to file electronically. That practice proved helpful to self-represented litigants and also added to the workload of staff. Ideally, self-represented litigants would be able to file electronically through MyCase. However, that functionality will not be available for approximately 18 months. The Judicial Council asked its Policy, Planning, and Technology Committee to draft an amendment to the Code of Judicial Administration Rule 4-503 that establishes a statewide policy regarding email filing by self-represented litigants. That rule will govern the use of email filing until MyCase is fully functional.

The Judicial Council's Management Committee decided it is important to maintain consistency in the judiciary's approach to email filing between now and the time that an amended Rule 4-503 takes effect. As determined by the Management Committee, the interim statewide policy is self-represented litigants who are not able to file electronically may make any filing through email. This policy is effective immediately.

Data Collection

The judiciary will gather and analyze data, including data from court patrons and stakeholders as well as data about virtual and in-person hearings, to see how virtual hearings are serving the public and advancing the mission of the judiciary.

Best Practices

Court-wide best practices

Each court location should update judicial officers, court staff, patrons, attorneys, and community partners (e.g., the prison and jails) on relevant Webex updates and process changes. This may include a page on the court website for updates and regular revisions to posted Webex guides.

Each court calendar should clearly indicate if a hearing is scheduled to be held in person or through a virtual or hybrid hearing. If the calendar setting is for a virtual or hybrid hearing, the Webex link for the hearing should be included on the calendar for the parties, public, and media to access, as appropriate (i.e., some hearings — such as adoptions — are not open to the general public or media and would therefore not have a publicly-accessible Webex link). A party who shows up at the courthouse for a virtual hearing — whether due to calendaring confusion or inability to access a virtual hearing on their own — should be provided access to participate in the virtual hearing. To facilitate this access, kiosks should be available at every courthouse for patrons to participate in virtual hearings as needed.

To address current challenges with the courts' network bandwidth, it is recommended that court employees working at a court location avoid using the wireless network and instead connect to the wired network whenever and wherever possible.

Court employees working at the same court location who attend a virtual meeting should gather as a group in a single location to attend the meeting from a single device and network connection as this reduces bandwidth pressure on the courts' network.

The public wireless networks in each court location share a statewide connection, resulting in limited capacity to support parties, attorneys, and members of the public who may expect to use the courts' public wireless network to attend remote hearings. These court participants should connect to virtual hearings using networks other than the courts' public wireless networks at the courthouse.

Best Practices for Judicial Officers and Court Staff

JUDICIAL OFFICERS & COURT STAFF
1	Notices: Contents	All notices for virtual hearings should include at a minimum the following information (taking into consideration Rule 43 of the Utah Rules of Civil Procedure): <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • the date and time of the hearing; • the type of hearing — virtual, hybrid, or in-person; • the purpose of the hearing; • how to join the hearing, including: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> – the Webex link (or how to access that link); – if permitted, how to call-in for the hearing; – whether participant video must be enabled; – how to access virtual hearing kiosks at a court location; • what to expect at a virtual hearing; • how to file, serve, and present evidence; • what patrons should tell their witnesses; • contact information for technical assistance (see Recommendation #5); • the process for submitting and presenting evidence (see Recommendation #8); and • how to request interpretation or accommodation (see Recommendation #12).
2	Notices: Plain Language	Notices should be easy to understand (i.e., in plain language, avoiding abbreviations or having standard abbreviations; etc.).
3	Notices: Hearing Changes	If a hearing is changed from in person to virtual or vice versa after notice was sent, a new timely notice should be provided to all participants.
4	Notices: Self-Represented Parties	If a self-represented party has provided an email address, notices should be sent by email. When possible, MyCase should be the preferred method for such communication.

JUDICIAL OFFICERS & COURT STAFF
5	Technical Assistance for Virtual Hearing Participants	Each court location should have a technical assistance phone number that is included on every hearing notice. Ideally this number should be specific to each court location, but at a minimum should connect the participant to a qualified individual who can: a) assist the participant to resolve technical issues; and b) communicate immediately with the judicial officer's judicial assistant that the participant is attempting to connect to the virtual hearing but is experiencing technical issues.
6	Calendar Capacity	Virtual hearings may take longer and should be scheduled appropriately.
7	Webex Greeting	Participants should be greeted by a screen in Webex to confirm for participants and the public that they are in the right virtual location. For example, the screen could display the name of the judge, the time hearings are scheduled to begin, and what to do while waiting.
8	Instructions: Evidence	Judicial officers and judicial assistants should provide participants with clear instructions on how to submit and present evidence to the court during a virtual hearing.
9	Instructions: Expectations	If possible, any specific expectations of the parties should be clearly communicated to the parties in advance (e.g., if a camera is required for the party's participation in the hearing, if parties are expected to have spoken/negotiated before the hearing or if breakout rooms will be available for that purpose). These expectations could be provided in a flier, district-level standing order, or rule.
10	Instructions: Hearing Processes	The judicial officer or judicial assistant should provide hearing-specific instruction on virtual hearing processes (e.g., how a party/attorney should inform the court when their case is ready to be called). "How to" materials could be created for attorneys new to virtual hearings (e.g., how to find the calendar/hearing information, tips on how to communicate with clients if they are not in the same location during the hearing, how to prepare clients, how interpretation works during hearings, communicating with the opposing side in advance of the hearing, use of breakout rooms, how to present evidence).
11	Instructions: Use of Webex	The courts should provide clear instructions explaining how to use Webex. "How to" materials could be created for all Webex users. Materials for attorneys new to virtual hearings might include how to find the calendar/hearing information, tips on how to communicate with clients if they are not in the same location during the hearing, how to prepare clients, how interpretation works during hearings, communicating with opposing side in advance of the hearing, use of breakout rooms, and how to present evidence.

JUDICIAL OFFICERS & COURT STAFF
12	Interpretation & Accommodation	When an interpreter is needed, judicial assistants should make arrangements for simultaneous interpretation if possible (or direct the party or attorney on how to arrange for simultaneous interpretation). The process for requesting other accommodations should be clearly communicated to participants.
13	Ongoing Training	Judicial officers and judicial assistants should receive ongoing training on Webex and other necessary virtual hearing technology.
14	Experience Sharing	The courts should provide regular opportunities for judicial officers, court staff, patrons, and stakeholders to share their feedback on the use of virtual hearings.

Best Practices for Court Patrons

COURT PATRONS
1	Decorum Expectations	Participants SHOULD: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> a) remember that a virtual courtroom is subject to the same standards of behavior and decorum as in-person court; b) dress appropriately for a court appearance; c) be focused on the proceedings by pre-arranging care for other obligations that may need attention during the hearing (e.g., children and pets); and d) if late for a hearing, remain in the Webex proceeding until the judicial officer has finished calling through the other scheduled hearings before alerting the judicial officer. Participants SHOULD NOT: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> e) speak over another party or an interpreter; f) interrupt when joining a virtual hearing that has already started (remain muted until their case is called); and g) eat, drink, smoke, or drive during the hearing.

COURT PATRONS
2	Technology Expectations	Participants SHOULD: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> a) Location – plan on joining the virtual hearing from a suitable location that is quiet, private, and allows the participant to focus; b) Camera – have video enabled and be visible to the court when participating in a proceeding, choosing a camera angle that avoids background distractions; c) Lighting – avoid camera angles that position a window or other bright light behind the participant (this often results in poor video quality and obscures the participant’s face); d) Audio – be aware of and try to minimize background noises; e) Calling in on a non-smartphone – avoid joining a virtual hearing via a non-smartphone, as it will limit Webex functionality (e.g., the participant won’t be able to be moved into a separate virtual room to talk with an attorney); and f) Bandwidth – use a network with sufficient bandwidth for a stable connection to the virtual hearing OR use a computer kiosk at the courthouse to join a virtual proceeding.

Best Practices for Attorneys

ATTORNEYS
1	Expectations	Expectations for attorneys should be outlined and disseminated. For example, attorneys SHOULD: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> a) Title & Name – ensure their Webex name displays their title followed by their full name (e.g., Defense Attorney Atticus Finch); b) Camera – have video enabled and be visible to the court when participating in a proceeding, choosing a camera angle that avoids background distractions; c) Audio – be aware of and try to minimize background noises, and use a quality microphone to help ensure an accurate record; d) Attire – dress appropriately for a court appearance; e) Simultaneous hearings – log into multiple simultaneous hearings only if the attorney can effectively manage participation in each hearing, ensuring appropriate, timely, and responsive communication with each court; and f) NEVER drive during an appearance.

Best practices for jails and prisons

PRISON & JAILS
1	Stakeholder Meetings	Stakeholder meetings should be held to discuss and establish best practices between the courts and the prison and jails, including: <ul style="list-style-type: none">a) communication processes to notify the correctional facility if a hearing will be in person or virtual so appropriate transportation or virtual appearance can be arranged;b) the need for each correctional facility to provide at least two Webex-equipped rooms per court calendar to facilitate attorney-client communication in a breakout room, while the court moves forward with other cases in the main room; andc) the need for each correctional facility to have a dedicated phone that an interpreter can use to provide simultaneous interpretation during the hearing to an inmate with limited english proficiency.

PROCEDURE ON INJUNCTIONS

2023 GENERAL SESSION

STATE OF UTAH

Chief Sponsor: Brady Brammer

Senate Sponsor: Daniel McCay

LONG TITLE

General Description:

This joint resolution amends the Utah Rules of Civil Procedure, Rule 65A, regarding injunctions.

Highlighted Provisions:

This resolution:

- amends the Utah Rules of Civil Procedure, Rule 65A, regarding injunctions.

Special Clauses:

This resolution provides a special effective date.

Utah Rules of Civil Procedure Affected:

AMENDS:

Rule 65A, Utah Rules of Civil Procedure

Be it resolved by the Legislature of the state of Utah, two-thirds of all members elected to each of the two houses voting in favor thereof:

As provided in Utah Constitution Article VIII, Section 4, the Legislature may amend rules of procedure and evidence adopted by the Utah Supreme Court upon a two-thirds vote of all members of both houses of the Legislature:

Section 1. Rule 65A, Utah Rules of Civil Procedure is amended to read:

Rule 65A. Injunctions.

(a) Preliminary injunctions.

(a) (1) Notice. No preliminary injunction shall be issued without notice to the adverse party.

(a) (2) Consolidation of hearing. Before or after the commencement of the hearing of an application for a preliminary injunction, the court may order the trial of the action on the merits to be advanced and consolidated with the hearing of the application. Even when this consolidation is not ordered, any evidence received upon an application for a preliminary injunction which would be admissible at the trial on the merits becomes part of the trial record and need not be repeated at the trial. This subdivision (a)(2) shall be so construed and applied as to save to the parties any rights they may have to trial by jury.

(b) Temporary restraining orders.

(b) (1) Notice. No temporary restraining order shall be granted without notice to the adverse party or that party's attorney unless (A) it clearly appears from specific facts shown by affidavit or by the verified complaint that immediate and irreparable injury, loss, or damage will result to the applicant before the adverse party or that party's attorney can be heard in opposition, and (B) the applicant or the applicant's attorney certifies to the court in writing as to the efforts, if any, that have been made to give notice and the reasons supporting the claim that notice should not be required.

(b) (2) Form of order. Every temporary restraining order shall be endorsed with the date and hour of issuance and shall be filed forthwith in the clerk's office and entered of record. The order shall define the injury and state why it is irreparable. The order shall expire by its terms within such time after entry, not to exceed 14 days, as the court fixes, unless within the time so fixed the order, for good cause shown, is extended for a like period or unless the party against whom the order is directed consents that it may be extended for a longer period. The reasons for the extension shall be entered of record.

(b) (3) Priority of hearing. If a temporary restraining order is granted, the motion for a preliminary injunction shall be scheduled for hearing at the earliest possible time and takes precedence over all other civil matters except older matters of the same character. When the

56 motion comes on for hearing, the party who obtained the temporary restraining order shall have 57 the burden to show entitlement to a preliminary injunction; if the party does not do so, the court
58 shall dissolve the temporary restraining order.

59 (b) (4) Dissolution or modification. On 48 hours' notice to the party who obtained the 60 temporary restraining order without notice, or on such shorter notice to that party as the court
61 may prescribe, the adverse party may appear and move its dissolution or modification. In that 62 event the court shall proceed to hear and determine the motion as expeditiously as the ends of 63 justice require.

64 (c) Security.

65 (c) (1) Requirement. The court shall condition issuance of the order or injunction on 66 the giving of security by the applicant, in such sum and form as the court deems proper, unless 67 it appears that none of the parties will incur or suffer costs, attorney fees or damage as the 68 result of any wrongful order or injunction, or unless there exists some other substantial reason
69 for dispensing with the requirement of security. No such security shall be required of the 70 United States, the State of Utah, or of an officer, agency, or subdivision of either; nor shall it be 71 required when it is prohibited by law.

72 (c) (2) Amount not a limitation. The amount of security shall not establish or limit the 73 amount of costs, including reasonable attorney fees incurred in connection with the restraining 74 order or preliminary injunction, or damages that may be awarded to a party who is found to 75 have been wrongfully restrained or enjoined.

76 (c) (3) Jurisdiction over surety. A surety upon a bond or undertaking under this rule
77 submits to the jurisdiction of the court and irrevocably appoints the clerk of the court as agent
78 upon whom any papers affecting the surety's liability on the bond or undertaking may be 79 served. The surety's liability may be enforced on motion without the necessity of an 80 independent action. The motion and such notice of the motion as the court prescribes may be 81 served on the clerk of the court who shall forthwith mail copies to the persons giving the 82 security if their addresses are known.

(d) Form and scope. Every restraining order and order granting an injunction shall set forth the reasons for its issuance. It shall be specific in terms and shall describe in reasonable detail, and not by reference to the complaint or other document, the act or acts sought to be restrained. It shall be binding only upon the parties to the action, their officers, agents, servants, employees, and attorneys, and upon those persons in active concert or participation with them who receive notice, in person or through counsel, or otherwise, of the order. If a restraining order is granted without notice to the party restrained, it shall state the reasons justifying the court's decision to proceed without notice.

(e) Grounds. A restraining order or preliminary injunction may issue only upon a showing by the applicant that:

(e) (1) there is a substantial likelihood that the applicant will prevail on the merits of the underlying claim;

(e) [(1) The] (2) the applicant will suffer irreparable harm unless the order or injunction issues;

(e) [(2) The] (3) the threatened injury to the applicant outweighs whatever damage the proposed order or injunction may cause the party restrained or enjoined; and

(e) [(3) The] (4) the order or injunction, if issued, would not be adverse to the public interest[; and].

~~[(e) (4) There is a substantial likelihood that the applicant will prevail on the merits of the underlying claim, or the case presents serious issues on the merits which should be the subject of further litigation.]~~

(f) Motion for reconsideration.

(f) (1) A party enjoined or restrained by a restraining order or a preliminary injunction on February 14, 2023, may move the court to reconsider whether the order or injunction should remain in effect if the order or injunction:

(A) is in writing;

(B) is restraining or enjoining the enforcement of a law; and

110 (C) explicitly states that the court granted the order or injunction on the ground that the 111 case presented serious issues on the merits which should be the subject of further litigation.

112 (f) (2) A motion for reconsideration under this paragraph (f) may be filed at any time
113 before the final determination of the case.

114 (f) (3) Upon a motion for reconsideration, the court must determine whether the 115 issuance of the restraining order or preliminary injunction meets the requirements in paragraph 116 (e) regardless of the requirements for the issuance of the order or injunction on the day on 117 which the order or injunction was issued.

118 (f) (4) If the court determines that the issuance of the restraining order or preliminary 119 injunction does not meet the requirements of paragraph (e), the court must terminate the order 120 or injunction.

121 [~~(f)~~] (g) Domestic relations cases. Nothing in this rule shall be construed to limit the 122 equitable powers of the courts in domestic relations cases.

123 Section 2. Effective date.

124 As provided in Utah Constitution Article VIII, Section 4, this resolution takes effect 125 upon a two-thirds vote of all members elected to each house.
