BOARD OF APPELLATE COURT JUDGES

STANDING COMMITTEE ON APPELLATE REPRESENTATION
JUDGE LINDA JONES
CHAIR

ADDRESS

RE: Application to the Utah Appellate Roster

Dear :

I regret to inform you that, pursuant to Rule 11-401 of the Supreme Court Rules of Professional Practice, you have not been included on the roster of attorneys eligible for appointment to represent indigent parties in [criminal, juvenile delinquency, and/or child welfare] appeals before the Utah appellate courts.

If you are currently under contract with a local government to provide appellate representation, you may complete the terms of that contract, but you may not renew the contract for appellate representation unless you are included on the Utah Appellate Roster. In addition, you may apply for admission to the Utah Appellate Roster next summer, when the application period re-opens.

Thank you for your willingness to serve indigent parties on appeal to the Utah Supreme Court and the Utah Court of Appeals.

Very truly yours,

HON. LINDA JONES
Chair, Standing Committee on Appellate Representation

cc: Lisa Collins, Clerk of Court of Appeals
Nicole Gray, Clerk of Supreme Court

RE: Application to the Tenth Circuit Court of Appeals Criminal Justice Act Panel

Dear :

I write to you as Chair of the Standing Committee for the Criminal Justice Act Panel of the Tenth Circuit Court of Appeals. The Committee has completed its review of applications to the Panel, and the Court has approved its recommendations. I regret to inform you that the Committee did not approve your admission to the Panel this year.

The demand for membership on the Panel cannot currently support the admission of every qualified applicant. However, the new Plan assures there will be openings for membership on the Panel every year. You are welcome to apply next summer, when the application period re-opens.

The Committee is sincerely appreciative of your commitment to service under the Criminal Justice Act, and you should not consider its decision as a comment on your abilities as a dedicated criminal defense attorney.

Thank you for your interest.

Very truly yours,

VIRGINIA L. GRADY
Chair, 10th Circuit Criminal Justice Act Standing Committee

Appellate Roster Frequently Asked Questions

FAQ	Response	Committee Member/Staff
1. How do you apply to the Appellate Roster?	At least once each year, the Standing Committee on Appellate Representation will announce that it is accepting applications for the Appellate Rosters. The announcements will be published on the Utah State Bar list-serve and with other organizations associated with legal defense. The application will direct to whom the application is to be submitted and the deadline for submitting it. To be considered for membership on the Utah Appellate Roster, applicants must meet the criteria contained in Rule 11-401. An attorney who applies for or is listed on the Utah Appellate Roster must be a member in good standing with the Utah Bar, must be familiar with the Utah Rules of Appellate Procedure, and must demonstrate knowledge of appellate practice as shown by experience, training, and/or legal education. Applicants must also be willing to accept appointments during the membership term and have adequate administrative support. To apply for inclusion on the Utah Appellate Roster, an attorney must submit the following materials: 1. Application, fully completed; 2. A current resume; 3. Two appellate briefs with a certification that the applicant was substantially responsible for drafting the briefs; if applying for appointment for appeals from child welfare proceedings, at least one Rule 55 Petition.	Cathy

2. What are the qualifications for the Appellate Roster?	To qualify for the Appellate Roster, you must: • Demonstrate that you have briefed the merits in at least three appeals within the past three years or in 12 appeals total, or are directly supervised by an attorney with that experience; • Be a member of the Utah Bar in good standing; • Have knowledge of appellate practice as shown by experience, training, or legal education; • Not, within the preceding three years, have been the subject of an order issued by any appellate court imposing sanctions against you as counsel, discharging you as counsel, or taking other equivalent action against you as counsel because of your substandard performance before an appellate court; • Not have been removed from the appellate roster, or have been denied admission to the appellate roster, within the past year; • Be able to submit at least two appellate briefs to with a certification that you were substantially responsible for drafting the briefs; • If you are applying for the child welfare roster, be able to submit an Appellate Rule 55 petition that you have prepared; • Be able to provide citations for all appellate decisions in which you were counsel of record; and • Be able to certify that you have sufficient time and administrative support to accept an appointment to represent indigent parties on appeal and to provide the effective assistance of counsel in every case and a willingness to commit those resources to that representation.	Nancy

3. How do I go about finding a mentor and certifying my briefs under Rule 38B?	Finding a mentor A mentor must meet the following criteria: • Briefed the merits in at least three appeals within the past three years or in 12 appeals total; Be a member of the Utah Bar in good standing; • Have knowledge of appellate practice as shown by experience, training, or legal education; • The attorney has not, within the preceding three years, been the subject of an order issued by any appellate court imposing sanctions against counsel, discharging counsel, or taking other equivalent action against counsel because of counsel's substandard performance before an appellate court; and • Not have been removed from the appellate roster, or have been denied admission to the appellate roster, within the past year. Anyone who is on the roster currently qualifies to be a mentor unless that attorney is also subject to the mentoring requirement. Any attorney with a dedicated appellate practice who meets the above qualifications may also be a mentor. Additionally, several of the members of the Appellate Representation Committee have volunteered to be mentors: 1) Ann Marie Taliaferro (criminal appeals): ann@brownbradshaw.com 2) Margaret Lindsay (child welfare appeals): margaretplindsay@gmail.com 3) Monica Maio (juvenile delinquency appeals): mmaio@ujda.org Certifying your briefs You are not required to name your mentoring attorney nor is there a specific requirement for how the certification appears in your brief. But best practice is to place the following on a separate page after the certificate of service: I hereby certify that I was directly supervised by a mentor qualified under [Rule 38B of the Utah Rules of Appellate Procedure] [Utah Code of Judicial Administration Rule 11-401(2)(E)] in the preparation of this appeal. /s/ [Your name] Date:	Annie and Debra
4. How does the roster work?	To represent indigent defendants on appeal, a lawyer must complete three steps: First, the lawyer must be placed the roster. Only lawyers on the roster are eligible for appointment to represent indigent parties on appeal.	Fred and John

	Second, the lawyer must contract with a county. In Utah, counties contract with defense counsel to represent indigent parties at trial and on appeal. Third, the lawyer must be appointed by the district or juvenile court. District and juvenile judges appoint lawyers who both appear on the roster and hold county contracts.
5. Once I am on the roster, how do I get appointed to represent a party on appeal?	This process is still evolving. If the Notice of Appeal has been filed and the Court of Appeals has remanded it to the district or juvenile court for an indigency determination, the court will consult the roster. If you are on contract for appellate representation with the county in which the case is pending, then you will be appointed. If you are not on contract, then it is likely you will only be appointed if the contractor's caseload is too high and the court goes through the roster to your name.	Joanna
6. How do I get paid?	By statute, counties must pay for appellate representation on direct appeal to indigent individuals. Many counties have existing contracts with appellate attorneys or offices with appellate attorneys in them. Some counties do not. If you are not on contract and get appointed, you will have to work out compensation with the county. Email the Indigent Defense Commission if you need help: IDC@utah.gov.	Joanna
7. How do I get an appellate attorney?	The roster is only for court appointed counsel, however you are free to contact the attorneys on the roster to ask if they will represent you on appeal. You will be responsible for their compensation.	Joanna
