

CR533 Defense of Self or Others – No Duty to Retreat.

A defendant does not have a duty to retreat from another person's use or threatened use of unlawful force before using force to defend [himself/herself] or a third party as long as the defendant is in a place where [he/she] has lawfully entered or remained.

However, if the defendant was the aggressor or was engaged in combat by agreement, the defendant must withdraw from the encounter and effectively communicate to the other person [his/her] intent to do so. If the other person nevertheless continues or threatens to continue the use of unlawful force, the defendant no longer has the duty to retreat.
