

As they are aligned and for practical purposes the same, it could be one. But there are two parties. Does any of that matter? Is it interrogatories directed to a side now, rather to a party? Rule 33 is still by party, but the allocation isn't.