Except for time sensitive matters and in the event of an emergency, the parties shall communicate primarily through text or email. The parties shall be civil in all communication; name calling shall never be considered civil communication.

3. The parties recognize the importance of the child spending quality time with both parents and shall cooperate with each other and adjust the time-sharing arrangement when changes may be appropriate due to the travel or other commitments of the parties.

4. The parents shall reasonably share information regarding school, social, and other areas of the child's life that could assist both parents in making the best decisions for them. If information is available through websites, email lists, etc., each party shall obtain the information directly from these sources.

Both parties shall provide written authority to the other party to ensure both parties have any and all access to medical, dental, counseling, physiological, and psychological information, diagnoses, and prognoses.

6. Each parent shall be allowed to fully participate in the child's activities, including church functions, athletics events, recitals, school programs, etc.

In discharging this obligation, the parents shall use the following decision-making procedure: 1) Identify the issues; 2) Develop possible solutions; 3) Choose the most sensible solution that considers the needs of everyone involved.

9. If the parties cannot mutually agree on major decisions including but not limited to the minor child's education, day-care, medical care, dental care, orthodontics, counseling, religious upbringing, extracurricular activities, the parties shall attend mediation with a mutually agreed upon mediator with each party to pay their own mediation fees. A minor child shall not receive the cosmetic, surgery, alternative medicine, orthodontia, or other non-life-threatening medical procedures not covered by the child's insurance, prior to receiving the written consent provided herein. Sanctions for violating this provision include, but are not limited to, a parent being denied reimbursement for said procedure.

20. Each parent shall provide all surrogate care providers with the name, current address, and telephone number of the other parent and shall provide the noncustodial parent with the name, current address, and telephone number of all surrogate care providers unless the court for good cause orders otherwise.

21. Both parties are restrained from discussing the case in the presence of the minor child or allowing third parties to discuss the case in the presence of the minor child. Furthermore, both parties shall be restrained from making negative, disparaging, or derogatory comments about the other parent to or in the presence of the minor child and shall use their best efforts to restrain third parties from making any such comments in the presence of the minor child.

22. Neither party shall make social media posts about the other party or publicly disparage the other party.
23. The parties shall not introduce anyone that they are dating to the minor child unless they are in a committed and exclusive relationship. Advance notice shall be given to the other party prior to introducing the child to their significant other.
