IN THE SECOND JUDICIAL DISTRICT COURT, IN AND FOR DAVIS COUNTY, STATE OF UTAH

IN THE MATTER OF THE MARRIAGE OF: REBECCA CRANDALL AADNESEN,	DECREE OF DIVORCE
Petitioner,	Case No.: 244701837
AND	Judge: DIREDA
NICHOLAS TWELVES AADNESEN,	Commissioner: WINKLER
Respondent.

The Court, having made and entered its Findings of Fact and Conclusions of Law, hereby ORDERS, ADJUDGES and DECREES that the bonds of matrimony and marriage contract between the parties are dissolved and the parties are awarded a Decree of Divorce on the ground of irreconcilable differences, to become final upon entry by the court. The Court further ORDERS as follows:

Jurisdiction

- 1. Marriage information: Rebecca and Nick agree that they are wife and husband, having been married on May 5, 2015, in Salt Lake City, Salt Lake County, Utah.

2. Residency: The parties agree that at the time of filing of the Petition, they were both residents of Davis County, State of Utah, and that they had so resided from more than three (3) months immediately before the commencement of these proceedings. Rebecca has since moved to Salt Lake County, but Nick remains a resident of Davis County.
3. General Jurisdiction: The parties agree that this Court has general jurisdiction over this matter pursuant to Utah Code §78A-5-102(1) and Utah Code §81-4-402(1).
4. Personal Jurisdiction: The parties agree that this Court has personal jurisdiction over the parties pursuant to Utah Code §78B-3-205 and Utah Code §78B-15-604.
5. Venue: The parties agree that venue is proper in this Court pursuant to Utah Code §78B-3a-201 and Utah Code §81-4-203(1).

Grounds

6. A decree of divorce should be entered on the grounds of irreconcilable differences.

Children

17. The parties have two (2) minor children, to wit: HEA—born December 2016; and ACA—born September 2020.

Legal Custody

18. The parties should share joint legal custody of their minor children, and their co-parenting relationship should be governed by the Parenting Plan set forth herein.

Physical Custody/Schooling

19. The parties should share joint physical custody of the minor children.
20. For one year following the signing of the Stipulation, the parties' parent-time schedule should be as follows:

SUNDAY	MONDAY	TUESDAY	WEDNESDAY	THURSDAY	FRIDAY	SATURDAY
Nick	Nick	Nick	Nick	Rebecca	Rebecca	Rebecca

21. During the first year following the signing of the Stipulation, both minor children should attend the Legacy Preparatory charter school.

Child Support

22. Respondent earns or has the ability to earn gross income in the amount of $5,489 per month.

23. Petitioner earns or has the ability to earn gross income in the amount of $1,257 per month.

24. During the first year immediately following the signing of the Stipulation, Petitioner should have 156 overnights and Respondent should have 209 overnights. The parties have agreed to an upward deviation from Utah Code §81-6-304, and Nick should pay Rebecca $250 per month in child support. Nick's child support obligation amount should be revisited at a review hearing after one year, as outlined below.

25. Respondent should begin paying child support as set forth herein in May 2026. Beginning in June, 2026, and pursuant to Utah Code §81-7-102, child support is due one-half by the fifth day of each month and one-half by the twentieth day of that month.

26. Respondent's support of each minor child should continue until the child becomes eighteen (18) years of age or has graduated from high school during the child's normal and expected year of graduation, whichever occurs later, or if the child dies, marries, becomes a member of the armed forces of the United States or is emancipated.

27. If at any time after the commencement of the child support order, Respondent is more than thirty (30) days late in making the child support payment, Petitioner should be entitled to immediate and automatic income withholding relief pursuant to Utah Code §26B, Chapter 9.

This income withholding procedure should apply to existing and future payors, and all withheld income should be submitted to the Office of Recovery Services.

Childcare

28. The parties should arrange and pay for their own childcare expenses.

Health Insurance and Medical/Dental Expenses

29. Pursuant to Utah Code §81-6-209, if health insurance and/or dental or vision insurance for the benefit of the minor children is available to either party at a reasonable cost, that party should be required to maintain said insurance. Respondent currently provides health insurance for the children and should continue to do so for at least one year immediately following the signing of the Stipulation.

30. If health and/or dental and vision insurance for the benefit of the minor children is available to both parties at a reasonable cost, the parties should be free to choose either available plan on which to enroll the minor children and should select the plan that offers the best coverage at the most advantageous cost.

31. In the event they are unable to reach a resolution regarding whose health and/or dental and vision insurance policy should be used, then both parties should be required to insure the minor children, and each should be solely responsible for any out-of-pocket premium paid by them individually. If both parties provide insurance, Respondent's plan should be identified as the primary plan.

32. Rebecca should submit an application for Medicaid as soon as possible. In the event that her application requires completed tax returns for purposes of income verification, she should apply for Medicaid as soon as the parties' 2025 tax return has been filed.

33. During the first year, while Nick is providing insurance for the minor children, he should be responsible for 100% of out-of-pocket premium costs actually paid for the minor children's portion of insurance.

34. The children's portion of the premium should be calculated by dividing the premium amount by the number of persons covered under the policy.

35. The parent maintaining insurance should provide verification of coverage to the other parent or to the Office of Recovery Services, under Title IV of the Social Security Act, upon initial enrollment of the dependent child, and thereafter on or before January 2nd of each calendar year. The parent ordered to maintain insurance should notify the other parent or the Office of Recovery Services of any change of insurance carrier, premium, or benefits within thirty (30) calendar days of the date that the parent first knew or should have known of the change.

36. Pursuant to Utah Code §81-6-208, the parties should equally share all reasonable and necessary uninsured and unreimbursed medical, dental, vision, orthodontic, and therapeutic expenses, including deductibles and co-payments, incurred for the minor children, and actually paid by the parties.

37. The children should continue participating in therapy as recommended by medical professionals. If Rebecca cannot afford to pay her half for current therapists, the parties should work to find therapists who are covered by medical insurance to reduce the out-of-pocket cost as much as possible.

38. The parent who incurs medical, dental, orthodontic, or therapeutic expenses on behalf of the children should provide written verification of the cost and payment of the expenses to the other parent within thirty (30) days of payment.

39. The parent who receives written verification of a medical, dental, orthodontic, or therapeutic expense should reimburse the other parent one-half the amount of the out-of-pocket expenses incurred on behalf of the children within thirty (30) days of receipt of the written verification.

Review

39. After one year, the parties should participate in a mandatory review, either with a mutually agreed mediator or with the Court, to revisit the parent time schedule, school placement, health insurance enrollment and reimbursement, and the child support award. In determining whether a change in the child support obligation amount is appropriate, any changes to the parent-time schedule and the parties' incomes should be considered.

Extracurricular Expenses

40. The parties should equally share costs associated with the minor children's extracurricular activities so long as they have agreed to the extracurricular activity in advance and in writing. The children may participate in an activity absent a written agreement, but neither parent may schedule an extracurricular activity on the other's parent-time without the express written permission of the other parent and the parent scheduling the activity should be solely responsible for the costs. The expenses for required items such as clothing, footwear, and other necessary supplies for agreed-upon school-related courses and agreed-upon extracurricular activities or sports should be shared equally between both parties.

41. The parent who incurs an expense for an extracurricular activity should provide written verification of the costs and payments associated with the extracurricular activity within thirty (30) days of payment.

42. The parent to whom written verification is provided should reimburse the parent who incurred the expenses for extracurricular activities one-half the amount of the out-of-pocket expenses within thirty (30) days of receipt of the written verification.

43. Both parties should be allowed and encouraged to attend the children's extracurricular activities regardless of whether they have agreed to the activity and whether they have contributed payments toward the activity.

School Fees

44. The parties should equally share school fees and other costs or expenses associated with the minor children's education, including but not limited to books, school lunches, and other fees.

45. The parent who incurs an educational expense on behalf of the minor children should provide written verification of the costs and payments associated with the extracurricular activity within thirty (30) days of payment.

46. The parent to whom written verification is provided should reimburse the parent who incurred the educational expense on behalf of the children one-half the amount of the out-of-pocket expenses within thirty (30) days of receipt of the written verification.

PARENTING PLAN

47. The parties desire to create an effective co-parenting relationship for the benefit of their minor children. The parties desire to raise happy and well-adjusted children and to respect each other in their respective parenting roles.

48. The parties realize that they each have different parenting functions and should support and acknowledge the benefits to the children of having a healthy relationship with both parents.

49. The parties should reduce the conflict between them and learn problem solving skills and implement those skills to eliminate future conflict. The parties should have open communication and should focus on the needs and interests of their children ahead of their own personal interests.

50. To implement the vision of the parties' shared parenting plan, and because of their common concern for their children's emotional well-being, the parties should adhere to the following governing principals:

- a. The parties co-parenting relationship should be built on trust and respect;
- b. The parties should establish and maintain parental communication with each other to ensure that the other parent is informed about the children's needs;
- c. The parties should support each other in their respective parenting roles, say positive words about the other parent to the children and the parties should be restrained from saying anything negative about the other parent, or about frustrations with divorce matters, in the children's presence. The parties believe this purpose to be honorable and that such will help the children develop good self-esteem;
- d. The parties should listen to each other and do their best to understand the other's point of view;

- g. If tension arises in a telephone call, the parties should take a break from the telephone call or leave their conversations to e-mail or text message;
- h. The parties should work together to improve their parenting skills and to share their ideas;
- i. The parties should live by the golden rule and they should treat each other as they would like to be treated;
- j. The parties should start over and recommit to this parenting plan when one or both of them steps outside of the plan and forgets about a commitment made in this plan; and
- k. The parties should see the other parent as a resource, consultant and ally. The parties should effectively work together as co-parents to promote the best interests of their children.

Time-Sharing Schedule

51. The parties should cooperate to plan their children's time-sharing schedule based on the following principles:
- a. The parties should trade favors and do their best to ensure that the children have meaningful time in both homes;
 - b. The parties should be flexible with each other when minor changes are necessary; and
 - c. The parties should give as much advance notice as possible if changes are necessary.

52. The parties should share joint legal and physical custody of the minor children, with parent-time consistent with the schedule set forth above. In addition, both parties should be entitled to fully participate in any activities regarding the children, including but not limited to school, sports, etc.

a. Advisory Guidelines: The Advisory Guidelines set forth in Utah Code Ann. §81-9-202 should be made a part of this Parenting Plan.

b. Summer Parent-Time: The parties should each have extended parent-time with the minor children when school is not in session, as they agree. If the parties cannot agree, the extended parent-time schedule should be consistent with the schedule set forth in Utah Code §81-9-303.

c. Holiday Parent-Time: The parties should have holiday parent-time with the minor children as they agree. If the parties cannot agree, the parent-time schedule for holidays should be consistent with the schedule set forth in Utah Code §81-9-303, with Respondent being considered the non-custodial parent for purposes of dividing holidays.

d. Special Occasions: The parties should notify each other of any special events involving their minor children, such as school activities, sports events, graduations, etc., so that the other party should have the option of attending that special occasion if possible.

e. Right of First Refusal: In the event a parent cannot provide personal care for their children for a period of more than overnight, that parent should first offer the opportunity to care for the children to the other parent before securing surrogate care of any kind. Petitioner should have the right to care for the children, and her care should be presumed best for the children, during the summer when school is not in session and Respondent is working.

53. Transportation: The receiving parent should pick up the children during parent-time exchanges curbside at the other parent's home, or at another mutually agreeable location (reduced to writing) unless the children are in school, in which case the children should be picked up and/or dropped off at school to begin and end a parent's parent-time.

Shared Information

54. The parties should use their best efforts to communicate and share information with each other to convey information regarding their children's schoolwork, school schedule, medical and dental treatment, counseling, emotional needs, accomplishments, and other information that is appropriate to share with the other parent.
55. The parties should affirmatively notify the other parent of all school programs, church events, extracurricular activities, sports activities, and special occasions involving the minor children.

57. The parties should immediately notify the other parent in the event of any and all emergencies relating to the minor children.
58. The parties should provide the other with the names and telephone numbers of teachers and others who work with the minor children at school, medically, or otherwise so that each party can initiate his/her own relationship with these professionals.
59. The parties should immediately notify the other parent of any change of address and telephone number and should inform the other parent regarding logistical details of extended vacations.
60. The parties should communicate only through the Our Family Wizard ("OFW") app, but in the case of an emergency involving the children, may communicate in the most reasonable manner, whether by telephone or text message.

61. The parties should share the cost of the OFW subscription fees equally until the parties' youngest child is 18 years old, unless the parties agree otherwise in writing.

62. All communication should be respectful and should be centered on the children and the children's needs.

Consistency in Parenting

63. The parties recognize that their children will feel more secure and loved when the parties are working together in a positive, cooperative and constructive manner.

64. Consistency in parenting will help the parties raise emotionally healthy and secure children. Therefore, the parties should discuss parenting strategies, and develop, if possible, consistent rules and parenting approaches.

65. The parties should implement, whenever possible, consistent bed-times, discipline strategies and other rules. Moreover, the parties recognize that parenting will be more effective if they work together as a united front.

Safety

66. Nick agrees that he has an affirmative duty to protect the minor children from any contact with David Kendall.

Decision-Making

67. The parties should share decision-making as follows:

a. Day-to-Day Decisions: The parent in charge during a time-shared block may make minor day-to-day decisions regarding the minor children's care. This is interpreted to mean that the parent who has physical custody of the children during the time-shared block may make those minor day-to-day decisions without having to consult with the other parent;

b. Major Decisions: The parties should consult with one another and reach agreements on major issues concerning the children's physical health, mental health, education, religious upbringing, and general welfare.

c. Emergency Treatment: The parent who has custody of the children during the time-sharing block may initiate emergency medical, dental, or psychological treatment, and should notify and involve the other parent as soon as possible.

a. The parties should initially identify the issue;

b. The parties should research the issue and possible solutions related to the issue and listen to and understand each other's perspective;

c. The parties should brainstorm all possible solutions related to that specific issue;

d. The parties should use the most sensible resolution that considers the needs and interests of everyone involved, particularly the children, in an attempt to reach a "win-win" solution; and

e. The parties should take the advice of experts involved in their children's lives while making decisions about what is best for their children. The parties should take the advice of the children's pediatrician, dentist, counselor, therapist, orthodontist, school counselor, and others who have insight into what is best for their children related to the expert's field of expertise.

69. Tie-Breaking Procedure: If the parties cannot reach a consensus regarding a major parenting decision, after following the joint decision-making procedure and implementing the governing principles as outlined above regarding their shared vision, the parties should attempt to resolve the issue through mediation. If mediation fails, either party should have the right and ability to approach the court if he or she believes that the decision is not in the best interests of the minor children.
