PARENTING PLAN

This Parenting Plan is entered into by and between STEVEN RIMMASCH BRYSON ("Petitioner (Steven)") and SANDI K BRYSON ("Respondent (Sandi)"), collectively referred to as "the Parents." The Parents agree to the following terms governing the care, custody, and support of their minor child(ren).

The parties enter into this Parenting Plan with the shared understanding and fundamental commitment that their roles as Respondent (Sandi) and Petitioner (Steven) transcend the dissolution of their marriage. United in their dedication to their children's well-being, they acknowledge that effective co-parenting requires ongoing communication, mutual respect, and a willingness to adapt as their children's needs evolve. Both parties pledge to maintain and continuously improve their communication for the benefit of their children.

The parties recognize that parenting encompasses a complex series of interconnected decisions that shape their children's development, security, and future success. This Parenting Plan addresses these decisions through three essential categories:

1. Moral Decision-Making and Legal Custody: Decisions concerning the children's religious upbringing, educational direction, medical care, and other matters that fundamentally shape their moral and ethical development.

2. Parenting Time and Physical Custody: The structured arrangement of time each child spends with each parent, designed to maintain meaningful relationships while providing stability and routine in the children's lives.

3. Financial Decision-Making and Support: The collaborative approach to addressing the children's financial needs, including but not limited to educational expenses, healthcare costs, extracurricular activities, and daily necessities.

The provisions that follow establish the framework through which the parties will address each of these decision-making categories, with the shared goal of promoting their children's best interests through thoughtful cooperation and mutual support.

ARTICLE I — CHILDREN

1.1 The parties are the parents of the following minor child(ren): Oscar Bryson, born 04/27/2011; Emerson Bryson, born 03/22/2014; Josie Bryson, born 01/05/2021.

ARTICLE II — LEGAL CUSTODY

2.1 Joint Legal Custody. The parties shall share joint legal custody of the minor child(ren) pursuant to Utah Code Ann. §30-3-10.1. Both Petitioner (Steven) and Respondent (Sandi) shall have equal rights and responsibilities to make major decisions regarding the child(ren)'s education, healthcare, religious upbringing, and general welfare. Both parents have a duty to confer with one another in good faith and act in the best interest of the child(ren) when making such decisions.

Both parents understand and agree that legal custody pertains specifically to decision-making authority regarding fundamental aspects of the children's lives, including but not limited to education, religious upbringing, medical care, and moral development. This authority is distinct from and independent of the physical custody or parent-time schedule established elsewhere in this agreement. The success of this joint legal custody arrangement depends heavily upon both parents' commitment to maintaining open lines of communication, demonstrating mutual respect, and working collaboratively in the children's best interests, even when personal differences exist between them. Both parents acknowledge that their ability to set aside their personal conflicts and unite in their parenting responsibilities is essential to creating an environment where their children feel secure, supported, and genuinely loved by both parents. This requires ongoing dedication to positive co-parenting communication, mutual consideration in decision-making processes, and a shared commitment to protecting their children from any residual tension or discord between the parents. The parties understand that their conduct and cooperation in legal custody matters directly impacts their children's emotional well-being and their ability to maintain healthy relationships with both parents.

The Parents want to make decisions together and will have an equal decision making authority.

ARTICLE III — PHYSICAL CUSTODY AND PARENTING TIME

Joint Physical Custody

Joint physical custody, as defined under Utah Code Ann. §30-3-10.1, means that each parent shall have significant periods of physical custody of the child(ren) and that the child(ren) shall have frequent, meaningful, and continuing access to both parents. Joint physical custody does not necessarily mean equal time with each parent. Rather, it ensures that both parents maintain a substantial role in the daily care and routine of the child(ren), promoting the child(ren)'s emotional well-being and stability through consistent involvement of both parents.

The parties shall share joint physical custody of the minor child(ren) on an approximately equal (50/50) basis, with Petitioner (Steven) having 183 overnights per year and Respondent (Sandi) having 183 overnights per year. The parties expressly recognize that this arrangement is designed to provide each parent with substantially equal parenting time.

This parenting time arrangement is built on the understanding that a successful joint physical custody parenting plan requires three fundamental elements to work effectively. First, parents need to maintain homes within reasonable proximity (ideally 15-20 minutes apart) to minimize travel time and its impact on the children's daily lives. Second, both parents must have work schedules that realistically accommodate equal parenting time. Third, and most importantly, the arrangement must serve the children's best interests, supporting their academic, social, and emotional well-being. With these foundations in place, parents agree to start with a consistent weekly rotation as their base schedule, while maintaining the flexibility to explore other arrangements that might better serve their family's needs. To ensure smooth implementation, parents commit to using a shared digital calendar system for scheduling and documentation, meeting monthly to plan ahead, and reviewing the arrangement annually to make any necessary adjustments. This approach combines structure with flexibility, allowing parents to work collaboratively while having a clear default arrangement to fall back on if disagreements arise. The plan prioritizes mediation over litigation for resolving disputes, emphasizing the importance of cooperative co-parenting in supporting their children's well-being.

3.1 Base Parenting Time Rotation

While both Petitioner (Steven) BRYSON and SANDI BRYSON continue to reside together in the marital residence located at 3180 S Vivian St. Magna UT 84044, the parties shall maintain an informal, organic parenting arrangement that mirrors the parenting practices established during the marriage. Both parties shall have equal and ongoing access to the children, with parenting responsibilities and time flowing naturally between the parties without a fixed schedule or designated parenting time allocation.

The parties acknowledge that this arrangement requires mutual respect, cooperation, and clear communication. Each party shall respect the other's privacy and personal space within the home, and both parties commit to maintaining appropriate boundaries to ensure a functional co-parenting environment.

B. Transition Upon Separation of Residences

In the event that either party moves out of the marital residence, or if both parties mutually decide to establish separate residences, the parenting arrangement shall automatically transition to a joint physical custody arrangement with equal parenting time. The specific rotation schedule (including but not limited to week-on/week-off, 2-2-3, 2-2-5-5, or other arrangement) shall be determined and mutually agreed upon by the parties at the time such separation occurs. If the parties cannot reach agreement on the schedule at that time, [mediation shall be required/the matter may be submitted to the court for determination].

3.2 Transportation

The parties agree to the following transportation arrangements for the exchange of the minor child(ren):

Should the parties choose to no longer cohabitate in the same residence as they did at the time of the divorce they will follow the following protocol for determining the logistics of the rotation transportation, logistics:

Rotation Transportation Logistics and Considerations:

- School Year Transportation:

a) Monday Exchanges:

i) Morning drop-off: Parent ending their week
