Child Custody and Parent-time

7. The parties should be awarded joint legal custody of the minor children of the parties pursuant to the parenting plan below.

Parenting Plan

Pursuant to Utah Code Ann. § 81-9-203, the parties submit the following parenting plan:

Custody Provisions

8. The parties shall have joint physical custody of the children. Custody and residency shall be exercised as the parties agree. If the parties cannot agree, the parent-time schedule will be pursuant to U.C.A. 81-9-305, with STEPHEN having the children every Monday and Tuesday overnight, Heather having the children every Wednesday and Thursday overnight, and alternating weekends of Friday through Sunday overnights. The receiving parent picking up the children. The exchanges shall take place at 5:30pm unless otherwise agreed to by the parties. This shall result in approximately equal parent-time between the parties. For purposes of child support STEPHEN will be assigned 182 overnights and HEATHER will be assigned 183 overnights. The parent/person dropping-off or picking-up a child may accompany the children to the other parent/person house when parent-time transfers are made. The parties agree that HEATHER will be allowed to get the girls ready for dance recitals, competitions, and conventions. HEATHER will continue to be in the dressing rooms and provide food to the girls. HEATHER and the girls will be allowed to stay for awards at the end of each dance competition. HEATHER is allowed to do these things regardless of whose parent-time it is during these dance events. STEPHEN may participate as he has hitherto done.

9. The parties agree that while HEATHER resides in the marital home, STEPHEN may utilize the home to drop off the children before work and pick the children up from the home after work during her parent-time. The parties agree that this behavior shall have no impact on the parties' custody arrangement.
10. The parties agree that for overnight periods, if the parent who is assigned the parent-time is unable to watch the child, the other parent shall be offered the first right of refusal for the overnight period. These rights shall be interpreted using Utah Code in general, where it does not conflict with this parenting plan. For the purposes of this paragraph, HEATHER shall be considered the custodial parent, and this designation will not be changed, regardless of any change in custody. The party requesting mediation may determine the mediator, and any fees shall be shared equally at the time of mediation.
39. The Court may review the allocation of costs and attorney fees if the Court determines that the right to request mediation is being inappropriately used. Examples of inappropriate use include intention to harass or annoy, to use the financial consequence of mediation to inappropriately pressure the other party to reach an agreement or choosing a mediator that is not financially compatible with the parties' financial capabilities.
40. Mediation may be waived if both parties agree in writing that none of the issues can be resolved in mediation.

41. The parents may continue to utilize the existing communication (email, phone, text, etc.) as long as they both agree. 46. Pursuant to Utah Code Ann. 62A-11-502 the obligor parent shall make child support payments directly to the obligee parent by direct deposit. However, any party may subsequently pursue income withholding through the Office of Recovery Services if either the obligor or the obligee requests. The adjustment will reflect the base combined child support obligation pursuant to the uniform child support guidelines for the remaining number of children due child support. The income used for the purpose of adjusting the support shall be the income of the parties at the time of the entry of the most recent child support order.
49. The parties have a right to adjust this child support order by motion after 3 years from the date of its entry if: (1) upon review there is a difference of 10% or more between the amount previously ordered and the new amount of child support under the Utah child support guidelines, calculated using the appropriate child

Under Utah Code 62A-11-306.2, if the children receive TANF funds at the time an adjustment is sought, the Office of Recovery Services shall review the order, and if appropriate, move the court to adjust the amount.

50. Either party has a right to modify this child support order at any time by petition if there has been a substantial change in circumstances because of: (1) material changes in custody; (2) material changes in the relative wealth or assets of the parties; (3) material changes of 30% or more in the income of a parent; (4) material changes in the employment potential and ability of a parent to earn; (5) material changes in the medical needs of a child; or (6) material changes in the legal responsibilities of either parent for the support of others. The change in (1) through (6) must result in a 15% or more difference between the amount previously ordered and the new amount of child support, calculated using the appropriate child support worksheet, and the difference must not be of a temporary nature. In a proceeding to modify an existing award, consideration of natural or adoptive children other than those in common to both parties may be applied to mitigate an increase in the child support award, but may not be applied to justify a decrease in the award.
51. Each of the parties is under mutual obligation to notify the other within (30) days of any change in monthly income.

52. The parties shall share equally all out of pocket expenses for the children's school enrollment costs.
