CHILD CUSTODY

10. The parties shall share joint legal custody of the subject children.

11. Raymond shall have sole physical custody of the subject children.

PARENTING PLAN

12. The parties shall abide by the following parenting plan:

START OF PARENTING PLAN**

13. Regular Residential and Parent-Time Schedule: The parties shall follow the parent-time schedule described in U.C.A. § 81-9-302, with Raymond being the custodial parent for purposes of interpreting the parent time schedule. A copy of this parent time statute is included at the end of the petition.

14. Extended Summer Parent-Time Schedule: For extended summer parent-time, the parties shall notify each other prior to April 1st each year as to when they want to exercise their extended summer parent-time. Jessica shall have first pick during even years, and Raymond shall have first pick during odd years.

15. Parent-Time Transportation & Exchanges: Unless agreed upon otherwise, the parent exercising parent-time shall be responsible for transporting the child at the commencement of that parent's parent-time period. The receiving parent shall be responsible for picking up the children. Each parent shall ensure that the child is ready for transportation at the designated exchange time and location. Both parents shall be punctual and shall communicate promptly regarding any unavoidable delays.

16. Decision-Making Authority: Day-to-day and emergency decisions involving the children shall be made by the parent who is with the children at that time. If the parties disagree regarding a significant decision affecting the children, including but not limited to matters of education, healthcare, or religious upbringing, they shall first seek the advice of an appropriate professional, such as a pediatrician, teacher, counselor, or other qualified expert. If, after consulting with the professional, the parties remain unable to reach an agreement, they shall participate in mediation, with the mediator's fees divided equally between them. If the dispute remains unresolved following mediation, Raymond shall have presumptive final decision-making authority, and either party may file a motion with the Court requesting that the Court decide the issue

17. Mediation. Either party may request that the parties participate in a mediation to resolve a significant dispute regarding the children, including disputes regarding e.g., education, healthcare, and religious upbringing. Upon request, both parties shall cooperate to schedule the mediation within a reasonable time; shall participate in mediation in good faith; and shall pay equal shares of the mediator's fees. If the parties cannot agree on which mediator to use, then Utah Dispute Resolution shall be used. If after mediation the matter is still unresolved, either party may request that the court decide the matter. Utah Dispute Resolution is a low-cost alternative. They usually have good availability as well. To learn more, visit <https://www.utahdisputeresolution.org> or call (801) 532-4841.

18. Residence for Purposes of Determining Children's School: Raymond shall be the residential parent for the purpose of determining where the children will attend school.

19. Virtual Parent-Time: During periods when the child is with one parent, the other parent shall be entitled to reasonable and uncensored communication with the child by telephone, video call, text message, email, or other electronic means appropriate to the child's age and maturity. Neither parent shall monitor, restrict, interfere with, or discourage reasonable communications between the child and the other parent, except as necessary to protect the child's health or safety.

20. Surrogate Care: The parties acknowledge that parental care is generally preferable to third-party childcare when reasonably available. If either parent requires childcare for a substantial period of time during that parent's scheduled parent-time, the parent requiring childcare shall make reasonable efforts to first offer the other parent the opportunity to care for the child before utilizing a third-party caregiver, provided the other parent is willing and reasonably available to do so.

21. Each parent shall provide any regular childcare provider, babysitter, or surrogate caregiver with the name and contact information of the other parent. Upon request, each parent shall provide the other parent with the name, address, and telephone number of any regular childcare provider caring for the child.

22. Car Seats and Booster Seats: The children shall be secured in a restraint device, such as a car seat or a booster seat, in compliance with U.C.A. § 41-6a-1803, while being transported in any motor vehicle capable of installation of said device, e.g., any passenger car, truck or sport utility vehicle.

23. Relocation: In the event a party decides to move more than 150 miles away from the residence of the other parent, the moving parent will provide to the other parent, if possible, 60 days advance written notice of the intended move, affirming that: (1) the parent-time provisions in U.C.A. § 81-9-209 or a schedule agreed to by the parties will be followed; and (2) the moving parent will not interfere with the other's parent-time rights. If the moving parent fails to notify the other parent of the intended move, then the moving parent can be found in contempt of court. The parties will modify the parenting plan, including transportation costs, in light of the best interests of the children, considering also the provisions of U.C.A. § 81-9204.

24. Parent Time Cooperation: The parties acknowledge that a parent-time schedule mutually agreed upon by the parents is generally preferable to a court-imposed schedule. The parties shall make reasonable efforts to cooperate in adjusting parent-time by mutual agreement when doing so serves the best interests of the children and promotes the children's continuity, stability, and welfare. Any mutually agreed modification to the parent-time schedule shall not constitute a permanent modification of this Parenting Plan unless reduced to writing and signed by both parties.

25. The parties shall exercise parent-time in a manner that maximizes the continuity, stability, and consistency of the child's life. Each parent shall use reasonable efforts to maintain regular routines regarding school attendance, homework, extracurricular activities, medical care, and other matters affecting the children's well-being.

26. The parties recognize that work schedules, travel requirements, and the distance between the parties' residences may occasionally require reasonable adjustments to the parent-time schedule. The parties shall cooperate in good faith to accommodate reasonable scheduling conflicts while preserving the children's relationship with both parents and minimizing disruption to the child's routine.

27. Special Events: Each parent shall give special consideration to making the children available to attend important family functions and significant events, including funerals, weddings, family reunions, religious holidays, graduations, and other important ceremonies involving the child or either parent's extended family, even when such events conflict with the regular parent-time schedule. The parties shall cooperate in good faith to accommodate such events whenever reasonably possible.

28. School Attendance & Parent Time: Neither parent shall remove the children from school, preschool, or daycare during regular school hours solely for the purpose of exercising parent-time unless otherwise agreed by the parties or required by an emergency. Both parents shall make reasonable efforts to ensure the children's regular and punctual attendance at school.

29. Child Support & Parent Time: Neither parent shall withhold court-ordered parent-time due to nonpayment of child support, nor shall either parent withhold child support due to alleged violations of the parent-time schedule. Parent-time and child support are separate obligations and shall be enforced independently through appropriate legal channels.

30. Required Notifications: Each parent shall notify the other parent within twenty-four (24) hours of receiving notice of significant school, educational, athletic, extracurricular, religious, social, or community activities involving the children. Both parents shall have the right to attend and participate in such activities regardless of whose parent-time is being exercised at the time of the event, provided their attendance does not disrupt the activity or violate any court order.

31. Access to Records: Each parent shall have equal and independent access to the children's educational, medical, dental, psychological, and other records as authorized by law. Each parent shall immediately notify the other parent of any medical emergency involving the children and shall provide all reasonably available information concerning the children's condition and treatment.

32. Address & Contact Information Disclosure: Each parent shall provide the other parent with the parent's current residential address, mailing address, telephone number, email address, and any information necessary for virtual communication with the children. Any changes to such information shall be provided to the other parent within twenty-four (24) hours of the change.

33. Observance of Religious Holidays: The parties shall equally share major religious holidays celebrated by both parents. If one parent celebrates a religious holiday not observed by the other parent, that parent shall be entitled to reasonable parent-time with the children during the observance of that holiday, provided reasonable notice is given and accommodations can be made without substantial disruption to the children's schedule.

34. Notice of Sex Offenders and Other High-Risk Individuals: If either parent becomes aware that a person residing in the parent's household, or a person who will have significant access to the children, is required to register as a sex offender, kidnap offender, or child abuse offender, or has been convicted of an offense involving child abuse, child exploitation, kidnapping, sexual offenses against a minor, or substantially similar offenses, that parent shall immediately notify the other parent and provide sufficient information to permit the other parent to assess any potential risk to the children.

35. Overnight and Out-of-State Travel: For emergency purposes, whenever a child travels with either parent overnight or out-of-state, all the following will be provided to the other parent:

- a. an itinerary of travel dates;
- b. destinations;
- c. places where the child or traveling parent can be reached; and

- d. the name and telephone number of an available third person who would be knowledgeable of the child's location.

36. School Fees: The parties shall share equally the cost of all mandatory school fees incurred regarding the children.

37. Extracurricular Activity Expenses: The parties shall share equally the cost of all the children's extracurricular activities agreed to in writing by the parties.

38. Mutual Restraining Orders: Regarding child custody, child support, parent-time and co-parenting matters:

- a. The parties shall communicate respectfully regarding matters affecting the child and shall make reasonable efforts to resolve disagreements through discussion and cooperation before seeking court intervention. The parties shall at all times act in a manner that promotes the child's best interests and preserves the child's positive relationship with both parents.
- b. The parties must not discuss this case or make negative or harmful remarks about each other in the presence of the subject minor children; must not allow other people to do so; and must remove the children from a situation in which someone persists in doing so.
