2. There is one (1) minor child born as issue of this marriage, namely:

4908-0440-1335.v21

4908-0440-1335.v2

3. The parties are awarded joint physical custody of R.R.U. based upon a 50/50 division of parent-time pursuant to Utah Code §81-9-305. The parties will exercise parent time sharing based upon a 2-2-5 split with Adrian being awarded parent-time every Monday and Tuesday and Jade being awarded parent-time every Wednesday and Thursday. The parties will alternate parent time every other Friday, Saturday and Sunday. The parties will reside within 20 miles of each other to ensure that they can make the equal parent time sharing arrangement work.

4. The parties are awarded joint legal custody pursuant to the terms of the following parenting plan:

PARENTING PLAN

I. PARENTING FUNCTIONS (Utah Code § 81-9-101(6))

General Principles

A. The parties will leave the past in the past—taking from the past only the lessons they have learned and the motivation to make things work better in the future.

B. Adrian and Jade acknowledge that the child have different and unique perspectives of each of their parents than they do. Adrian and Jade will respect the child's rights to have a meaningful bond with the other parent and future stepparents.

C. Adrian and Jade recognize that the child's self-esteem depends on them having a positive perception of both parents. Adrian and Jade will say only positive words about their co-parents—emphasizing their parental strengths as much as possible.

D. Adrian and Jade will live the Golden Rule—treat each other as they themselves would like to be treated.

E. Adrian and Jade will trade favors and build good will with each other.

F. Absent an emergency, Adrian and Jade will communicate via email or text to preserve a record of their communication and their communication will focus on the needs and interests of the child.

G. If in-person or telephonic communications are necessary, Adrian and Jade will conduct their meetings in a business-like and respectful manner. In their conversations, Adrian and Jade will not put each other down or otherwise show disrespect to their co-parent.

H. Adrian and Jade understand the difference between a legitimate complaint and injurious criticism. Adrian and Jade will share their complaints in a respectful manner and agree to receive complaints without taking personal offense.

I. Adrian and Jade recognize that the child have extended family relationships and agree to accommodate their co-parent's reasonable requests to take the child to special family events.

J. Adrian and Jade understand that the child will have the opportunity to grow up in two homes: “mom’s house” and “dad’s house.” Their children will have the opportunity to be loved and supported by many new family members.

K. Adrian and Jade understand that each of them is 100 percent responsible for their home environment. They each will create an emotionally healthy and safe home environment for the benefit of the child.

L. Adrian and Jade recognize that while they have the opportunity to influence each other as co-parents, they have no inherent power to control each other.

M. Adrian and Jade will abide by a “no contention” rule. This means that from this day forward, they will not allow any contention to occur between them. Rather, they will focus on problem solving rather than fighting. To solve a problem, they may need to postpone a conversation until after they have obtained more information or completed research concerning the problem or issue. Rather than rash personal opinions, Adrian and Jade will share their ideas and research as they work towards a resolution.

N. Adrian and Jade recognize that relationship problems are best solved in a one-on-one manner. Therefore, Adrian and Jade will not triangulate others in their problem solving efforts. If a child has a problem with a particular parent, the child and that parent should solve that problem.

O. Adrian and Jade will not use the child as a messenger or problem solver.

P. Adrian and Jade will give the child permission to love both parents. Consequently, the child will not have to choose sides.

Q. Adrian and Jade recognize that as the child gets older; friends will become more significant in her life. Often, especially in adolescence, being with friends is more compelling than being with a parent. Consequently, it is helpful to have their teenagers give input to their time-sharing schedule and help design ways to ensure meaningful time with both parents.

R. Adrian and Jade recognize that, at times, the child may not enjoy going back and forth between their homes because it interrupts their lives. As parents, Adrian and Jade will be supportive of the child spending meaningful time with both parents. If the child express a strong desire to skip a specific time-sharing opportunity, the child and the parent involved should work through the issue in a one-on-one manner and arrange substitute time, whenever possible.

S. Adrian and Jade will discuss parenting and discipline philosophies and reach a consensus, whenever possible, on parenting strategies. Adrian and Jade understand that if they act with consistency and as a “united front,” the child will feel more secure and will not play one parent against the other.

T. Adrian and Jade recognize that as human beings, they possess strengths and weaknesses. Each of them is responsible for their choices and is accountable for their mistakes. Adrian and Jade will learn from their mistakes and do “repair work” when necessary.

U. Adrian and Jade recognize that contention and especially litigation between them could cause the child to suffer emotional and behavioral problems. Adrian and Jade will use their best efforts to resolve differences and solve their problems without the need for litigation.

V. Adrian and Jade will discuss any financial issues or other significant concerns at another time away from the child.

Utah Code § 81-9-101(6)(b)(i) — Maintaining a loving, stable, consistent, and nurturing relationship with the child

A. Consistency is one of the key elements in raising children. Therefore, Adrian and Jade would like to see the same curfews implemented at each of their homes. They will each work with the child on making sure that she complete timely all homework and other school and extracurricular projects.

B. Adrian and Jade recognize that their discipline and parenting of the child will be more effective if Adrian and Jade work as a united front.

Therefore, Adrian and Jade will work together to discuss discipline and philosophies with each other and come to a consensus as to what works.

Adrian and Jade will work together to build their co-parenting relationship on trust and respect.

Utah Code § 81-9-101(6)(b)(ii) — Attending to the daily needs of the child, such as feeding, clothing, physical care, grooming, supervision, health care, day care, and engaging in other activities which are appropriate to the developmental level of the child and that are within the social and economic circumstances of the particular family.

A. During the time that the child is with each of the parents, the day-to-day decisions should be made by the parent who has the child with him or her. Both Adrian and Jade have the right to make emergency decisions affecting the health, safety, or welfare of the child.

B. Adrian and Jade agree that they will follow any medical regimen as prescribed by the child's primary health care physicians, dentists, orthodontists, ophthalmologists, psychiatrists and psychologists. Adrian and Jade agree that neither parent will provide to a child any prescription medication that is not specifically prescribed for that child.

C. Adrian and Jade further agree that the child's current providers will not be changed absent mutually written agreement of the parties. In the event a provider retires, the parties will agree upon a new provider recommended by the previous provider.

Utah Code § 81-9-101(6)(b)(iii) — Attending to adequate education for the child, including remedial or other education essential to the best interest of the child.

A. Adrian and Jade will reasonably assist and facilitate the minor child in their homework, school projects and other extra-curricular activities/projects. Both parents should be cognizant and recognize their relative strengths and weaknesses in assisting the child in homework assignments, school projects and extra-curricular activities/projects. The parents should reasonably facilitate and provide assistance to the minor child, being cognizant of which parent may have the minor child in their physical care at the time in which the assistance for the child's respective homework, school projects and other extra-curricular activities/projects may be needed or necessary.

B. Adrian and Jade will ensure that the minor child attends regular school.

C. Adrian and Jade agree to support the child in their extra-curricular activities and agree to facilitate having the child attend those activities.

Utah Code § 81-9-101(6)(b)(iv) — Assisting the child in developing and maintaining appropriate interpersonal relationships.

A. The children should be encouraged to maintain relationships with grandparents and other relatives and each party should be required to assist, as may be necessary, to permit those relationships to continue. This may include permitting the child to attend special events with the other family and permitting the child to spend time with the extended family that may otherwise interfere with the time-sharing arrangement anticipated by this Plan. Notwithstanding the above, the parties agree neither will be required to coordinate time between the child and any extended family. Nor will either be required or obliged to relinquish their scheduled parent-time in favor any other extended family member's requested time with the child.

Utah Code § 81-9-101(6)(b)(v) — Exercising appropriate judgment regarding the child's welfare, consistent with the child's developmental level and family, social and economic circumstances.

- A. Adrian and Jade will reasonably consult with one another before making any decisions regarding any major issues affecting the child.
- B. Adrian and Jade will make reasonable efforts to notify one another of the child's respective medical and dental appointments; parent teacher conferences; school events and performances; parent volunteer opportunities; and any medical or other emergencies.

Utah Code § 81-9-101(6)(b)(vi) — Providing for the financial support of the child.

- A. Any and all discretionary decisions regarding the minor child, having a financial impact on both parents, will be reasonably discussed in advance between the parents. Such financial decisions include, but are not limited to, extra-curricular activities, braces, glasses, contact lenses, etc. for the minor child.

I. DISPUTE RESOLUTION

- A. To the extent that costs may be incurred for the outside assistance in resolving disputes under this Parenting Plan, Adrian and Jade should equally share those costs. If a dispute arises regarding any provision of this Parenting Plan, then Adrian and Jade will formally or informally seek the assistance of a mutually agreed-upon family therapist, arbitrator or mediator, to provide counseling or assistance for such dispute(s).

B. If the Court finds that a parent has used or frustrated the dispute resolution process without good reason, Adrian and Jade understand the Court may award attorney's fees and other financial sanctions to the parent who prevails in the resolution of the dispute.

II. DECISION MAKING PROCESS

A. Day-to-day decisions. Adrian and Jade understand that whichever parent has physical custody of the child will make minor, day-to-day decision regarding the care.

B. Decision-making procedure. All major decisions concerning the child, including education, religion, general welfare, daycare, and medical and dental treatment, and therapy will be discussed between Adrian and Jade. If, after discussing the issue in good faith, the parties are unable to reach an agreement, the parties will defer to the recommendation of the appropriate professional (i.e. dentist for dental decisions, pediatrician for medical decisions, teachers/administrators for education decisions, etc.). In the event of an emergency, the parties will follow the recommendations of professional involved. If a party disagrees with the professional's opinion or recommendation, either party may bring the matter before the Court for review.

III. RESIDENTIAL/TIME SHARING SCHEDULE

A. Custody and parent-time of the minor child is set forth above.

B. Revision of time-sharing schedule. In order to better meet the emotional needs of the child, Adrian and Jade will revise the time-sharing schedule, if necessary, by consulting with each other and cooperatively establishing a new time-sharing schedule. Adrian and Jade will consider revising their schedule if a significant change occurs in either of their lives. Adrian and Jade will first meet with each other to modify the time-sharing arrangement as set forth above. If unsuccessful, Adrian and Jade can engage in dispute resolution as indicated above.

IV. SHARING OF INFORMATION

A. Adrian and Jade will use their best efforts to communicate and share information with each other on a frequent basis regarding the child's development, schoolwork, medical and dental therapy and any other information appropriate to share with the other parent.

B. Adrian and Jade will affirmatively notify the other parent of all school programs, church events, extracurricular activities, and sporting events that involve the child.
