PARENTING PLAN

Parent-Time Flexibility

10. Both parents shall be flexible in providing the other parent with additional parent-time when necessary and agreed upon. The parties shall be flexible in making temporary adjustments in their Parenting Plan Schedule. The parent seeking an adjustment shall give the other parent as much advance notice as possible (at least 24 hours except in an emergency). The other party shall use his or her discretion in allowing for an adjustment but shall not unreasonably refuse.

Pick-up and Drop-offs

11. The parent starting parent-time should be responsible for the time and expense of picking up a child. A child shall be picked up and dropped off at school or daycare when applicable, but at the home of the parent unless the parties agree otherwise.

12. Both parents shall behave maturely during exchanges of a child. The parents shall also prepare a child for each parent-time exchange by having a child packed and ready to leave on time, and by encouraging a child to spend time with the other parent.

Virtual Parent-Time

13. Both parents shall encourage liberal phone visitations. A child's request to call a parent shall be reasonably accommodated. However, a child shall not unreasonably call or communicate with the parent not exercising parenting-time.

14. Should a parent buy a cell phone for a child to use, a child shall always be able to use this phone to contact that parent. Either parent may restrict the phone's use to that purpose only, but the non-purchasing parent may not take the phone away completely.

Decisions Regarding Raising a Child

15. Day-to-day decisions regarding the care, control, and discipline of a child shall be made by the parent with whom a child is residing at the time.

16. Either parent may make emergency decisions regarding the health and safety of a child.

17. The parties shall discuss the significant decisions regarding a child, including, but not limited to, a child's education, health care, and religious upbringing. Specifically, the parents shall exchange information concerning the health, education, and welfare of the child, and where possible, confer before making decisions concerning any of these areas

18. If there are any future changes to the children's school, the parties will make that decision together.

Behavior of the Parents during Parent-Time

19. Camille and James shall not do drugs or drink alcohol in excess while in the presence of a child. Camille and James shall not be drunk, high, or hung-over while in the presence of a child.

20. Camille and James shall not smoke in the presence of a child, or in his or her home while exercising parent-time, or in the car while transporting a child.

21. The restrictions outlined in this subsection also apply to any persons residing or associating with a child.

Communication between Parties

22. Neither party shall attempt to have a child transfer verbal or written messages between the parties.

23. The parties shall primarily discuss child-related issues through text messages or if necessary, a co-parenting application. All calls, text messages, or emails shall be responded to as soon as possible but no more than 24 hours.

Respect and Cooperation

24. Both parents shall recognize that the best interests of a child require them to cooperate and treat each other with dignity and respect, especially in the presence of a child. Both parents shall encourage affection and promote respect toward the other parent.

25. Neither parent shall attempt to harm the relationship between a parent and a child. This includes making disparaging comments about the other parent, or allowing the child in the presence of anyone who does.

26. The parties shall regularly discuss the routines and rules they use with a child and shall try to create common ground to minimize a child's emotional discomfort. However, neither party shall be required to follow the other's suggestions, unless ordered by the Court.

27. Both parents shall share information on any condition, problem, significant fact, or circumstance, which may affect the other parent's relationship with a child or the well-being of a child.

28. The parties shall build a co-parenting relationship filled with trust and respect.

29. The parties shall work together to improve their parenting skills and to share their ideas.

30. The parties shall live by the golden rule that they shall treat each other as they would like to be treated.

31. The parties shall start over and recommit to this Parenting Plan when one or both neglect a provision in this plan.

32. A child's clothing, toys, and other personal effects shall not be limited to a specific home but are free to be used wherever a child is at the time.

33. Parent-time shall not be denied for failure to comply with any of the provisions in this pleading. Intentional denial of parent-time shall be grounds to change custody at any court proceeding.

A Child's Bill of Right

34. The parties shall comply with and abide by the following rights of a child:

a. A child has the right to love and be loved by both parents without feeling guilt or disapproval;

b. A child has the right to be protected from the parents' anger toward each other;

c. A child has the right to be kept out of the middle of the parents' conflict, including the right not to pick sides, carry messages, or hear complaints about the other parent or the other parent's friends, partners, or family;

d. A child has the right not to have to choose one parent over the other;

e. A child has the right to be free of the burden and responsibility of the parents' emotional problems;

g. A child has the right to reasonable financial support during their childhood;

h. A child has the right to have and express feelings and to have both parents listen and appreciate such;

i. A child has the right to a life that is as close as possible to what it would have been if the parents stayed together; and

Extended Overnight Trips

35. Both parties shall notify the other whenever they intend to take a child on any overnight trip 50 miles from their parent's home. The parties will provide an emergency contact during these overnight trips.

Contact Information and Records

36. Each party shall keep the other immediately informed as to residence address, home, work and cell phone numbers, e-mail addresses and any other important contact information, including how to be reached in the event of an emergency.

37. Camille and James shall both have access to all medical records and school reports of a child.

School Functions and Social Activities

38. Both parties shall be entitled to participate in all social and school functions a child attends.

Illness

39. The parties shall notify the other when a child is ill. Prior to the exchange of a child who is ill, the parties shall discuss regular parent-times and shall reasonably accommodate the sick child. If the parties cannot agree, regular parent-time shall not be affected. A parent shall not use a child's illness to frustrate parent-time.

Parent-Time Respect

40. The parties shall not schedule or promote an activity that falls on the other party's parent-time without first obtaining permission from that party in writing.

Non-interference with the Parties' Personal Lives

41. Each party shall be completely free from the interference, authority, and control of the other party, except as doing so impacts the care of a child, as set forth herein.

42. Each party shall have the right to conduct his or her social life and business affairs as he or she sees fit without interference or comment from the other party.

Relatives

43. Ongoing relationships between a child and relatives shall be encouraged and continued.

Relocation of a Parent

44. If either party plans to move to any distance that would prevent the above schedule from occurring, a petition to modify must be filed.

Mutual Restraining Orders

45. It is fair and reasonable that both parties shall be restrained from saying or doing anything including, but not limited to, speaking derogatorily about the other parent, or speaking to a child about the issues in this case or from attempting to influence a child's preference regarding custody or visitation, which would tend to diminish the love and affection of a child for the other parent.

46. Both parties shall also be mutually restrained from harassing, annoying, or otherwise bothering the other party, or from committing any domestic violence or abuse against the other party.

47. It is fair and reasonable that both parties shall be mutually restrained from inducing or allowing a third party to do what they themselves are prohibited from doing under this paragraph and shall have the affirmative duty to use his or her best efforts to prevent third parties from committing such violations or shall remove a child from such circumstances.

Adjustments or Modifications

48. All permanent adjustments or modifications to this Parenting Plan shall be made in writing, signed by both parties, notarized, and filed with the Court. Temporary or minor changes can be made whenever the parties agree.

Failure to Comply

49. If a parent fails to comply with any of the provisions under this Parent-Time Section, the other parent's obligations under said section are not affected.

If a parent remarries and his or her dependent child is not covered by that parent's health, hospital, or dental insurance plan but is covered by a stepparent's plan, the health, hospital, or dental insurance plan of the stepparent shall be treated as if it is the plan of the remarried parent and shall retain the same designation as the primary or secondary plan of the dependent child.
