f. Virtual Parent-Time. Each Party is awarded liberal unmonitored telephone and virtual parent-time, if the equipment is reasonably available, with the minor child during reasonable hours for a reasonable duration taking into account the minor child's schedule. The child is allowed to call either of the Parties at the child's discretion taking into account the reasonable cell phone usage of each Party's home. Each Party shall have a guaranteed 10-15 minute check-in call with the minor child Saturday before bedtime during any weekend in which the other Party is exercising parent-time.

g. The Parties shall be flexible in the adjustment of the parent-time schedule in the best interest of the minor child. Special considerations is given by each Party to make the child available to attend family functions, including funerals, weddings, family reunions, religious holidays, important ceremonies, and other significant events in the lives of the child or in the life of either Party that may inadvertently conflict with the parent-time schedule.

5. Legal Custody. The Parties are awarded joint legal custody of their minor child. The Parties shall implement the objectives and goals outlined in the Parenting Plan set forth below.

PARENTING PLAN

6. Both Parties will have access (including but not limited to access to online portals) to the child' medical, school, church, and other records and will include the other Party as the parent on such records.

7. The Parties shall notify each other of any school programs and any extracurricular events in the life of the child or in the life of either Party that may inadvertently conflict with the parent-time schedule.

8. Information Sharing. Each Party shall reasonably provide the other with contact information regarding schools or other educational programs, teachers, medical providers and accounts, leaders of religious training, coaches or leaders of extra-curricular activities and other contact information that allows the other Party to participate in the child's life.

9. The Parties shall utilize their shared Google calendar to share information and to maintain a joint calendar that contains all of the minor child's events. Lara shall keep the calendar updated with school events and each Party shall timely update the calendar with the child's personal, medical, or extra-curricular appointments.

10. Both Parties shall have the authority to make routine decisions regarding the child's day-to-day activities when the child is in his or her care. In the event the Parties cannot agree on an issue relative to the welfare, education, medical care, dental and orthodontic care, mental health care, extra-curricular activities, and religious training of a minor child of the Parties, the Parties shall make good-faith efforts at resolving any issues together. If after making good-faith efforts to resolve the issue on their own, the Parties still disagree, the Parties will engage in brief mediation (one to three hours without attorneys present) within two weeks of reaching an impasse, to attempt to reach a resolution. The Parties will equally share the mediator's fees and will make good faith efforts to resolve the issue in mediation. If after making good-faith efforts to resolve the issue in mediation, the Parties still disagree or the Parties are unable to mediate the issue within the two-week timeframe, Lara will have final decision-making authority.

11. Communication. Except in the event of an emergency, the Parties will communicate via text or email regarding parent-time and issues relative to the minor child's welfare. The Parties agree that, unless the communication states otherwise, they shall respond to each other's written communications within 24 hours of the communication being sent. In the event of an emergency regarding the health or well-being of a minor child of the Parties, each Party shall communicate with the other as expeditiously as possible using the most efficient means possible.

12. Right of First Refusal. Neither Party will leave the minor child alone for a period of time longer than four hours (or later than 1:00 am). If a Party will be absent overnight during his or her parent-time, that Party shall offer the other Party the opportunity to provide childcare for the minor child. The offeree shall respond either by accepting or rejecting the overnight care as quickly as possible. The Party providing childcare shall provide any transportation for the drop off and pick up of the child. This provision shall not be construed to prohibit or prevent the minor child from participating in sleepovers with friends and family members, participating in summer camps, or participating in sleepaway school activities during either Party's parent-time.

13. Other childcare. If third Party child-care is required (including but not limited to child-care provided by family members), any such third-Party child-care provider must be mutually acceptable to both Parties. Neither Party will unreasonably withhold their approval of a third-party child-care provider. Each Party will assume sole responsibility for the payment of any work-related surrogate child-care required during their parent-time. Each Party shall share the identity and contact information of any surrogate caregiver with the other Party.

a. The parties agree, as of August 6, 2026 via email, that for the 2026-2027 school year only, Will has agreed to pick D.C. up after school Monday through Friday. On days when he is not the custodial parent; he will take D.C. to Sugar House Park or Anderson-Foothill Library to do homework and play as time allows. If Will wants to take D.C. elsewhere, he will inform Lara so she knows where D.C. will be. Lara can veto the location but will endeavor not to do so. He will bring D.C. back to Lara's house at 5:30 p.m., unless otherwise agreed upon by Lara and Will. If Lara has alternative plans for Delan after school on her custodial days, she will inform Will as soon as possible so he can plan accordingly. Will agrees that he will not have his friends around D.C. during this time (during Lara's custodial time), though family is acceptable. If for any reason Will is unable to pick D.C. up, he is responsible for letting Lara know and for assisting in finding care for the time he is unavailable. He is also responsible for whatever cost if there is one in the care of D.C. during that time. Lara and Will agree to work together to give D.C. a good after-school experience. If there need to be changes or adjustments, Lara and Will agree to find time to talk away from D.C. to resolve any issues.

14. Relocation. It is anticipated the Parties will continue to reside within thirty (30) miles of each other. If a Party desires to relocate outside of thirty (30) mile range, the relocating Party will notify the other Party 30 days prior to a proposed move. The Parties will engage in mediation to determine whether a new parent-time schedule will be necessary in light of the relocation. The minor child will remain enrolled in his current school district unless the Parties agree otherwise. If a Party moves more than 30 miles from the minor child's school, the minor child will remain in the physical custody of the non-relocating Party pending mediation or order of the court.

15. For emergency purposes, when the minor child of the Parties travels overnight with either Party, the Party traveling with the child will provide the other Party with the following information as soon as travel details are confirmed but no less than seven (7) days prior to travel: (a) an itinerary of travel dates, (b) destination, and (c) places where the minor child or traveling Party can be reached, and any contact information pursuant to Utah Code section 81-9-202.

Prior to the minor child being introduced to a new romantic partner, the Party involved in the new romantic relationship shall arrange for the other Party to meet the new romantic partner in a mutually-agreed-upon setting and without the presence of the minor child. If desired, the other Party may obtain a background check of the new romantic partner.

h. The Parties are restrained from having any new romantic partner as an overnight guest while exercising parent-time with the minor child until six months after the child has met the new romantic partner in keeping with supra ¶ 19(g).

i. The Parties are restrained from posting any pictures of a new partner or changing their relationship status on any social media accounts that the minor child may have access to or may inadvertently see through another friend's or family member's social media account, until such time as the Party has been in a serious and committed relationship for a period of six (6) months or longer.

Each Party is restrained from using the child's locations to stalk or otherwise harass the other Party.
