55. The children's portion of the premium shall be calculated by dividing the premium amount by the number of individuals covered under the policy and multiplying the result by the number of minor children of the parties in this case.

56. The parties may agree as to which parent's health insurance plan is primary and which is secondary if, at any time, the children are covered by both plans. If they cannot agree, Sarah shall designate which parent's health insurance plan shall be identified as which parent's health insurance plan shall be identified as the secondary coverage for the children.

57. If a parent remarries and the children are not covered by that parent's plan but is covered by a stepparent's plan, the stepparent's plan shall be treated as if it is the plan of the remarried parent and shall retain the same designation as the primary or secondary plan.

61. Each party shall maintain the children on their available health insurance plan for as long as permitted by law and by the terms of the policy, including after the children reach the age of eighteen, so long as the children remain eligible for dependent coverage. 64. The parent who incurs care expenses shall provide written verification of the cost and identity of a childcare provider to the other parent upon initial engagement of a provider, and thereafter on the request of the other parent. The parent shall notify the other parent of any change of childcare provider or the monthly expense of care within 30 calendar days of the date of the change.

65. A parent incurring childcare expenses may be denied the right to receive credit for the expenses or to recover the other parent's share of the expenses if the parent incurring the expenses fails to comply with these provisions.

66. The parent to whom written verification is provided shall reimburse the parent who incurred the childcare expenses one-half the amount of the out-of-pocket costs within 30 days of receipt of the written verification.

Each parent shall be responsible for any costs associated with childcare arranged through their own family members during their respective parent-time.

Life Insurance

68. Both parties shall purchase and maintain a life insurance policy on their own life in the amount of $500,000.00, and that said policy shall remain in full force and effect indefinitely. Until the youngest child reaches the age of majority or graduates high school, during the normal expected year of graduation, whichever occurs later, each party shall irrevocably designate the other part as the beneficiary on said life insurance policies. Thereafter, each party shall irrevocably designate the minor children as the beneficiaries on said life insurance policies.

69. Both parties shall be restrained from bothering, harassing, annoying, threatening, or harming the other at the other place of residence, employment or any other place. Both parties shall be civil and respectful in their communications with one another.

Attorney's Fees

70. Each party shall be ordered to assume his/her own costs and attorney's fees incurred in prosecuting this action.

The parties submit the forgoing Parenting Plan with the genuine belief that it is in the children's best interest. The terms and conditions of the legal custody and physical custody of the parties' shared children are set forth herein.

72. Legal Custody: The parties shall exercise joint legal custody of the minor children. The parent with whom the children are then located shall make day-to-day decisions involving the children and shall make emergency decisions affecting the health or safety of the children. Significant legal decisions including without limitation health, education, and religious upbringing shall be discussed in advance in attempt to reach an agreement. If the parties are unable to reach agreement, Sarah shall make the final decision. If a time sensitive matter is involved, Sarah may make the presumptive decision. If Jason disagrees with the decision made, Jason may refer the matter to mediation and Jason shall be responsible for the costs of mediation. If no agreement is reached at mediation, either party may submit the issue to the Court.

73. Physical Custody: Sarah shall exercise primary physical custody of the minor children. Sarah's home shall be designated as the primary residence of the children.

74. Parent time shall be liberal and flexible as the parents agree. If the parents are unable to agree, Jason's parent time shall be as follows:

In the event they cannot agree, Sarah shall be awarded both the custodial and non-custodial holidays outlined in Utah Code §81-9-302, with the minor children, with the exception of the Thanksgiving Holiday. The parties shall alternate the Thanksgiving Holiday, with Sarah being awarded the Thanksgiving Holiday in even years and Jason shall be awarded the holiday in odd years.

Both parents shall ensure the other parent has the necessary contact information for anyone providing care for the children. If a parent elects to allow the children to spend time with family members, that shall not be counted as surrogate care. Parental care shall be given precedence over surrogate care. Any care provider used by a parent shall be adequately trained and licensed to provide care for the children.

82. Extracurricular Activities and Sports: The parties shall encourage and support the children's participation in extracurricular activities and sports. The parties shall enroll the children in a reasonable number of activities and shall not purposefully try to supplant parent time with activities. The parties shall attempt to allow participation in activities in which the children express a desire to participate. 86. Disparaging Remarks: Each of the parties shall refrain from communicating with or about the other in demeaning, disparaging or disrespectful terms and shall prevent third parties, and the children from doing so as well.

87. Restraints Regarding Firearms: The parties shall ensure that the children are not allowed access to firearms without appropriate supervision. The parties shall ensure that all firearms in the parties' residences are secured in a safe and not accessible to any child.

88. Incorporation of Advisory Guidelines:

a. The parties shall make every reasonable effort to agree on a parent-time schedule, as a mutually agreed schedule is preferable to a court-imposed solution. The parent-time schedule shall maximize the continuity and stability of the children's life.

b. Each parent shall give special consideration to making the children available to attend family functions including funerals, weddings, family reunions, religious holidays, important ceremonies, and other significant events in the life of the children or in the life of either parent, even when such events inadvertently conflict with the parent-time schedule.

c. Parent-time may be altered by agreement or court order to reasonably accommodate the work schedules of the parties or the distance between them, provided that such alterations do not diminish the minimum standardized parent-time.

d. Neither parent shall withhold parent-time or child support as a penalty for the other parent's failure to comply with an order.

e. Each of the parents shall be entitled to attend and participate fully in all significant school, social, sports, and community functions in which a child is participating or being honored.

k. Both parents shall be listed as "emergency contacts" for medical emergencies with any school, daycare, or any other such providers.

l. The parties shall refrain from using any form of corporal punishment.

m. Neither party shall enroll the children in services such as counseling without first notifying the other parent of the need for such a service and involving the other parent in choosing the professional who shall see the child(ren). If a party makes the first contact with such a professional, they shall provide that person with the name, address, and telephone number of the other parent.

n. Both parties shall refrain from involving the children in "divorce issues." Such issues include, but are not limited to, parent time disagreements; discussions about child support or financial hardships brought about by divorce; differences of opinion on how money is spent; discussions about court and legal matters; contents of legal papers; seeking information regarding what occurs in one another's homes (other than general conversation); and involving the children as a "messenger" between the parties.

89. Special Concerns:

a. Both parties shall not have romantic or unrelated opposite sex guests spend the night while the children are present for the first two years immediately following the entry of the final decree of divorce.

b. So long as Jason is exercising parent time with the children in Sarah's home, she shall not have romantic or unrelated opposite guests present for the duration of his time spent with the children in Sarah's home.

c. Both parents shall follow the guidance and recommendations of qualified healthcare professionals regarding all aspects of the children's medical care. d. Third-party caregivers shall be age-appropriate, competent, and not impaired. Neither parent shall leave the children with anyone who has a substantiated history of abuse, neglect, or violence.

e. Each parent shall ensure that the children complete all assigned homework and school-related responsibilities during that parent's custodial time.

90. Resolving Disputes: When disputes occur, the parties shall attempt to resolve those disputes before resorting to any other process and meet with experts in the areas of disagreement, as necessary.

91. Violation of Parenting Plan: If either parent fails to comply with a provision of this Parenting Plan, the other parent's obligations under the Parenting Plan or final Decree of Divorce shall not be affected.

END OF PARENTING PLAN

95. If any provision of the Decree of Divorce or the application thereof is held invalid, the invalidity shall not affect other provisions or applications of the Decree of Divorce.

96. Each party shall be ordered to execute and deliver to the other such documents as are required to implement the provisions of the Decree of Divorce entered by the Court.
